DRYS ARE TOLD O'NEILL VOTES WILL AID LEWIS

Cuthbertson Gives League Warning.

BY PARKE BROWN.

A veteran Anti-Saloon leaguer, State Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson of Hinsdale Hill, served notice yesterday on State Superintendent George B. Alford of the league that indorsement of the candidacy of Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill for the United States senate may disrupt the organization. Senator Cuthbertson is the leader of the dry bloc in the upper house of the Illinois general assembly that also has blocked a repealer of the state prohibition law after its passage in the house of representatives. He has been actively associated with the league for ten years, and is one of the trustees at large.

But in his talk with Superintendent Alford yesterday morning the senator said he would not go along with the league if it backs Mrs. O'Neill, but will support Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, the Republican nominee. He asserted that a vote for Mrs. O'Neill, in his opinion, has no chance of winning, and every ballot marked for her will increase whatever chances the Democrat, James Hamilton Lewis, may have of defeating Mrs. McCormick.

Dry Chief Is Adamant.

In spite of this protest from one of his old supporters, Dr. Safford, it is said, insisted that he and his associates would support Mrs. O'Neill. He told newspaper reporters that he would have a statement on this subject some time today. It is understood Dr. Safford will seek today to get the league's formal indorsement for Mrs. O'Neill.

"We had a very pleasant talk," was all he would say concerning the visit of Senator Cuthbertson.

"That is true," said the senator, commenting on the conference. "It was pleasant, but I did protest against my indorsement. I consider it very bad politics. The strength of the league will be gauged by the showing Mrs. O'Neill makes."

Senator Cuthbertson said that even after his talk with Dr. Safford he would by a statement be issued at Springfield before starting for Chicago. This was an emphatic protest against an indorsement of Mrs. O'Neill.

Senator Makes Statement.

"To follow such a course is unthinkable," the statement said, "for every dry vote cast for Mrs. O'Neill will be a vote for Senator Lewis, an avowed wet. And if he should be elected the organization would be compelled to assume full responsibility and would to a great extent destroy its usefulness and its future influence in this and other states.

"So far as I am concerned I am a member of the Anti-Saloon league and have always supported dry measures and fought for them when they came up in the legislature, but I am going to support Mrs. McCormick. Mrs. O'Neill's entrance is designed to elect Lewis, but this result will not be achieved."

View of the Crusaders.

Views of a different character were expressed by J. Russell Forgan, commander of the Chicago unit of the Crusaders, an organization dedicated to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"The third candidate," he said, "is unquestionably the candidate of the anti-saloon league and such following as it may have. The Crusaders welcome her into the race. They contend that the American people do not want the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

"The political situation in Illinois today is ideal from the standpoint of the Crusaders. It gives a splendid opportunity to determine just exactly what the people want. We sincerely hope that all candidates will do everything in their power to get out a large vote on the referendum proposal."

Two More Enter Race.

In the meantime two more independent candidates followed the two already entered—Mrs. O'Neill and Abe Marcus Winter, a Chicago wet and Republican store candidate. They are Mrs. Mary Warner of Chenoa, who ran in the primary for the Democratic nomination on a "progress and prosperity" program, and C. Emmett Smith of Chicago, said to be also a Democrat, who is running on an anti-league wet and anti-foreign entanglements platform.

The petitions of Warner and Smith, containing 1,800 signatures and 1,100 signatures respectively, were filed yesterday. Mrs. O'Neill's petition is expected to be filed today. There are rumors that other independent petitions will follow.

Woman's Body Is Exhumed; Husband Held

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen announced last night that an inquest into the death, on Tuesday, of Mrs. May Moore, 46 years old, of 9722 Winston avenue, will be held today at the Gresham police station.

Earlier in the day Dr. Bundesen ordered Mrs. Moore's body exhumed at Holy Sepulchre cemetery, and the vital organs—together with a bottle supposed to have contained poison—were submitted for examination to Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, the coroner's toxicologist. Early last evening the Gresham police arrested Watson W. Moore, the woman's husband, who admitted that he had been an inmate of a New York insane asylum for six months.

Moore said he was an accountant, but had been unemployed for some time. He said that several years ago he had studied at the University of Wisconsin and at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y.

Caretaker Tells of Quarrel.

Louis Hasibar, caretaker at the Moore home, told the police that the evening before Mrs. Moore died she quarreled with her husband and he said he heard Moore threaten his wife.

Hasibar said he was attracted by a light in Mrs. Moore's room about 2 o'clock that morning and that three hours later he was called by Moore, who told him of his wife's death. The supposed poison bottle found in the bedroom of the Moore home was handed over to coroner's physicians by Mrs. Clara Phee, the mother of the dead woman.

Dr. Leo Sweeney, 9453 South Ashland avenue, who signed the death certificate, told the coroner's physicians he attributed Mrs. Moore's death to heart disease on the strength of statements made by her husband.

Doctor Now Suspects Poison.

"From information given me since this woman's death and funeral, I feel there are definite grounds for a suspicion that the woman came to her death from poison and not natural causes," said Dr. Sweeney.

The police learned that Mrs. Moore tried to commit suicide with gas about a month ago. At that time, Moore told Lieut. Roger Murphy of the Gresham police, he had advised his wife to take poison if she wished to end her life.

Moore's first wife divorced him in Duluth, charging that it was unsafe to live with him, according to police.

CONVICT-ROBBER SHOT BY CHIEF OF WINNETKA POLICE

William P. McDonald, 28 years old, an escaped convict with a criminal record for burglary and larceny, was shot in the head yesterday afternoon by Police Chief William Peterson of Winnetka as he was breaking into an apartment in the suburb's downtown district. The wound was not serious. In McDonald's pockets the police found six gold watches.

The north shore police have been on the lookout for McDonald for several weeks. He is believed to be the person who has been breaking into apartments during the absence of the owners for the summer, usually entering through a window by the aid of a screw driver. McDonald had forced a window in the Weissenburg building, Elm and Chestnut streets, when he was shot.

BOY, 15, KILLED BY BATTED BALL IN SCHOOL GAME

Philip Labagnera, 15 years old, 4954 Barry avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when struck in the head by a batted baseball while playing in a game with his schoolmates in the yard of the Faulkner school, Wellington and Lamon avenues. He died at the Belmont hospital.

Young Labagnera was pitching to Edward Dammon, 16 years old, 4105 North Ridgeway avenue, when the accident occurred. Dammon hit the ball on a line over the pitcher's box. Labagnera, sensing his peril, half turned and the ball struck him behind the ear, fracturing his skull.

F. D. Grant's Widow Dies at 76 in Capital

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.] — Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, for many years a prominent figure in Washington society and earlier in Chicago, died tonight after a long illness. Mrs. Grant was the widow of Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, son of President U. S. Grant.

Mrs. Grant was the daughter of the late Henry Hamilton Honoré of Chicago and a sister of the late Mrs. Potter Palmer, for years recognized as a leader in Chicago society. She is survived by a son, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant III., and a daughter, Princess Michael Cantacuzene-Speransky.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed tonight.

Potter Palmer of Chicago, nephew of Mrs. Grant, and Mrs. Palmer have been here during the past few days, as have other relatives, including Prince and Princess Michael Cantacuzene of Chicago, the former a grandson of Mrs. Grant.

Married in White House.

Mrs. Grant's marriage to the son of President Grant, which took place in the White House in 1874, was one of the Capital's notable social events.

Besides residing in Chicago in her early years, Mrs. Grant also lived there at the time her husband, Gen. Grant, was stationed at Chicago in command of the central department of the army about a score of years ago.

Mrs. Grant's father settled in Chicago in 1855 and became one of the leading developers of the city. His properties were wiped out in the Chicago fire, but he remained in the city and rebuilt his fortune.

Met Husband in Chicago.

Although an Episcopalian, Mrs. Grant was educated at Georgetown Visitation convent in Washington, and was graduated with honors which were presented her by Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman. Upon her return to Chicago she met the then Col. Grant, who was serving on the staff of Gen. Sheridan in Chicago.

Mrs. Grant became a favorite in Washington society while visiting her parents-in-law, President and Mrs. Grant in the White House. She also was well known in European circles, having lived in Vienna while her husband was American minister to Austria.

Upon the death of her husband in 1912, Mrs. Grant purchased the residence at 1711 New Hampshire avenue, at which she died. Her home contains many objects connected with the history of two generations.

YRIGOYEN QUITS; MARTIAL LAW IN BUENOS AIRES

Battle in Streets After Resignation.

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 5.—The capital of the Argentine republic was under martial law tonight. President Hypolito Yrigoyen temporarily handed over his powers as chief executive of Argentina to Vice President Enrique V. Martinez. Rioting and demonstrations quickly followed and many were wounded when paraders clashed with mounted police at the intersection of the Avenida de Mayo and the Calle Peru.

The octogenarian president's relegation of his powers came as a sequel to over a week of disturbances, bloodsheds, and alarums. The capital was especially tense today, following the killing of two students and the wounding of thirty others in a demonstration in which 3,000 took part last night. There were also clashes today at La Plata, 50 miles away, where students declared a strike of sympathy with their fellow students in the capital and battled the police.

President Defies Foes.

President Yrigoyen was closeted all day with his ministers, and it was reported that Minister of Justice Juan de la Campa, on behalf of the cabinet, demanded his resignation. The president, who has been a virtual dictator since his second election in 1928, showed gameness by refusing to resign outright, and finally agreed to delegate his powers to the vice president. A decree to that effect was made public at 7 p. m. tonight.

This decree was signed by Yrigoyen and Minister of the Interior Elpidio Gonzalez. A second one appeared simultaneously, signed only by Dr. Martinez, as vice president, and the cabinet, putting the city under martial law for thirty days.

The news was made public through extra editions of the newspapers, and some disturbances broke out immediately in the feverish city. A censorship was put on outgoing and incoming cables.

Public Opinion Veers.

The president's decision has come as a great relief to the sober elements in the capital who are speaking tonight of Yrigoyen's patriotism and level headedness in thus accepting the opinion of his advisers, bitter though the blow may be after 57 years of public life. His loss of public esteem is enormous since he was elected by the biggest landslide in Argentina's history.

Relief came from another quarter also today when the Bank of La Nacion categorically denied that it had, as rumored yesterday, refused to honor the government's checks due to its enormous overdraft. The bank declined to reveal the size of the overdraft. Statements issued yesterday claimed that the government had overdrawn $58,000,000 more than the overdraft allowed under the constitution.

President Yrigoyen's downfall, precipitated by members of his own party, is being attributed tonight to the Argentine's economic situation. A drop in wheat and cattle prices, the depreciation of the peso from 42 cents to 14 cents in a year's time, the increase in the public debt, the Argentine share in the world wide economic slump bringing about a reduced trade balance resulting in slower collections and restricted credits are all contributory factors. The president's efforts to do all the routine business of

Kraft Cheese Officials and Wives Victims

Three couples returning to their homes in Evanston after an evening in a loop night club were held up by five gunmen in the north shore suburb early this morning and robbed of jewels at first reported to be valued at $250,000. Later reports fixed the value of the bandits' loot at $100,000.

The robbery occurred in front of the residence of Mrs. Gladys S. Mehan, one of the party, who lives at 209 Kedzie street, Evanston. The other victims were Mr. and Mrs. Jason F. Whitney, 2767 Euclid Park place, Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A. Blackburn, 625 Garrett place, Evanston, and James Hewitt of Manchester, England, who is visiting at the Whitney home. Mr. Whitney is the president and Mr. Blackburn the secretary of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation.

Returning from Night Club.

The party left Coffee Dan's night club at 114 North Dearborn street shortly after 1 o'clock and motored to Evanston in the Whitney limousine. They believe that the robbers observed them departing from the cabaret and followed them in another car.

The first stop was made at the home of Mrs. Mehan. As the Whitney chauffeur opened the door for her to alight the bandits' automobile drew up behind and four of the gunmen, two of whom were masked, sprang out and surrounded the Whitney car.

Two of the robbers opened each of the doors of the limousine and, thrusting their pistols into the interior, demanded that the party keep silence and hand over their money and jewels. When the victims displayed some hesitancy one of the robbers climbed into the front seat and a companion into the tonneau, where they proceeded to search the members of the party.

Mrs. Whitney's Loss $90,000.

Mrs. Whitney was the heaviest loser. From her a robber took a diamond ring reported to be valued at $50,000 and three bracelets totaling more than $40,000 in value. One of the bracelets caught as the bandit tried to take it from her arm and he ripped viciously at the expensive circlet.

"Don't, you're hurting me," Mrs. Whitney cried. "If you'll wait a minute I'll take it off for you." She did and handed it to him.

Mr. Whitney lost some cash, how much the Evanston police were at first unable to determine. From Mrs. Blackburn were taken valuable wedding and engagements rings. After the bandits had fled she found the wedding ring lying on the running board of the limousine, dropped by the robbers in their haste to escape.

Losses of Others.

Mr. Blackburn gave up $200, in cash and Mrs. Mehan lost a bracelet, the worth of which was not learned.

"I fooled them," Mr. Hewitt, the Englishman, later told the Evanston police. I had only my watch, a ring and about $50 in cash, but while the fellows were pawing around in the car I kept slipping my things from pocket to pocket and they got only $28 from me. One of them was standing just outside the door with his gun pointed my way, too."

Their looting completed, the robbers leaped back into their car, the engine of which had been kept running by a confederate, and sped south in Sheridan road. The police found no witnesses to the holdup except the members of the party robbed.

Elsie Janis Quits Stage to Write Film Stories

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.] —Elsie Janis is through with acting, she declared today. She will confine her professional work to writing, having had many talking motion picture stories accepted in the last year and a half. The actress' decision was made following the death of her mother and inseparable companion, Mrs. Josephine Bierbower, here recently.

1,500 ARE DEAD IN HURRICANE; 5,000 INJURED

San Domingo Fights to Avert Disease.

BY CHARLES B. CURTIS.
[American minister to the Dominican Republic. Written specially for the Associated Press. Copyright, 1930, and all rights reserved by the Associated Press.]

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 5.—[5:15 p. m.]—(AP)—The ancient and historic city of Santo Domingo was devastated on Wednesday, Sept. 3, by what appears to have been the worst hurricane that ever swept the Caribbean. A conservative estimate of the loss of life put it this afternoon at 1,500.

The number of the injured reached 5,000. No loss of life is reported among continental Americans or Europeans, all of whom are believed to be safe.

President Trujillo has taken personal charge of the relief and the city is under martial law. Good order prevails. The dead are being burned.

How Storm Started.

After 24 hours of continuous storm, a north wind of hurricane violence, estimated at 180 miles per hour, began about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, unroofing the American legation and destroying many houses.

After about half an hour there was a dead calm, with the barometer below 28. But ten minutes later the hurricane wind came from the south and in two hours more completed the destruction.

Gov. Roosevelt of Porto Rico dispatched personal representatives by airplane yesterday and is sending in behalf of the people of Porto Rico all available relief, in the form of food, shelter, clothing and medical aid.

Today a marine corps airplane arrived from Port au Prince, Haiti, with representatives of Col. Cutts. It is returning immediately to bring back medical officers and all possible medical supplies.

Port Closed to Shipping.

No shipping can enter Santo Domingo port because of the swift current and a dredge sunk in the channel. The city is isolated on the land side by floods, fallen trees and wrecked bridges. Electric light and water plants are disabled.

The storm was confined to a 40 mile strip along the coast, but the damage extends inland indefinitely in a northwesterly direction. The sugar central at Boca Chica is reported completely destroyed.

The American Red Cross has placed $15,000 at my disposal for emergency relief, but this amount is insufficient for actual needs and additional clothing and other help are urgently needed.

Build Great Funeral Pyres.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Under martial law, this capital of the Dominican republic, oldest white man's city in the Americas, lay in ruins today as the bodies of 1,500 of its citizens, men, women, and children, burned on great funeral pyres. The death toll of Wednesday's hurricane was swelled to that figure today and is steadily mounting.

Relief workers feared that the total would reach 2,000.

Columbus' Tomb Unharmed.

The famous cathedral, which has stood against the hand of man and the hand of time for 400 years and is a jewel of architecture, was among the buildings that escaped destruction.

The tomb of Christopher Columbus also escaped. The tomb is inside the cathedral, close to the entrance.

Motorcycle messengers succeeded today in surveying conditions in the interior of the country. They reported that the hurricane had concentrated its fury on the capital. The large towns of La Vega, Santiago, and Puerto Plata were not damaged.

5,000 Hurt, 30,000 Homeless.

In a way the 1,500 dead in the city and the unnumbered dead elsewhere were, at least momentarily, less to be pitied than the living, for their suffering was at least ended, whereas the plight of the 5,000 injured and the 30,000 homeless and destitute was growing hourly more critical.

Of the city's 10,000 buildings only 400 were left in which to house the wounded and the weak. And today hunger began to stalk the littered streets.

Relief workers had time only to the living and so, lest the horror of pestilence be added to the city's sorry

It's a Good Time to Stock the Pantry

It was the war that did it. It was that big, murderous fracas in Europe that shook and shook the dollar. And when the statisticians came to look at it at its worst it had only 40 cents of its purchasing power left. A pound of sugar had been boosted from a nickel to a quarter. A 25 pound sack of flour which cost 75 cents when Woodrow Wilson started eating at the White House regularly, went to $2. And even the lowly potato moved up from 3 pounds for a nickel pre-war to 10 cents a pound.

At last the wrong has been righted. A dollar is itself again. Recent drops in the prices of many food articles have got them down where they were before the war. A dollar buys more sugar, flour, coffee, rice or canned goods than at any time in years. It's a good time to fill the pantry shelves with bags, bottles and cans.

Chicago Tribune

burden of misfortune, any attempt at burying the dead was abandoned in favor of mass incineration.

And yet, despite the terrific loss in life and property—the damage within the city limits was roughly estimated at $20,000,000 — hope flamed strongly in the survivors' hearts and was strengthened by reports that relief ships were on the way with food and medical supplies, doctors, and nurses.

Food, because of its insufficiency, was being strictly rationed, and President Trujillo himself worked in wreckage heaped streets seeing that the most needy were first served and most carefully protected.

During the first paralyzed period after the hurriance passed there were some instances of looting. But today the city was under martial law and the relief work went forward in the chaotic city with perfect order.

Put Prisoners at Work.

Because others could not be spared and in order to utilize every available agency in at least preparing for the gigantic reconstruction program that will have to be put into effect to rebuild the city, prisoners were set to work clearing the debris from the streets.

Their task will take them weeks and maybe months, for it is a colossal undertaking just to clear the ground for the Santo Domingo that is to be. Masonry and timber lie everywhere in tangled heaps, mounds of wreckage, from which bodies were still being recovered today. The city looks as if all its man made structures had been scooped up in giant hands, crumpled to worthlessness, and tossed back upon the ground.

Declaring that the situation was disastrous and that 90 per cent of the city was destroyed, President Trujillo appealed by cable today for quick assistance from the United States and all other friendly nations.

"We are in need of everything," he wired.

Prepare to Feed Victims.

All foodstuffs will be brought to the fortress as soon as they arrive. A committee was being formed to handle the distribution, as rationing will be one of the most serious problems in administering relief not only in the city but throughout a wide area where death and desolation are believed to have resulted.

Rolling kitchens this afternoon began feeding the hungry and homeless populace of the capital. Operation of the kitchens was the first act of Mario Fermin Cabral, president of the senate, who was designated by President Trujillo to supervise the feeding of the refugees and the removal of debris from the city's 10,000 destroyed buildings.

Take Refuge in Churches.

The churches and schools that escaped from the crushing blow of the hurricane tonight were filled with thousands of persons whose only remaining possessions are the clothes on their backs. The more seriously injured have been removed to hospitals.

Yesterday afternoon an airplane arrived from Porto Rico bringing Maj. Cary E. Crockett, aid de camp of Gov. Roosevelt. With him came Antonio R. Silva, chairman of the Red Cross chapter in Porto Rico.

Describe Havoc of Storm.

The visitors said that 30 miles before they reached Santo Domingo City they began to see the condition of havoc which the storm had caused. Everything looked torn to pieces, they said. The hurricane, it was their opinion, was much worse than that which struck Porto Rico in 1928.

The relief mission added that Gov. Roosevelt had asked Gov. Evans of Saint Thomas, Virgin islands, to place at his disposal a United States transport for use as a relief ship. The emissary said Gov. Roosevelt was prepared to send from 50,000 to 100,000 rounds of rations and tents in great numbers.

Chargé d'Affaires Hallienne announced that a British warship could be expected at any moment.

Public Buildings Destroyed.

Among the public buildings totally or partially destroyed are the presidential palace, the edifice housing the cabinet secretaries near the fortress, the chamber of deputies, the Court of Appeals, the fire department headquarters, and the services of the water, light, and telephone companies. Customs warehouses also have been destroyed.

The All-America cable office here has been notified by its manager at Lavega, Santiago de Los Caballeros and Porto Plata did not suffer any damage from the hurricane.

Relief Ships Out Off.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, mobilizing relief forces for stricken Santo Domingo, was informed this afternoon that supply ships dispatched today would be unable to enter the Ozama river at Santo Domingo because the hurricane had blocked the channel.

Maj. Crockett reported a dredge was trying to remove the obstruction.

Supply ships will have to unload at San Geronimo beach, two miles west of the city. No lighters are available and ships' boats must be used to land medical supplies and rations.

Relief Fails to Get Through.

[Copyright, 1930, and all rights reserved by the Associated Press.]

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two truck loads of medical supplies dispatched from here to hurricane stricken Santo Domingo today failed to reach the city owing to impassable roads.

Seven airplanes are leaving tomorrow with supplies. Twenty thousand dollars worth of supplies will be sent by ship tomorrow night, contributed by Haitian subscription.

Storm Shorn of Fury.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Shorn of its fury by the rugged path it traveled across the Dominican Republic, the hurricane which lashed Santo Domingo was moving leisurely toward the Florida straits tonight, while American relief forces extended a helping hand to the devastated island city.

Rains and light winds marked the progress of the disturbance toward the tip of the Florida coast and storm warnings had been taken down, but the incoming reports from Santo Domingo painted a vivid picture of the furious swath it cut across the island before the mountains sapped its strength.

The offices of the American Red Cross here today gathered its forces for relief activities. Food, medicines, water, and clothing were being dispatched by airplane and ship.

$40,000 For Relief.

Red Cross officials said command of American relief activities was now in the hands of an American committee, which Minister Charles B. Curtis was asked to name today. This committee will coöperate with officials of the republic and through it will be spent the $40,000 the Red Cross has cabled to Mr. Curtis. Capt. Antonio Silva, president of the Porto Rican Red Cross chapter, will take charge of immediate relief in the field.

The committee will also take charge of the relief supplies for which Gov. Roosevelt of Porto Rico was sent $10,000, as well as of other contributions made through American officials.

The Canadian Red Cross offered assistance today and the American Red Cross replied it would be glad to act as intermediary if desired.

The United States army volunteered to the Red Cross the use of surplus army medicines, food and shelter if necessary to save life.

Hospital Association Offers Aid.

The Catholic Hospital association, holding its annual convention here, adopted a resolution offering its assistance to the Red Cross in the relief work. Nearly 700 hospitals in the United States are members of the association.

The U. S. S. Grebe reported by wireless it was bound from San Juan to Santo Domingo with relief workers and supplies. The Grebe carried a medical personnel of thirty.

FORMER VICE CONSUL IN CHICAGO AND WIFE IN HURRICANE ZONE

MRS. W. H. GALLIENNE. [U. & U. Photo.]

Although no definite word had been received by friends here, it was assumed yesterday from press dispatches that W. H. Gallienne, former British vice consul in Chicago, and Mrs. Gallienne, survived the hurricane disaster in Santo Domingo. Mr. Gallienne was appointed chargé d'affaires there last year. During their four year stay in Chicago, the envoy and his wife made many friends.

ATLANTIC FLYERS AT LOUISVILLE AFTER TEXAS HOP

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Greeted by the cheers of thousands of citizens and the shrieking of factory whistles, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, Paris to New York to Dallas flyers, swept out of a murky sky and landed on Bowman field here at 6:41:30 (C. S. T.) tonight.

As the wheels of their sesqui-plane touched ground for the third time in America, a crowd of approximately 6,000 persons surged forward, shouting a noisy welcome. The flyers had left Dallas, Tex., at 12:30 p. m.

Led by a detail of motorcycle policemen and followed by scores of automobiles, the machine bearing the flyers wended its way through cheering and flag waving crowds to a local hotel, where the flyers were to remain overnight.

Tour Plans Unsettled.

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Plans for the good will tour of Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte were still "up in the air" today after the committee of arrangements handling the flight had spent several hours sifting the flood of requests pouring into its offices here.

The only certainty is that the French flyers will start their "round the nation" hop within a few days under the auspices of their own government and the United States department of commerce. It is not likely that Capt. Coste will guide his plane over all the towns that saw Lindbergh, according to reliable information obtained today.

Gronau and Hoover Confer.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, hero of the next to the last successful crossing of the Atlantic by airplane, told President Hoover today that in his opinion regular trans-Atlantic flights via Iceland and Greenland were practical with existing flying equipment.

The President and Capt. Gronau hardly had been introduced by Dr. Otto Kiep, counsellor of the German embassy, when Mr. Hoover brought up the subject of the practicability of the route taken by the German aviators to America. The President showed great interest in the suggestion to use the northern islands as refueling bases and asked many questions regarding meteorological experiments now being carried on in that region.

Advises Way Stations.

Capt. von Gronau told President Hoover that the proposal to set up way stations in Iceland and Greenland appeared more feasible for commercial trans-Atlantic flying than for nonstop flights. He said the trip could be broken up into three stages, permitting greater loads. An auxiliary ship to relieve flyers in distress would be a necessary part of such a commercial venture, the captain said. He recommended the use of flying boats.

When Capt. von Gronau and Edward Zimmer, his co-pilot on the Dornier-Wal, emerged from the White House, newspaper men asked if the conversation with the President was carried on in German.

"No," the captain replied. "The President spoke English, or rather American."

Husband of Jean Harlow Forbidden to Alter Fund

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Jean Harlow, Chicago film actress, today secured a Superior court injunction restraining her husband, Charles F. McGrew II. of Chicago, from altering in any way an agreement by which he created a $200,000 trust fund for her in Chicago on Nov. 30, 1927.

Plane Better Than Airship in Sea Service, Coste Says

BY DIEUDONNE COSTE.

[Copyright, 1930, in North and South America by the New York Times company. All rights reserved.]

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 5—What is the future of trans-Atlantic aviation? I do not like to generalize in a field in which one man's prediction is as good as another's, but I have, of course, some hunches.

I believe that the airplane is more serviceable than the dirigible; that when trans-Atlantic air routes are inaugurated on a commercial basis the flights will not be nonstop, as ours was, and that the huge DO-X, in which the Germans propose to carry a pay load across the Atlantic, will be found to be too large for practical purposes.

40 Hours Is Minimum.

All these opinions center in one problem, that of speed. No one is going to make a success of commercial trans-Atlantic aviation unless he can provide reliable service at a very substantial saving of time over the four or five days in which the express ocean liner now makes the crossing. My guess is that forty hours is the minimum that will pay. If aircraft cannot provide reliable forty-hour service, they are beaten before they start.

Right at this point the advantage of planes over dirigibles begins to be seen. Dr. Hugo Eckner has done marvels; he has shown the Zeppelin to be safe and sturdy; but, as yet, he has not been able to cross the ocean in the face of adverse winds at a speed greatly in excess of a fast ocean liner. If a trans-Atlantic dirigible service were to operate steadily for six months or so, I think that this shortcoming would become extremely evident.

The airplane, on the other hand, has sufficient speed to overcome strong adverse winds. It will be pointed out at once that the dirigible has the advantage of being able to remain longer aloft, even after its fuel is exhausted, whereas all the trans-Atlantic airplanes to date have had to carry so much fuel that room remained for little else.

Favors Making Stops.

It is for this reason that I believe trans-Atlantic air service will include quite a few stops. These stops may be made on land; they may be made on floating airdromes, such as I understand to be under construction here in America. They will enable the plane to carry a pay load large enough to provide real profit.

When any trans-Atlantic service is inaugurated, mail will be its mainstay during the long period of demonstration that will be required to convince most people that it is a safe mode of travel. This has something to do with my opinion that medium sized planes, much smaller than the DO-X, will be used.

This brings us to the much debated question as to the relative reliability of small planes and large multimotored planes. An airplane is dependent upon the steady functioning of its motors just as a human being is upon his heart. Airplane motors are among the finest products of pure science. They are approaching the point of being utterly reliable.

Believes One Motor Enough.

If a huge plane can still remain aloft and retain maneuverability and high speed with two or three motors dead, then it has an undeniable advantage. But if the failure of the two or three motors forces it down, it has no advantage whatever.

If we are to regard the airplane motor as a perfected machine—and it is hard not to do so after listening to the never failing drone of our Hispano for hour upon hour upon hour as it pulled us through the mist over the Atlantic—we are forced to the conclusion that even a single motored plane is at no disadvantage in comparison to the largest multi-motored craft.

But I do not want to give an impression that I take for granted the early establishment of air service between France and the United States. It is not impossible, but, in reality, much work is necessary before it can be accomplished. We must have more information about meteorology over the north Atlantic and about the materials used in airplane construction.

Better Planes Needed.

We flew across, arriving at the exact destination which we had determined upon. That is a thing to make me very happy, but I am still quite aware that the flight comes far from proving the present practicability of commercial service over the same route. We must have better planes and plenty of landing stations of one kind or another en route, enough, at any rate, to enable us to dispense with some of our gasoline and replace it with pay load, comparable to that of the airship.

This would seem to be a concession to dirigibles. Nevertheless I maintain that their performance is not yet convincing.

Their inferior speed is not their only handicap. From a practical standpoint they have another one that will still remain even if the speed can be stepped up to a point where it compares with a plane. This second handicap is the cost involved, not alone in the construction of the ship, but also of the huge hangars required. And, beyond that, a large ground crew must be maintained.

Distances Great Here.

Distances in the United States are long enough to make the time saved by flying appreciable; whereas in Europe the cities, are, many of them, relatively close together and when the time consumed in traveling to and from airdromes is added to the flying time there is little saving over the time of a train trip.

And another asset to aviation you have here is, needless to say, your form of industrial development which makes travel facilities important and so provides passengers to pay fares.

KEGEL REPORTS 1,815 DECREASE IN CITY DEATHS

The number of deaths in Chicago, 23,938, during the first eight months of this year was 1,815 less than the number for the corresponding period of 1929, according to a statement yesterday by Health Commissioner Kegel. Decreases also were noted in the number of cases of contagious disease.

"The decrease in deaths this year," said Dr. Kegel, "extends to all age groups from under 1 year to and including 50 to 60 years, as well as to the group over 80 years old. Only in the groups from 60 to 70 years and from 70 to 80 years has there been an increase in the number of deaths."

Health department physicians, during the first two days of school, examined 211,944 pupils for evidence of contagious or skin diseases, Dr. Kegel said. Those who have contagious diseases are sent to their homes.

CHICAGO SEARCH FOR BUCKETEER SUSPECT FAILS

At request of New York City police, Sergts. John Cartan and William Knowles of the detective bureau yesterday searched an apartment at 346 East 71st street for William E. Willard, head of an alleged bucket shop in New York, which recently failed for $500,000. Willard was indicted for grand larceny.

Failing to find the fugitive, the detectives took into custody Miss Edith May Harrison, 30 years old, who admitted she had been his secretary until a month ago. The girl said Willard had telephoned her two days ago from Los Angeles and she expressed a belief that he might be found there at the Biltmore hotel. Los Angeles police were notified.

Willard, a former Chicagoan, is wanted here also, the police revealed, on a charge of issuing three worthless checks for $125 each at a loop hotel. He is said to be wanted at San Antonio and Corpus Christi, Tex.

WAR TO FINISH! GANDHI REJECTS BRITISH TERMS

Demands All-Native Rule; Spurns Compromise.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Sept. 6.—[Saturday.]—It is to be a war to the finish in India.

Regretting that "there is no meeting ground" between the forces of the revolution and the British government, Mahatma Gandhi yesterday rejected the final compromise brought to him by the unofficial peacemakers, Sir Tej Sapru and Mr. Jayakar.

"We regret that our efforts have resulted in failure," they announced.

"Independence or Nothing."

Late in the evening they started issuing an official text, outlining the negotiations since they began last June, and at 3 o'clock this morning the 15,000 word statement was still pouring over the wires from Poona, divulging every detail of the peace moves.

The statement revealed that the congress party led by Gandhi and Pandits Motilal and Jawaharlal Nehru, is now firmly determined to win complete independence for India and henceforth will be satisfied with nothing less.

What Gandhi Demands.

The Nationalist leaders demand categorically:

1. A complete Nationalist government for India, including immediate control of her own military forces.

2. The right to secede from the British empire at any time India wishes.

3. The right to refer to an independent international tribunal all secondary questions arising from the immediate granting of independence, such as the Indian public debt and the rights of British traders.

When the government is prepared to grant independence and gives the necessary assurance by releasing political prisoners and abolishing the salt tax, then Gandhi is willing to call off the civil disobedience campaign and negotiate with London about the minor details.

Britain Refuses to Agree.

The British government, however, did not find the congress proposals suitable as a basis of discussion and through the moderates tried every means to induce Gandhi to call off the movement until the British are given a chance to negotiate regarding home rule at the London round table conference in October.

"We feel that the round table conference is not likely to achieve anything unless an agreement on all the vital matters is previously arrived at," the Indian leaders politely but firmly declared, adding that they hesitated to "trust" the British government after what has happened in the past.

Gandhi's Parting Shot.

Gandhi in a final letter closing the negotiations takes the government severely to task for "dangling the bait of independence without the intention of grainting it." He talks about the "painful insight into government mentality" and concludes with a grim defiance of the government.

"The congress is engaged in a grim struggle for freedom," he says. "The nation has resorted to a weapon to which the ruler is not used and it will take time to understand and appreciate it. We are not surprised that a few months of suffering has not converted them. The congress has no quarrel with Englishmen as such, but resents with all its moral strength the intolerable command of the British dominion."

As if to anticipate Gandhi's decision, 1,000 Bombay volunteers gathered on the sands to manufacture a couple of grams of salt in violation of the law. The leaders were arrested.

EX-MRS. KIP'S SUIT FOR ALIENATION ENDS IN COURT DISMISSAL

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley at White Plains today signed an order of discontinuance under which Alice Jones Rhinelander, Negro ex-wife of Leonard Kip Rhinelander, agreed to drop her $500,000 alienation of affections suit against Commodore Philip Rhinelander, her former father-in-law.

The judge's action brought to an end the many sided litigation which followed the marriage of the heir to the Rhinelander millions and the daughter of a Negro hackman. Kip Rhinelander recently got a divorce in Reno.

The suit was dropped in accordance with Mrs. Rhinelander's recent agreement with her husband, reached at Las Vegas, Nev. Under the terms of the agreement she was to resume her maiden name of Alice Jones, drop a suit for separation, and discontinue action against Commodore Rhinelander. The separation suit has not been formally dropped as yet.

FAKE SECRETARY TRIES TO SELL COSTE'S 'DIARY'

PARIS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A young man who introduced himself as Dieudonne Coste's secretary attempted to capitalize the noted aviator's trans-Atlantic flight today by means of forged papers.

The bogus "secretary" called on various publishers, offering for sale a manuscript which he said was Coste's logbook, kept on the trans-Atlantic trip.

Mme. Coste was informed of the attempts, and issued a warning to the public through the Havas News agency. She asked police to try to locate the manuscript vendor.

WANTS WAUKEGAN OFFICIAL PLACED ON PEACE BOND

Harry Stripe, realty dealer and president of the Waukegan Taxpayers association, procured a warrant yesterday from Magistrate Edwin Burgess of Lake Forest, seeking to have Corporation Counsel Arthur Bulkley of Waukegan placed under bond to insure the peace.

Since their clash before Magistrate M. J. Heany in Waukegan last Wednesday over the payment of the Waukegan vehicle tax, Stripe asserted, he has been in fear of bodily harm at the hands of Bulkley. Stripe, as president of the taxpayers' association, has been campaigning against the vehicle tax and advising motorists to refuse payment on grounds that the tax is illegal.

A warrant was issued yesterday against Stripe for his failure to pay the tax. The warrant was obtained by Felix Druba, special policeman of the Waukegan city clerk's office.

French Flyer Sets New Closed Circuit Record

PARIS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The French aviator Jean Laulhe, in a 40 horsepower, 770 pound plane, today established a new world's record for distance in a circuit with 2,730 kilometers (1,678 miles). The former record was of the Czecho-Slovakian, Cherck, of 2,500 kilometers, made in Prague, June 7, 1928.

TRAIN STRIKES AUTO; PRIEST AND COMPANION DIE

Fear for Life of Third Man in Crash.

A large sedan bearing four men home from the races at Lincoln Fields was demolished by a fast passenger train late yesterday at West 147th street and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad tracks in Riddlothian, one mile northwest of Oak Forest. Two of the occupants, one of whom was a Catholic priest, were killed outright; a third one is expected to die. The dead were:

The Rev. Joseph R. Tracy, 30 years old, assistant pastor of the Resurrection of Our Lord parish in Austin.

Fear Third Will Die.

The driver of the automobile, C. E. Stimming, 5541 Congress street, vice president of the Madison Square bank, is in a critical condition at the Oak Forest infirmary. According to physicians he has only a slight chance of recovery. Witnesses of the accident reported to police there was a fourth man riding in the car, but he had not been found two hours after the accident.

The party had spent the day at the race track and was returning to Chicago. A north bound suburban train had just passed the crossing, which is at the intersection of 147th street and Crawford avenue. As the car moved on to the tracks it was struck by the south bound train. The train carried the wreckage a quarter of a mile down the track.

Priest's Body in Car.

Gannon was thrown from the automobile, and his body was found crushed against a post which supports a warning signal. The Rev. Father Tracy's body was in the wreckage of the car. Both bodies were removed to the undertaking rooms at 159th street and Cicero avenue.

The crossing has been the scene of many fatal accidents, according to residents of the neighborhood. Although the vision of the tracks is unobscured, the street crosses the railroad at an angle. The warning signal was said to have been operating at the time of yesterday's fatal crash.

The automobile clipped off a telephone pole after being carried down the tracks, disrupting telephone service at Midlothian and Oak Forest.

Father Tracy was born in Chicago and was educated here and in Baltimore. He had been assistant pastor of the Austin parish for four years.

Killed in Gary Crash.

In another crossing accident yesterday at 4th avenue and the Pennsylvania railroad tracks in Gary, William F. Brown, 35 years old, 6215 Cottage Grove avenue, was killed and his companion, Miss Gloria Amarose, 21 years old, a dancer, of 6502 North Claremont avenue, was critically injured when their car was struck by a passenger train.

Brown was a vaudeville booking agent with offices at 64 West Randolph street. He had been in Detroit on business and was returning to Chicago when the accident occurred.

The police said the warning signals at the crossing were not operating.

Auto Toll Raised to 691.

The deaths of Father Tracy and Gannon and two other auto fatalities yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 691. The other victims:

Antonio Amezcua, 32 years old, 9222 Brandon avenue. Died at the county hospital of injuries incurred on Thursday when he fell from a motorcycle at 89th street and Brandon avenue.

James Gray Jr., colored, 4 years old, 440 East 42nd place. Fatally injured late yesterday while crossing 43d street near South Park way when he was struck by a mail truck driven by Joseph Easton, also colored, 20 years old, 4346 Calumet avenue. Easton was held.

Miss Mathilde Kallscheuer, 21 years old, 2422 North Central avenue, died on Thursday evening at Ironwood, Mich., of injuries incurred on Tuesday in an accident near Ontonogan, Mich. Miss Kallscheuer, who is a niece of Mrs. Lawrence Heyworth, wife of a wealthy Chicago clubman and yachtsman, had been visiting at the Heyworth summer home at Watersmeet, Mich. Mr. Heyworth suffered serious cuts about the head. The Heyworths live at 7651 South Shore drive.

TWO KILLED, ANOTHER BADLY HURT AS PLANE HITS WATER TOWER

Wanamingo, Minn., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two men were killed and a third was injured, probably fatally, when their airplane struck a water tower while taking off from a field near here today and crashed into the main street of the town. The dead are Arnold Morkre, 24 years old, and Alfred Lunde, also 24, both of Wanamingo.

The injured man, Henry Dahlen of Mora, pilot of the plane, is in a hospital at Rochester, not expected to live.

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Gerald Gettinger, 22, Liberty, Mo., was killed, and Willard S. Rothwell, 20, also of Liberty, was seriously injured in the crash of their airplane today.

Airplanes to Hunt for Dry Agent Missing Since Aug. 28

Raton, N. M., Sept. 5.—(AP)—C. E. Stearns, federal prohibition director, tonight requested airplanes from John F. Vivian, district director at Denver, to assist in search for Ray Sutton, dry agent of Clayton, missing since Aug. 28. Sutton had been engaged with several agents in probing the murder of Dale Kearney, Colorado prohibition agent at Aguilar, Colo., and Stearns believes he may have met with foul play.

CORONER ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF HOSPITAL DEATH

On instructions of Coroner Bundesen, Lieut. Otto Erianson of the homicide squad began an investigation of the death at the Chicago hospital last night of Bruno Kaminski, alias Fred Schneider, 24 years old, 3549 West 61st street. His death resulted from burns.

The coroner was reported to be angered at the failure of the hospital authorities and the attending physician, Dr. Haldane Cleminson, 3201 West 63d street, to report Kaminski's injuries. The latter had been a patient at the hospital since early Thursday. Lieut. Erianson believed Kaminski was burned either by torturers or in a distillery explosion.

Kaminski was taken to the hospital by Dr. Cleminson and George Nolan, business agent of the boilermakers' union. Nolan told the police two strangers had brought the man to his door claiming to have found him in the wreckage of his burned car after a traffic accident near the Indiana state line. Investigation established that no such accident occurred.

Dr. Cleminson, who served nine years in the penitentiary for the murder of his wife in 1909, was named as defendant in the praecipe of a $100,000 suit filed in the Superior court a week ago in behalf of a woman who had been his patient.

WAR FLYER BEGS AID OF JUDGE TO END DRUG HABIT

Rudolph Kaiser, 38 years old, former superintendent of a Rockford furniture factory and a Canadian flyer during the world war, stood before Judge John H. Lyle in East Chicago avenue court yesterday. It was upon his own volition that he appeared in court on a disorderly charge made by a friend.

"It's the dope, Judge. It's got me," explained Kaiser as he peered through thick glasses at Judge Lyle.

"I want you to send me some place where I can't get the stuff, and where I can take treatments. I took the cure once in a jail in New York, but the guards there sold me dope, and that spoiled it all."

While awaiting arraignment to quarters in the jail, Kaiser explained that he acquired "this accursed drug habit" in a Paris hospital during the war.

LAKE CLUBHOUSE SUIT CARRIED TO HIGHEST COURT

The Stevens Hotel company yesterday carried its fight to the United States Supreme court to prevent the erection of a clubhouse at the foot of Monroe street by the Chicago Yacht club. The petition avers that the hotel has a right to an unobstructed view over the lake and that the erection of the club house would reduce the value of its property. It also holds the Illinois legislative act enabling the club to fill in the harbor line unconstitutional.

The Illinois Supreme court overruled a similar suit last April 18 in upholding a decision of Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan. In affirming Judge Sullivan the Supreme court stated that the issue was decided in a prior suit brought by the owners of the McCormick building in 1928. Ground was broken for the club house Nov. 30, 1929. The building is to cost $2,000,000.

Eucharistic Congress Set for Dublin June, 1932

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Ireland is preparing to welcome more than 100,000 Americans expected in Dublin in June, 1932, to attend the thirty-first International Eucharistic congress, but it will require American capital and industry to care properly for the huge influx. This is the word brought back to the states today by William V. McCarthy, executive secretary of the Catholic Travel league, who returned in the steamship Aquitania from Ireland.

YOUTH, 17, 'BUYS' MONEY BY MAIL; U. S. JAILS HIM

Victims Lured by His Ads, Postal Officials Say.

Charles Urbanas, a 17 year old boy living at 12230 Emerald avenue, was held to the federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Walker on a charge of using the mails to defraud several hundred persons by a unique scheme.

Postal Inspectors Thomas Rowan and Robert Lewis said they discovered several months ago that the youth was advertising in small magazines and newspapers for $5, $10, and $20 bills of the 1902 and 1914 series. He offered as high as $2,000 apiece for these bills, and it is alleged that he began receiving them from all parts of the country. The youth was arrested, the postal inspectors said, after they had obtained definite evidence that he had received a number of bills without paying for them.

Warned by Postal Inspectors.

The inspectors had advised the boy of the danger of using the mails for this scheme and urged him to stop, which he promised to do, according to his confession. The inspectors said the boy then conceived a plan which he thought would outwit them.

Urbanas created the Monarch Numismatics company of 581 West 161st street, New York City, suite 33, which is the address of the Empire Business Service, an agency for the receiving of mail. He confessed that he took the New York address to make an impression.

In correspondence with his prospective victims, it is alleged, Urbanas gave them his own name and address as a reference. "Mr. Urbanas was formerly skeptical," he wrote, "but we paid him $540 for a $10 bill and now he is one of our best customers."

Tell About Youth's Ads.

The youth also inserted advertisements telling "How to Make $300 a Week," according to postal authorities. Inquirers were then solicited to become collectors for the "numismatic" company, being promised a percentage, it is alleged.

Eleven letters from residents of Roseland were found in the correspondence, but no others from the Chicago area. Postal inspectors estimated the collections at more than $1,000, but Urbanas declared he had reimbursed some of his victims. Bond was fixed at $1,500, and the boy was put in the county jail.

Overdose of Sleep Potion Fatal to Young Woman

Miss Margaret Smiley, 28 years old, died last night in her room at the Hyde Park hotel from an overdose of a sleeping potion. Her sister, Mrs. Claude Wilson, 7130 Cyril avenue, told the police that Miss Smiley had complained of insomnia and had taken the powder Thursday evening.

SEIZE SECRETARY OF GARY LEADER ON DRUG CHARGE

U. S. Takes Girl Aid of Ralph Bradford.

Miss Martha Machacek, of 441 Connecticut street, Gary, private secretary to Ralph B. Bradford, well known Lake county politician and real estate operator, was arrested late yesterday on a charge of violating the federal anti-narcotic laws.

Federal Agent Joseph Walsh arrested Miss Machacek at Bradford's office, 445 Connecticut street, after she had signed for a package containing morphine. The package had been sent by mail to Bradford, according to Walsh. It was large enough to contain several thousand dollars worth of the narcotic, but the federal agents did not disclose how much it contained. Postal inspectors were said to have notified the narcotic authorities of the package.

Bradford Former Klan Leader.

Bradford was for eight years treasurer of Lake county and for many years has been identified with Republican politics in nothern Indiana. He formerly was a leader in the Ku Klux Klan and his testimony about the political intrigues of that organization startled the Reed senate investigating committee in 1926.

Bradford charged that wholesale shakedowns of saloonkeepers had been conducted by organizations affiliated with United States Senator James E. Watson. He also testified before a federal grand jury, and following this testimony instituted a $100,000 libel suit against Watson, who was alleged to have called Bradford "a notorious liar and a down and outer." The suit was dismissed by Federal Judge Slick.

Bradford recently announced the completion of a transaction which, he said, would bring five new manufacturing industries to Gary. Purchase of a building for $350,000 was part of the transaction.

Girl Released on Bond.

Booked on an open charge at Gary police headquarters, Miss Machacek was released within two hours when United States Commissioner S. C. Dwyer telephoned the police to fix her bond at $500. A relative of the girl provided the bond. United States Attorney Oliver Loomis was incensed when informed of her release.

"No one had a right to fix her bond, since there was no definite charge against her," said the prosecutor. "I have ordered her rearrested and held incommunicado. Rumors that this arrest was framed are untrue."

Bradford had not been found late last night.

JEAN AUBERT GUARDED; FEARS SHE'LL BE STOLEN

Boston, Mass., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Jean Aubert, actress wife of Nelson Morris, millionaire Chicago packer, was under police guard in her hotel here tonight as the result of a rumored plot to have her kidnaped by Chicago gangsters.

Meyer Appointed Governor of Federal Reserve Bank

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Official announcement of the appointment of Eugene Meyer as governor of the federal reserve board was made today by President Hoover. At the same time announcement was made of the acceptance by the President of the resignation of Edmund Platt, vice governor of the board, whose elimination was necessary in order to make possible the selection of Mr. Meyer because the latter resides in the New York federal reserve district.

Mr. Meyer will take office at once under a recess appointment, the place of governor having been vacant since Sept. 1, when Gov. Roy A. Young retired to become governor of the Boston Federal Reserve bank.

Mr. Meyer's appointment seems certain to encounter opposition when the President submits it to the senate in December. Senator S. W. Brookhart (Rep., Ia.) led a fight on Mr. Meyer's appointment as head of the farm loan board two years ago and is expected to oppose him again. Other radicals may join in the attack on Mr. Meyer as a "representative of Wall street."

Text of Hoover Note.

"Mr. Meyer has, with the exception of the last year, been continuously in government service since 1917 as manager of the War Finance corporation and in reorganization of the farm loan board as its chairman," said President Hoover in his statement announcing the appointment. "His appointment has been strongly indorsed by Mr. Mellon and several members of the reserve board and of the federal reserve banks.

"Mr. Platt, who has hitherto represented the New York district, has wished to retire for some time to take up private business. His engagement with an important New York firm is announced today. Mr. Platt has given long and effective public service as a member of congress and the reserve board, these public services extending over seventeen years."

It was indicated that the President had not as yet selected a member of the board to fill the vacancy which still exists. This member may be chosen either from the Minneapolis district, which Mr. Young represented, or from any of six other districts—those centering at Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Kansas City, and Dallas.

"Will Object," Brookhart Says.

Waterloo, Ia., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Senator Smith W. Brookhart today promised to lead a fight on the floor of the senate against confirmation of the appointment of Eugene Meyer of New York as governor of the federal reserve board.

"I shall feel it my duty to oppose his confirmation," Brookhart said. "I am confident that I will have considerable support in such a move."

GANGSTERS STAY IN JAIL; BATTLE OF JUDGES FADES

McGoorty Delays Habeas Hearing to Monday.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 5729.

Issy Alderman and Joe Condi, gangsters, sentenced on Wednesday under the vagrancy law to six months at hard labor in the Bridewell by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, remained prisoners yesterday despite the assertions of their attorney that they had been illegally committed. Alderman was originally hunted as a suspect in the Lingle murder investigation.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, who has issued a writ for the two gangsters, refused to entertain a motion for their release on bail pending disposition of the habeas corpus hearing. The judge continued the hearing on the writ until Monday. In the meantime Alderman and Condi will continue to work on the rock pile in the Bridwell quarry if the sentence of Judge Lyle is carried out.

Prospect of Clash Fades.

The expected clash between the two judges over the manner in which the men were sentenced failed to take place yesterday, and the indications were that the case would be disposed of by Judge McGoorty on its legal merits without controversy between the courts.

The hearing before Chief Justice McGoorty yesterday was interrupted several times by Attorney Ben Feldman, counsel for Alderman and Condi, who charged that his clients were "held illegally" and that Judge Lyle sentenced them when in fact he had no jurisdiction.

"The fact is that your honor has no jurisdiction in this matter," Assistant State's Attorney Q. J. Chott told Chief Justice McGoorty. The prosecutor appeared in court to oppose the release of the two gangsters.

"Your honor waived jurisdiction of these defendants on the original habeas corpus writ when you told Special Assistant State's Attorney Rathbun of the Lingle murder investigation staff that the men need not be brought into court if they were booked by a designated time," Chott continued.

Cites Law to Judge.

"They were booked, and that was the end of the writ, according to our contention. It is well settled law that the Criminal court has no right to review the judicial acts of the Municipal court. If Judge Lyle erred in the manner of sentencing these men, then it is a matter of review in the Appellate court."

Prosecutor Chott asked that the writ be continued so that he might file a written answer to the defense petition and also to give him an opportunity to have two witnesses on hand.

Judge Lyle had nothing to say yesterday other than that he is determined to see that the gangsters serve their six month sentences.

HEAR WOMAN'S STORY

Police Lieutenant Frank Johnson was in Des Moines, Ia., yesterday to hear the story of Mrs. Mary Clark Brundson of that city, who said she was a witness of the Lingle murder. Mrs. Brunadon said she would name the slayer and the men who had hired him if given $25,000.

A TRIBUNE reporter was sent to Des Moines to investigate Mrs. Brunsdon's statements at the request of Pat Roche, chief investigator of the state's attorney's office, and Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun. The reporter recognized Mrs. Brunsdon as a woman who visited THE TRIBUNE office shortly after the murder and asked for some intimate article that had belonged to Lingle, declaring if she prayed over such an article the name of his slayer would be revealed to her.

Lieut. Johnson was sent to Des Moines after reports had been circulated here that Mrs. Brunsdon had written to Police Commissioner Alcock and several Chicago newspapers stating that she could solve the Lingle murder. It was also reported that Mrs. Brunsdon had written to attorneys for Frank Foster, under indictment for the Lingle murder, offering to give testimony that would assure Foster's acquittal.

First Assistant State's Attorney John Northup denied a report circulated yesterday that he had sent Lieut. Johnson to Des Moines. "I never heard of Mrs. Brunsdon," Mr. Northup said. "I didn't know Lieut. Johnson was in Iowa or any other place. My name must have been mixed up with Detective Chief John Norton or some one."

RETIRES

Dr. Theodore G. Soares, for 23 years head of the department of practical theology at the University of Chicago, has resigned. He is leaving tomorrow for Pasadena to become professor of ethics at California Institute of Technology and assume the pastorate of the Pasadena Neighborhood church.

Born in England and educated at the University of Minnesota, Dr. Soares came to the Midway in 1892 as a graduate student, the fifteenth person to matriculate at the university. In 1894 he was ordained to the Baptist ministry and held pastorates at Rockford, Galesburg, and Oak Park before returning to the university as professor of homiletics in 1906. The following year he was made head of the department of practical theology, a post he had since retained.

JUSTICE OLSON FINDS DECREASE IN FELONY HERE

Tells Benefits of New Crime Branch.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Earl Lyon, false pretenses, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell and fined $200 and costs; Raymond Smiley, John Beeman, and Alfred Morgan, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry M. Fisher.

Robert Green, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Arthur McNeil, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph David.

A decrease in the number of felony cases during 1929 as compared with 1928 was listed yesterday by Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court in preparing his annual report for last year. The establishment of the Felony court as a branch of the Municipal court was credited by Judge Olson with playing a prominent part in cutting down the offenses in crimes of violence which are punishable by terms in the penitentiary.

The Felony court was set up by Judge Olson on Jan. 7, 1929, and located in a room in the new Criminal Court building. All felony charges originating in Chicago, with the exception of those in the district known as South Chicago and those against boys under 21 years of age, are taken to this court.

How Trials Are Speeded.

"The Felony court facilitates the prosecution of serious offenses by having all felony cases tried in the same building in which the grand jury sits, so that if defendants are held to the grand jury the witnesses can cross the hall from the Municipal court to the grand jury room," said Judge Olson.

"The result of this plan of handling the more serious crime is evidenced by the first year's showing of the operations of the Felony court. There was a marked decrease in the number of offenses, punishable by terms in the penitentiary, in crimes of violence."

The comparisons made by Judge Olson are as follows:

Offenses—	1928 No.	1929 No.	Pct. dec.
Assault to kill	404	334	32.3
Murder	205	132	35.6
Manslaughter	347	175	50
Robbery	3,899	2,818	27.7
Burglary	2,088	1,555	25.5
Confidence game	2,335	1,084	53
Receiving stolen property	658	453	31

Recalls Former Delays.

"Prior to the establishment of this court," said Judge Olson, "from one to three months elapsed between the preliminary hearing in the Municipal court and the action of the grand jury. During this time witnesses were often intimidated or induced to change their statements regarding the offense, and the opportunity and temptation to tamper with them apparently was inviting."

Judge Olson revealed also that a committee from New York City recently was in Chicago to learn how a similar court can be established there.

Berwyn Police to Quiz All Purse Snatchers on Murder

Rudolph Hegovic, 19 years old, 2503 South 57th court, Cicero, whom the Town Hall police seized Thursday night after he had snatched purses from two women, is to be questioned by Berwyn police today about the murder on May 22 of Mrs. Marie Pelletier, who was shot to death near her home, 2521 Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn. Capt. James Mikes of the Berwyn police said he desired to question every purse snatcher arrested because he believes Mrs. Pelletier was slain while resisting robbery.

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The activities of a man alleged to have been one of the principal offenders in a series of telephone coin box thefts which were responsible for a loss of $100,000 to the telephone company in the last three years were halted today when he was indicted by the Bronx grand jury for possession of burglar tools. He was William Lang, 32, an iron worker and ex-convict. When Lang was arrested he had $50 in nickels wrapped in a handkerchief, the police said.

YRIGOYEN QUITS; MARTIAL LAW IN BUENOS AIRES

Foresee Policy of Caution.

Dr. Martinez, a physician by training, has served a term as governor of Cordoba, an important province, and rose to the vice presidency on the strength of Yrigoyen's support. He is supposed not to be as radical as the rank and file of the Yrigoyenists, and it is believed he will pursue a policy of retrenchment and watchful waiting while efforts are made to improve economic conditions.

The situation is that Dr. Martinez has been vested with full executive power, but there is nothing in the constitution to prevent Yrigoyen from resuming the reins of power whenever he wishes to—an unlikely eventuality, however, despite the opinion expressed in some quarters that he may do so after the convening of congress next week if he finds it is behind him.

The president's delegation of power to the vice president does not oblige the latter to form a new cabinet as a resignation outright would have done, therefore there is considerable public curiosity in regard to Dr. Martinez's method of handling the delicate situation. That he will have the support of all sane opinion is a foregone conclusion, although he may meet opposition from the more extreme elements who are against the government under any circumstances.

His first task is to calm the exsiting high feeling—much of which has been deliberately inflamed by the extremists—and it is a difficult one which is likely to prove a strong test of his statesmanship.

Brazil Reported Quiet.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The government issued an official statement today saying there were no indications of disorder in any part of Brazil.

The action was brought about by rumors of trouble in the state of Santa Catherina, and the departure of three destroyers during the night for Florianopolis. The minister of marine said these destroyers had been under orders for several days to participate in joint maneuvers with the army along the Santa Catherina coast.

Yanks Held by Peru Safe.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Cotton said today the state department was informed the two Americans held prisoner by the new Peruvian military junta were receiving satisfactory physical treatment, but that their cases had not yet been settled.

Ferdinand L. Mayer, American chargé d'affaires in Lima, is looking after the interests of the two men. One of them, Harold B. Grow, former naval officer, was imprisoned on a charge that he intended to bomb the city of Arequipa under orders from former President Leguia.

The other, Charles W. Sutton, who worked as irrigation engineer under two former Peruvian governments for nearly 25 years, was imprisoned shortly thereafter, charged with irregularities in his former duties.

Seize Former Head of Chamber.

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Focion Mariategui, former president of the chamber of deputies, was arrested today as he left the Chilean embassy, where he had taken refuge since a revolt overthrew President Augusto B. Leguia. Several senate employés were also arrested in connection with the disappearance of political documents from the files.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS

Buenos Aires, capital of Argentina, was put under martial law last night by Dr. Enrique V. Martinez, vice president and successor to President Yrigoyen.

DEPUTY KILLED, YOUTH SHOT IN LIQUOR BATTLE

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Herbert Coryell of Sandusky, near here, was shot and killed, and William Bryant, 18, alleged moonshiner, was wounded in the leg during a raid on a whisky still near Sandusky last night. Minus Dunning, 50, a timber man and alleged bootlegger, was the object of a widespread man hunt today as Coryell's slayer.

Shot in the mouth and unable to talk, Coryell pencilled a statement a short time before he died in which he said that Dunning shot him from behind a stump as he and Constable Clarence Brown approached the still. The officers returned the fire, and Bryant was hit in the leg.

Coryell was convicted recently of bootlegging and served a sentence in the Alexander county jail. After his release he reformed and was made a deputy sheriff.

U. S. Sues Trixie Friganza for $2,603 on Income Tax

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Trixie Friganza, actress, is named defendant in a federal income tax lien filed in the United States District court today. Miss Friganza is charged with underpaying the government $2,603. Another tax lien was filed against Annette Kellerman for $6,678. The swimmer's asserted shortage dates back to 1919.

KRAFT'S GUARD SHORTAGE PUT AT $4,000 BY STATE

Black Issues Report on Indicted Colonel.

Adjt. Gen Carlos E. Black announced at Springfield yesterday that a state audit had disclosed a discrepancy of $4,000 in the state funds handled by Col. Charles J. Kraft while he commanded the 202d coast artillery. This audit, with other records of the case, has been turned over to Attorney General Carlstrom for possible civil action to recover the funds.

Col. Kraft is under federal indictment, charged with the conversion of government funds. At the time of the indictment federal investigators estimated the total government loss at $100,000. Assistant United States Attorney James C. Leaton, who presented the case to the federal grand jury, said yesterday that he believed the state's loss had been equal to the government's.

Leaton Tells of Report.

Federal investigators found, according to Mr. Leaton, that one concessionaire who rented the Broadway armory from Col. Kraft paid him a total of approximately $5,000 in checks, which, it was said, was not turned over to the regimental fund. This was one loss to the state, the federal officials say.

The investigators said they found a promoter of athletic events, who formerly was an officer in the guard, paid Col. Kraft $200 for the rent of the armory for one night and that Col. Kraft paid the state only $100. This promoter said last night that he rented the armory twice a month, eight months a year, for five years, at the $200 figure.

Federal investigators said that Col. Kraft rented the armory on two contracts, one for the building and one for the seating arrangements, turning the money for the building over to the regimental fund, but failing to account for the seating rental.

Other Charges Made.

It was also charged that Kraft employed mechanics on federal pay to do his private work of arranging the seats. This constituted a loss to the government of $87,000, it is charged, and the investigators estimate that an equal amount was withheld from the state.

No criminal action has been taken by state authorities as a result of the alleged shortages shown by the government inquiry. There were reports at the federal building that National Guard officials exerted pressure upon army officers for the demotion of Arthur R. Johnson, the army investigator who conducted the Kraft inquiry. Johnson was ordered reinstated as an investigator by the war department on Thursday.

Col. C. L. Corbin of the army quartermaster corps had assigned Johnson to a clerical job in the basement of the supply depot, and it is reported he told Johnson "the state officials are very indignant over your investigation of that Kraft case."

DIVERS BRING UP CAPTAIN'S SAFE FROM GOLD SHIP

BREST, France, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The private safe of the captain of the sunken liner Egypt was brought to the surface today, but the Italian company which is attempting to salvage the $5,000,000 in gold ingots which went down with the ship in 1922 has about abandoned hope of reaching the treasure this year.

Three divers—Gianni, Bergellini, and Franceschi—are reported to have told friends they are finding much difficulty in working in the darkness under terrific water pressure and fear the gold must remain under the sea through another winter.

The few days of good weather which will remain until the equinoctial high tides, strong currents and high winds set in will be spent in clearing the top deck so it can be broken through easily to the second deck next spring. The gold lies 20 feet below the top deck in a strong room on the third deck and blasting is very slow because the explosive used must be encased in strong tubes to guard it against the heavy pressure at a depth of 300 feet.

The captain's safe contained documents regarding the storing of the general cargo, ship's papers, and a small sum of money.

WOMAN ENDS LIFE IN HOME.

LAMMOT DU PONT MARRIED; BRIDE FROM NEW YORK

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Caroline H. Stollenwerck of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., were married today at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Rogers Wilson, in Wilmington.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frederick T. Ashton, pastor of Christ Episcopal church. Only immediate members of the two families were present. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her uncle, Reynolds Wilson. Mr. du Pont's son, Lamont du Pont Jr., was best man.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside at Mr. du Pont's home, St. Amgur, on Kennett pike, near Wilmington.

LEGION OPENS CONVENTION IN AURORA TODAY

Aurora today will become the center of American Legion activities in Illinois. The state departments of the American Legion and woman's auxiliary will convene there for a convention, which is to open with a meeting of the Forty and Eight. The feature of the meeting will be a mammoth parade on Monday afternoon, which is expected to attract more than 100,000 visitors.

It is estimated the parade will require more than two hours to pass the reviewing stand in front of the city hall. The night program will open with a barbecue supper and will be followed by boxing bouts. The convention business will be taken up on Tuesday. The Legion convention will adjourn late Tuesday afternoon.

WOMAN'S KIDNAP MYSTERY GROWS; HER AUTO FOUND

Detroit Wife in Collapse at Hospital Here.

The police of Michigan City yesterday found the automobile of Mrs. Edna Kerner, 3286 Courtland street, Detroit, in which she says she was kidnaped near her home on Wednesday night and flung out near the sand dunes after she was robbed. The car was found on a lonely byroad southwest of Michigan City by Chief of Police Wesley R. Kibby.

In the car Chief Kibby found a sable wrap and a wedding ring of which Mrs. Kerner said she had been robbed. The car was locked and the key was missing. There was no trace of $35 in currency which Mrs. Kerner had also reported stolen.

Woman Still in Hospital.

Throughout the day Mrs. Kerner was in a semi-conscious condition at the Washington Park hospital, to which she was taken Thursday night when she drove up to the Woodlawn police station with the kidnaping story and a $22.75 taxi bill. At each attempt to question her she became hysterical.

Her husband, Nathan Kerner, Detroit amusement park owner; Charles Meltzer, her uncle; and Max Waldfogel, a Detroit police lieutenant, arrived in Chicago yesterday morning. They visited the hospital, but were unable to question Mrs. Kerner.

Robbery, Husband Says.

Kerner and Lieut. Waldfogel declared that the motive for kidnaping was robbery, but that the kidnapers became panicky and abandoned Mrs. Kerner when she became nervous and hysterical.

Kerner said that his wife went to a sanitarium in Battle Creek, Mich., a year ago when she suffered a nervous breakdown. The Woodlawn police are awaiting an improvement in her condition to question her in order to learn whether she may not have conceived the kidnaping story in a sudden return of her nervous disorder.

CARAVAN FINDS DOWNSTATE FULL OF G. O. P. VOTES

End First Week's Tour at Danville.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Danville, Ill., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The Republican caravan finished its first week o. trouping the congressional districts tonight with a declaration from C. J. [Tip] Doyle, state chairman, and Speaker David Shanahan, that the party organization is in better fighting trim today than even in a presidential year. After touring eight districts, including the four which voted dry both in 1922 and in 1926 on the modification referenda, party leaders told a meeting here tonight that factional groups have been organized.

"Everywhere," said Speaker Shanahan, "we have been impressed with the activity of workers, and especially by the way the women are already getting into it. It looks as if an old-fashioned Republican majority is in sight that will break records for an off year."

Yates Stresses Vote Getting.

Richard Yates, congressman at large and former governor, joined the caravan today. He made an address at Decatur in the 19th district, one of the driest in the state, in which he emphasized the need of organization. Mr. Yates told the workers to go out and gather the voters.

"Every single vote is worth going after," said Mr. Yates. "John A. Logan was elected senator by one vote, John M. Palmer was elected senator by one vote, this in the time when legislatures elected. Back in 1892 I was nominated for congress by one vote.

"Do you know that in 1824 John Quincy Adams was elected President by one vote? That election was thrown into the house of representatives and each state had one vote. Historians discovered that the complexion of one state delegation in the house had been determined by a single vote at the polls.

"And the historians said they found an old farmer had started to the polls but found one of his pigs caught under a fence. He liberated the pig and mended the fence, but got to town too late to vote. Thus the pig in the fence elected Adams."

Dry Supports Ticket.

Congressman Charles Adkins of Bement, a dry of drys, who cast the only negative vote against the referendum plan in the resolutions committee in the recent state convention, was among the speakers at Decatur.

"We all believe in party government," he said, "and after the party has spoken at a primary and selected its candidates, all good Republicans support the ticket. Everything is well in the 19th district."

One reference only was made during the day to the independent candidacy of Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, and that was by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom. At Decatur he said: "I believe the future of government rests in the two party system. When a great party has held its primaries and made its selections, I have no time or patience with any one who seeks to muddy the waters by coming into the race."

Chairman Doyle said the O'Neill candidacy will "stimulate the Republican workers to greater activities."

EX-OPERA SINGER SUES TO DIVORCE DR. J. F. HARVEY

Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr Harvey, former soprano with the Chicago Civic Opera company, filed suit for divorce in Superior court yesterday against Dr. James Frederick Harvey, north side surgeon and psychiatrist. The bill charges cruelty and alleges the doctor tried to hypnotize her into walking when she was too ill to stand.

Mrs. Harvey began in the chorus of the opera company in 1923 and later took important rôles. She left the company in 1927 because of ill health. The couple were married March 27, 1929.

Last December, while she was suffering from an attack of neuritis, the wife's bill says, Dr. Harvey grabbed her by the wrists and forced her to walk up and down the hall of their home at 431 Oakdale avenue until she became hysterical. They separated a month later.

The bill says Dr. Harvey has an annual income of $25,000 and owns valuable property. He is a fellow in the American College of Surgeons and a member of the Lake Shore Athletic club and Bartlett Hill Golf club. He has offices at 2561 North Clark street. Mrs. Harvey asks for temporary alimony of $1,000 a month.

SLAYER OF 22 IS EXECUTED FOR PRISON MURDER

Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Carl Panzran, self-declared slayer of twenty-two persons, was hanged at the federal prison early today for the murder of W. S. Warnke, civilian laundry foreman at the penitentiary, where Panzran was serving a sentence for burglary imposed by a District of Columbia court.

President Hoover last night denied a plea for clemency.

Jeering at the crowd as he walked to the gallows, Panzran noted two chaplains present. He asked the warden that they be removed. The chaplains left in accordance with his will.

Panzran, serving his sixth prison sentence, struck down the laundry foreman with a heavy iron bar on June 19, 1929, in a frenzy of rage.

The hanging was the first legal execution in Kansas since 1870, with the exception of that of a federal prisoner at Wichita in 1888. The Kansas law provides capital punishment only for treason. Panzran, however, was prosecuted under federal statutes.

DRUGGIST ROBBED OF $150.

Harry Levin, a druggist at 725 South Kedzie avenue, was held up by a spruncly dressed robber yesterday and surrendered $150.

YOUTH'S MOTHER BLAMES GIRL FOR HIS PLOT TO KILL

The police made a futile search for Emil Kleckner, 19 years old, 1 West 154th street, Harvey, yesterday while Kleckner's mother and Lucyle Wilkinson, 17 years old, engaged in a controversy as to whether the girl or the youth was responsible for the plot to murder and rob Chief of Police A. A. Terry of Midlothian. Lucyle, who was a fourth year student at the Fenger High school until she left her studies this term, confessed to Assistant State's Attorney James Brown on Thursday evening that she and Kleckner were about to embark on a career of crime to get money for their marriage.

"I prayed all night that my son would be arrested and in that way be saved from a life of crime," said Kleckner's mother yesterday. "His life was ruined by Lucyle, who turned him from an honest boy to one who is accused of planning a murder and robbery."

"Mrs. Kleckner is all wrong," said the red haired girl when told of the mother's charges. "Why, Emil wanted to murder the chief, but I would not agree to that and said we should only stun him. In fact I didn't want to have anything to do with Emil's plans, but I loved him and agreed to do anything."

G. O. P. PREDICTS A MAINE VICTORY AT POLLS MONDAY

Democrats Hope to Cut Republican Majorities.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Republicans are looking for a sweeping victory in the Maine election on Monday. The Democrats, conceding that the Republicans will win, hope to find some straw that will show a weakening of the support ordinarily given to the administration party in that state.

The significance which the Republicans are attaching to the election is indicated by the fact that a number of speakers have been sent to Maine by the Republican national committee. Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], chairman of the committee, is scheduled to close the campaign with a speech tomorrow night at Portland.

Controversy over Power.

The general expectation is that Representative Wallace White, Republican nominee, will be elected to the senate to succeed Senator Arthur R. Gould [Rep.], who was not a candidate; that the Republican nominees will be elected to the house of representatives in the four congressional districts, and that Gov. William T. Gardiner, Republican, will be reelected.

Mr. White is opposed by Frank P. Haskell, a Portland lawyer. Gov. Gardiner's opponent is Edward C. Moran Jr., who also was the Democratic nominee two years ago and was defeated at that time by a large vote. Gov. Gardiner has become entangled in a controversy over water power. In a referendum the voters of Maine opposed exportation of power developed in the state, which had been favored by the governor. It is charged that the governor's administration has been wasteful and extravagant.

Hope to Elect All Congressmen.

If the Republicans elect all of the four representatives in congress they will be well satisfied. Election of one representative by the Democrats would be hailed as marking a trend against the administration, while election of two representatives would be regarded as pointing to sweeping Democratic victories in other states. The Democrats in the off year election of 1910 won two of the four Maine seats. In the following November the Democrats gained control of the house.

In 1928 Hoover carried Maine by a plurality of 98,000 over Smith. Senator Frederick Hale [Rep.] was elected by a margin of 83,000 and Gov. Gardiner by 81,000. This time the Republicans are predicting a Republican majority of about 30,000, which will be a record for an off year. If the Republican majority falls much below that figure the Democrats will manage to find significance in it adverse to the national administration.

4 WHO PLOTTED MUSSOLINI DEATH SENTENCED TO DIE

TRIESTE, Italy, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Four of the 18 Jugo-Slavians on trial for acts of terrorism were sentenced to death before a firing squad as the case was concluded tonight. They are Francesco Marusic, 24; Zvonimiro Milos, 26; Ferdinando Bidovec, 22; and Luigi Valencic, 32.

Two others were acquitted and the remaining 12 were given sentences ranging from 2½ years to 30 years in the penitentiary. The only woman among the 18, Sofia Korze, received the lowest sentence, 2½ years.

Of the four condemned to death the government prosecutor claimed that Marusic was the leader of the band—that he and Valencic were connected with a plot against Premier Mussolini by which they intended to plant a bomb in the duce's motor car.

The condemned men probably will face the firing squad in the prison yard tomorrow or Monday morning.

WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR SAY?

TO MANY WOMEN the mounting birthdays bring a little less beauty, a few more wrinkles, a complexion that has lost its youth and charm. Yet for others, Time seems to stand still.

The difference is often a matter of diet. So many foods lack sufficient roughage or bulk. Without it, constipation is inevitable. Its poisons spread over the whole system, causing ill health and loss of youth.

Today, you can prevent it easily by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In stubborn cases, eat ALL-BRAN with each meal. This is so much better than taking pills and drugs that may be harmful.

Advanced processes have improved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN both in texture and in the delicious, nut-like taste.

Delightful with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Use it for making fluffy bran muffins, breads, etc.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also brings iron, which paints cheeks and lips with the natural tint of health. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

$100,000 ASKED OF MISSING JUDGE, NEW YORK HEARS

Huge 'Renomination Fee' Rumored.

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The mysterious disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, missing since Aug. 6, brought forth a new theory today. A report was circulated in the county court house that Crater had been notified he would have to pay $100,000 to be nominated this fall for the full fourteen year term.

The report added that he had been unable to raise the money and had lost hope of the nomination because another candidate was prepared to put up the $100,000 required.

Justice Crater was serving by appointment of Gov. Roosevelt to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Proskauer. The appointment was for the period from July 1 to Dec. 31 of this year. To continue on the bench for a full term, Justice Crater would have to be nominated and elected this fall.

Associates Doubt Story.

Today's report was not credited by his associates on the bench. The salary of a justice is $25,000 a year. In fourteen years it amounts to $350,000. An assessment of $100,000 would reduce that total by about one-third. However, it is a matter of common report that very wealthy men, politically ambitious, have offered even more than $100,000 for a nomination.

Prior to his designation to the bench by the governor, Justice Crater had been the recipient for a considerable period of most of the references awarded by Supreme court justices of this judicial district to which the largest fees were attached.

During 1929 and the first two months of 1930, he was awarded an average of two fat references, or refereeships, a month. His income from that source alone for 1929 is estimated at between $70,000 and $75,000. In 1928, he drew a fee of $10,000 as special guardian for a minor, Alice Gwynne Vanderbilt, in litigation over the sale of the Vanderbilt mansion.

Salesman Offers Clew.

Meanwhile the police are investigating a report that one L. G. Boedger, a salesman of Port Chester, on Aug. 28 or 29, gave a man he believes to have been Judge Crater a ride in his automobile on the Boston post road, from a point between Harrison and Rye to the New Rochelle post office. Boedger identified a photograph of Judge Crater as that of his passenger, who had taken the ride.

According to Boedger, the stranger, who was disheveled and looked as though he had been sleeping in his clothes, said he was Judge Crater.

A sweeping investigation of the New York government by a centralized authority with full power to go into every department, including the judiciary, was demanded today by Senator John Knight, president of the state senate, before the Young Republican club.

Walker and Olvany Face Quiz.

Mayor James J. Walker and George W. Olvany, former leader of Tammany Hall, were informed today by the state attorney general's office that they will be needed as witnesses before the extraordinary grand jury which is to meet on Sept. 15.

The jury's task is to get to the bottom of the charge that ex-Magistrate George F. Ewald bought his appointment to the bench.

Railroads "Bet a Billion" on the Revival of Business

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—A billion dollar constructive program is being carried out by the railroads of the country, so that they will be in better condition than ever before to serve the needs of a prosperous country when business resumes normal progress, according to Elisha Lee, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

"The railroads are determined to be in that position when the tide turns and business resumes its normal progress," Mr. Lee said. "They are attesting their faith in the country. The United States has gone through many slack periods of business and we have always come out better than before. We shall do so again this time.

"The great businesses, and the great fortunes of this country have been built up by men who were intelligent optimists on America. Such men are shaping our railroad policies today. They are shaping them for a future greater than anything in our past.

Roads Getting Ready.

"We are steadily pushing forward the largest program of improvements we have ever undertaken, including electrification, both passenger and freight, of the main lines linking our seaboard terminals in the dense eastern territory. Completion of this work will speed up train movements from tidewater to the Mississippi and benefit every industry and community we serve.

"Our engines, cars, roadway, yards, bridges, piers, repair shops, roundhouses, and all other facilities are being kept at the peak of efficiency, so that the flow of commerce will find free channels when it starts to move faster again.

"The latest reports of new work thus far done show large advances over last year. Current maintenance is thorough, though naturally for the time being the lighter traffic results in less wear and tear to be made good."

Warns Against Overcaution.

Mr. Lee said that reports are often heard of even less than hand to mouth buying by both retailers and manufacturers.

To the extent that this is true, he pointed out, reviving demand would be confronted by shelves bare of both finished goods and materials. He warned that in that manner overcaution might delay recovery.

RESUME PARLEY FOR AIR RIGHTS TO POSTAL SITE

Treasury Men Confer with Rail Officer.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.] — Negotiations looking toward the purchase of an air rights postoffice site over the railroads entering the Union station at Chicago were resumed today by treasury officials and Thomas W. Hume, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad. No decision as to a purchase price was reached, although treasury officials reported progress.

At today's meeting Mr. Hume outlined the alterations which the railroads would have to make in their tracks if the new postal building is erected on the Van Buren street site adjacent to the Van Buren street parcel post station.

Smoke Angle Discussed.

The question of how to curb the smoke nuisance caused by building an office structure over railroads still utilizing soft coal as fuel for their motive equipment was also discussed.

Maj. Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the public building program, was hopeful today that arrangements for purchasing the air rights site could be effected within the near future. He said that engineering studies made by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, the Chicago architects, show the feasibility of erecting the federal building over the tracks.

Floor Plans Outlined.

According to Maj. Heath the preliminary floor plans for the lower part of the air rights building have been submitted to Washington by the Chicago architects. A meeting of government officials will be held next week when John W. Philp, fourth assistant postmaster general, returns to Washington to study the plans and decide whether they will be approved. Once they are approved the architects will begin working drawings.

It was learned today that President Hoover expressed a desire that work be expedited on the Chicago project during the conference with treasury and postoffice officials last week.

FINISH NEW 40 FOOT JOLIET ROAD PAVING; HIGHWAY NOW OPEN

The widening of Joliet road in the village of McCook was completed this week and the last barricade was removed from the route. Motorists this week-end will be able to use the new 40 foot pavement between Lawndale avenue and the Willow Springs road.

Widening operations have been started on Mannheim road between St. Charles road and Madison street. The road was blocked yesterday, but there was no marked detour, according to the Chicago Motor club. The detour suggested by the club is by way of North avenue to 25th avenue, to Roosevelt road, to 17th avenue, to 47th street, to Willow Springs road, to Joliet road, and thence back to Mannheim road.

Torrence avenue has been opened for travel over twenty feet of pavement laid by Chicago with special assessments. The county is to lay another twenty feet, but hasn't started work yet.

York road, which is being resurfaced, has been opened between 22d and 31st streets and closed between 31st street and Ogden avenue.

The Michigan City road has been closed at 143d street for repaving of the crossing of the Indiana Harbor Belt lines.

Divers Recover $3,000 Out of Sunken Gambling Ship

Long Beach, Cal., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Divers working seventy-five feet below the surface succeeded this evening in recovering one of the safes in the sunken gambling ship Montfalcone, containing $3,000. Another uncovered safe in the Montfalcone contains $11,000. The craft sank last Saturday, twelve miles off shore, following a gasoline explosion. Owners of the gambling ship tonight said $25,000 was on the gambling tables when the ship sank. Of this only $300 has been recovered.

VETERANS VOTE FOR DRY REPEAL IN WILD SESSION

Choose Kansas City for Next Convention.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act was demanded today by the Veterans of Foreign Wars when the delegates to the thirty-first national encampment of that body set aside an adverse committee report and adopted a repeal resolution by a vote of 873 to 637 after an hour's debate. The repeal resolution was offered by the New York delegation.

The discussion which preceded the vote was terminated by Hezekiah N. Duff, commander in chief, who ordered the vote taken after pointing out that the meeting was approaching a state where it would have to be conducted under Marquis of Queensberry rules.

Convention in Uproar.

When a report of the resolutions committee disapproving the repeal resolution was read, the banquet hall of the Lord Baltimore hotel was in an uproar.

Finally a vote to table the repeal resolution was taken. The motion was defeated.

Prohibition Denounced.

During the debate which preceded the final vote H. Lowry Howard, a New York delegate, succeeded in getting the floor.

"The eighteenth amendment is making hypocrites of us all," he shouted. "Its damnable hypocrisy is helping to tear down the moral standards of every one today, especially the youth. It has been proved to every one that the eighteenth amendment is not enforceable."

Paul C. Wolman, Baltimore attorney, was elected commander in chief at the final business session this afternoon. Mrs. Ada E. Harrison of New York City was chosen national president of the ladies' auxiliary. Kansas City, Mo., was selected for next year's convention.

Afghans Blow Rebels from Cannon to Save Gunpowder

PESHAWAR, India, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Reports from Kabul today said that in executing rebels who took part in a recent uprising the Afghan government was shooting them from cannon, two or three at a time, to save gunpowder.

TWO INDICTED FOR DETROIT SLAYING OF CHICAGO GANGSTERS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The special grand jury called as a result of the slaying of Jerry Buckley, radio political commentator, today returned indictments in a double slaying which Buckley witnessed from a window of the La Salle hotel, 20 days before he himself became the victim of gunmen, on July 23, in the lobby of the hotel.

Buckley saw William Cannon and George Collins, Chicago gangsters shot to death at the side entrance of the hotel, in which his radio station, WMBC, was located. The grand jury today returned two indictments but withheld the names of the accused men because they were not in custody.

COMMITTEE OF 15 REPORTS 105 VICE RESORTS CLOSED

A total of 105 vice resorts were closed through the instrumentality of the Committee of Fifteen during the first six months of 1930, Charles E. Miner, general director of the committee, reported yesterday.

Eighteen of the places closed were in the South Lake View district; 25 in South Park way; 11 near Washington park; 10 near Douglas park; 24 in North Lake View; 3 in the lower north side; 3 in Kenwood; 2 near Lincoln park; 7 in the near west side; 1 in Albany park; and 1 in the Oakland district.

"It is obvious," said the report, "that vice resorts have been opening more rapidly than they have been closed. This condition is due partly to reduced profits of late from liquor and gambling and partly because reduced income recently from properties has led the owners to take greater chances in order to insure a higher rate of revenue."

BRITISH GENERAL INSPECTS G. H. Q. OF CITY'S POLICE

Maj. Gen. Herbert Richard Pope-Hennessey, general staff officer of the British army and military attaché of the British embassy at Washington, D. C., inspected the Chicago police headquarters at State and 11th streets yesterday. Gen. Pope-Hennessey is a guest of Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area of the United States army, while he is in Chicago.

With Chief of Detectives Norton as host, Gen. Pope-Hennessey examined with evident interest the rogues' gallery, the cell rooms, and then paused for a moment to have his finger prints made under the supervision of Capt. William Evans, veteran head of the bureau of identification.

ENGINEERS FIND LAKE DIVERSION AIDS NAVIGATION

Hurley Steamer Drifting to New Orleans.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD U. S. GENERAL ALLEN, NEAR GRAFTON, ILL., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—The olive green waters of the Illinois mingled with the yellow flow of the Mississippi beneath the eyes of Secretary of War Hutley and his staff of army engineers today. The secretary and his party are cruising the Mississippi from St. Paul to New Orleans, studying the problems of river navigation.

As the smaller stream merged with the larger, relief was expressed by those aboard the government steamer. Progress from Keokuk, Ia., the previous night's stopping place, had been spasmodic, the boat picking its way slowly through the sand bars and shoals. Sounding showed a depth of only five feet at many places, and the flat-bottomed stern wheeler was allowed to drift over these danger spots.

Welcome to River Men.

At Keokuk, below the great dam, the river had been only .7 of a foot above low water mark. At Quincy, Ill., the reading was .5. At Hannibal, Mo., 1 foot and Louisiana .7. At Grafton, where the Illinois joins the Mississippi, the sounding showed a depth of 2.7 feet above low water mark, a comfortable margin. The engineers with Secretary Hurley estimated that at least six inches depth was added to the Mississippi by the present diversion of 12,000 cubic feet a second from Lake Michigan at Chicago. At the present low river levels this added water is most welcome to river navigation.

There are no enemies of lake diversion in this area. If the Mississippi continues to fail, the added flow from the Illinois river may be the sole factor that will continue navigation from Grafton to St. Louis, the engineers declared.

The low water mark which is used as a basis for comparison was recorded in 1864. Since then the mark of zero has never been reached, but with the river above Grafton falling at an average of .1 foot per day the situation admittedly is desperate.

Talks of Barge Service.

Passing the mouth of the Illinois, which within four years will take its place as a part of the Mississippi inland waterway plan, moved Maj. Gen. Thomas Q. Ashburn, chairman of the board of the Inland Waterways corporation, which operates the government barge service, to a summary of the history of the organization and a discussion of its future.

In 1920 when congress announced its policy toward water transportation as one of encouragement and promotion together with the preservation "in full vigor" of both rail and water transportation, Maj. Gen. Ashburn was assigned to study the problem.

Water commerce, as it formerly existed on the Mississippi, disappeared in 1900. The revival began in 1920 and Maj. Gen. Ashburn found that the government, with a billion dollar investment, was losing a million dollars yearly in seeking to maintain river transportation.

In 1923, after an exhaustive study, the general proposed the organization of Inland Waterways corporation and in 1924 congress authorized the incorporation. This was a government owned corporation with every American citizen a theoretical stockholder.

Second Year Brings Profit.

"The first full year of operation under this reorganization reduced the yearly loss to $34,000, and the second year saw the swing into the substantial profit of $544,059 in excess of the actual money cost of operation," Maj. Gen. Ashburn recalled.

"From 1925 to 1929, the average net profit has been $81,892. In 1921 there were in use on the Mississippi and Warrior divisions a total of 13 tow boats, 59 barges and a few miscellaneous vessels, all antiquated and since put out of service.

"At the present time the records of the corporation show, there are ten modern tow boats in service on the lower Mississippi, seven on the upper river and four on the Warrior river division.

300 Modern Boats in Use.

"Five self-propelled barges are operating on the three divisions and a total of 224 steel barges. Fifty miscellaneous vessels make up a total of 300 modern boats now in use.

"We have net assets of $18,000,000, according to an official appraisal. We are building experimental barges and the most powerful tow boat ever to be used on any river in the world. When service is inaugurated on the Missouri and Illinois, we will need 100 more standard 2,000 ton barges.

"Eventually the system will operate thusly:

"A heavily laden string of barges will leave New Orleans; at St. Louis the barges will be lightened to be accommodated to the channels, in the upper Mississippi, Illinois, and Missouri rivers. Leaving St. Paul or Chicago for the southward cruise, the barges will have heavier cargoes loaded in them at St. Louis. The whole system is calculated to provide for additional loads without disturbing cargoes.

"Every country passes through four stages of transportation development by water, by roads, by rail, and then coördination of the three. We are now passing through our fourth stage and the Inland Waterways corporation is the instrumentality through which this coördination may be practically accomplished."

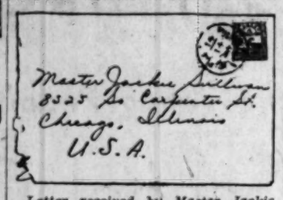
Gen. Ashburn stressed the fact that the primary object of the corporation is to demonstrate to private capital that coördination of all forms of transportation will result in cheaper rates and a resultant living revenue to all the participating carriers, and added:

"We may lose more and more freight as private competition increases, but if the time should come that the government barges ride high and dry on the rivers, with empty holds, and their crews look at privately owned tows pushing through the stream laden until their decks are awash, then the government's final success will be written when it is driven out of business. We can sell our towboats and barges for a song and rest on our laurels, because we will have rehabilitated water transportation."

Secretary Hurley's party will arrive in St. Louis tomorrow. He will speak at a luncheon there and then American Legion. He will rejoin the fly to Tulsa, Okla., to address the engineers Monday for continuance of the cruise to New Orleans.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Master Jackie Sullivan, 8525 Carpenter street, Chicago.

"This letter was sent from Wuchow, China," an older relative of Jackie's writes. "The writer, Mrs. Philip B. Havens, and her husband are located in Shanghai, having been sent there by a Chicago manufacturer of X-ray machines. Mr. Havens has charge of the machines in Shanghai and neighboring cities, to which he often travels. The receiver of the letter, a boy of nine, is a brother of Mrs. Havens."

Wuchow is a treaty port in the province of Kwang-si, situated on the left bank of the Si-Kiang, or West river at its junction with the Fu or Cassia river. It is situated about 220 miles above Canton, with which it is connected by waterways.

Wuchow was opened to foreign trade in 1897. The principal imports are cotton and cotton goods, woolens and kerosene. Sugar, hides, aniseed and various oils comprised the main exports.

The Si-Kiang flows through a series of gorges near the town, forming at intervals an inland lake with no apparent outlet. This pent up water sometimes rises as high as 60 feet during the summer floods near Wuchow Because of this, the principal offices and buildings are constructed on pontoons moored alongside the bank.

LAWYERS OF BRITAIN ARE CHALLENGED ON BLOCKADES IN WAR

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The British group at the international law conference in session here was challenged today by Edward A. Harriman of the American group to say whether suggestions of the association about war blockades and contraband were likely to receive recognition by the government of Great Britain.

"Great Britain is the most powerful of the maritime nations and is likely to continue to be such, despite the American claim to parity," Mr. Harriman said. "This being so, what is the use of our adopting rules here that have no chance of acceptance by the power in a position to enforce rules it likes in regard to sea traffic in time of war?"

Mr. Harriman quoted Lord Eustace Percy, who spoke in August at the Williamstown, Mass., conference, as saying that Great Britain would not bind itself to any rules that would tend to restrict her from the general rules she followed in the late war in relation to contraband foods and to blockades. Mr. Harriman asked if the British delegates present believed that to be the policy of their government.

No direct answer was made but Wyndham A. Bewes, inferred that Lord Percy's view on matters of maritime practice were not necessarily authoritative. Dr. Francis Temple Grey said it was the job of the present conference only to "lay a foundation upon which all conferences of responsible officials may proceed."

The conference then adopted a rule which said:

"Noncontraband goods which belong to the owner of the contraband, and are on board the same ship as the contraband are not subject to condemnation on that account.

FAHERTY LOSES BATTLE TO PAVE STREETS HIS WAY

Citizens Win Tilt by Starting the Job.

The whistle of a steam roller early yesterday in a section of Morgan Park near the southwesterly limits of Chicago sang out a paean of victory for a number of property owners and marked the defeat of the efforts of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, to have a mile of streets resurfaced under his direction.

An order for the resurfacing was issued by Faherty at a public hearing on July 22 over the protests of the property owners who would be assessed for the improvement. Within thirty days the property owners filed a protest petition with the board of local improvements, which would automatically hold the work in abeyance for one year.

Resurfacing Work Begun.

Then, yesterday morning, while the board's clerks were still examining the protest signatures, a private contractor began the resurfacing work. His authority was a contract with the property owners and a permit from Commissoner of Public Works Wolfe.

The success of the property owners in thwarting Faherty also was a victory for Wolfe in the two year feud between the two department heads over resurfacing. In the most recent skirmish Faherty obtained a ruling from Corporation Counsel Ettelson that resurfacing in general belongs to Faherty while Wolfe should content himself with repairing holes in the pavements.

Get Around Ettelson Ruling.

This obstacle was overcome in the Morgan Park case. Joseph Moody, consulting engineer to Wolfe, filed an affidavit saying that Moody, after an inspection, knew that the streets did not need repaving or extensive resurfacing, but could be repaired sufficiently to last for many years.

The streets being repaired are 112th between Western and Lothair avenues, 112th place from Western to Lothair, 111th place from Western to Irving avenue, Irving from 111th street to 115th street, and Lothair from 114th place to 115th street.

Street Mystery Solved.

Property owners on Columbia avenue between Sheridan road and Greenview were astonished yesterday when gangs of men began to gather up truck loads of crushed stone that had been dumped there a few days ago for use in repairing the street. Officials of the street department said they had been notified, after the stone had been dumped, that the street was to be resurfaced by private contract and so had to remove their materials.

FIRESTONE TESTS RUBBER MADE OF POTATO STARCH

Akron, O., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Rubber gardens may succeed truck gardens in Akron backyards if Firestone Tire and Rubber company experiments demonstrate the commercial practicability of a new variety of rubber. The base of the new product, discovered by a German chemist, is potato starch, company officials said. The synthetic product contains no latex or plantation rubber. It is made by mixing the starch with chemicals which coagulate into a gumlike substance said to differ from rubber only in that it is less elastic.

SAY PLAYMATES MAY HAVE SLAIN SOUTH BEND GIRL

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Police today studied a new theory that Marvine Appel, eight year old South Bend girl, had been attacked and slain by youthful playmates instead of by an adult moron. The body was found in an alley, but the police believe it was originally hidden in an old barn and later taken to the alley by older persons in an attempt to shield some one—possibly the girl's playmates, is the theory.

Meanwhile, three men were questioned on the slaying today.

BOOKS

Peru Treasure, Sunken Ship; Told by Diver

All That in Book Written for Boys.

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.

"Thirty Fathoms Deep," by Edward Ellsberg [Dodd-Mead].

"When I was a Girl," by Helen Ferris [Macmillan].

"Peter Pocket's Luck," by May Justus [Doubleday-Doran].

Thirty fathoms deep beneath the blue surface of the Pacific lay the Santa Cruz with untold treasure of Peru in its hold, and, as Bob Porter read that story, one thought only took possession of him. Could he make his uncle understand? That evening Maj. Houghton listened rather skeptically to the boy's enthusiastic recital of this plan, but one day the Lapwing, commanded by Lieut. Carrol of the United States navy and carrying four of the most fearless expert divers to be secured, set out to find the Santa Cruz and to secure the treasure.

The story of that expedition is the one Commander Edward Ellsberg tells in "Thirty Fathoms Deep," and a more thrilling tale of undersea adventure it would be very difficult to find.

One may have a slight feeling that Bob, the amateur, is credited with a little too much forethought and ingenuity in sinking the pirate ship, but it is nevertheless one of the finest and most engrossing adventure tales presented for boys' reading in some time. Commander Ellsberg is himself a diver, and achieved fame in the successful raising of the sunken submarines S-51 and S-40.

In "When I Was a Girl" Helen Ferris has presented the stories of Schumann-Heink, Etsu Suginoto, Jane Addams, Janet Scudder, and Marie Curie as told by themselves. All are interesting and should be inspirational to young people who so often think only of the success which these famous people have achieved and forget the long hard road over which they had to travel to attain it.

For the younger children, there is May Justus' "Peter Pocket's Luck." This is the second story about Peter Pocket, the happy little orphan whom we met in the book of that title. Peter and the Pickle Pup are delightful friends to know, and the author, who teaches in a little mountain school, knows them both and makes us know them, too. It is for children of 9 or 10 years of age.

FOOTMAN'S FUTURE GOOD IN DAYS OF FAINTING HEROINES

"The Triumphant Footman," by Edith Olivier [Viking], is a sedate but satirical tale of the days when ladies had themselves a nice quiet little faint whenever they found life too demanding, and when a good looking footman could rise in the world if he belonged to no unions and wasn't too well known in his calling.

The "triumphant" footman of the quaint story is the son of a French woman who had a good deal of the theater in her heart, and his training for his position was gained as an artist's model [for he was, of course, beautiful beyond the dawn]. He was such a good poser and actor that he put over a delicious hoax on some too-grand friends of his employers.

Miss Olivier's picture is delightful of the mistress of the household who was a practicing invalid and who dressed in the morning with her evening gown under a daytime wrapper so that she needn't have the exertion of dressing twice a day.

She could faint on any occasion and had early learned the advantage of an eye closing in weakness. Her footman was a blessing, so much so that, after her husband's death, he became a little more than a footman, although less than an equal. When she died, however, she left her fortune to him and then his talents for make-believe were given the most complete scope. He became the scion of an old French house and bought a holding in England, unfortunately as neighbor to the only living relict of that actual family.

AGED 72; WOMEN ACCUSE HIM.

August Hebbe, 72 year old, who makes his home at a Salvation Army retreat at Madison and Des Plaines streets, was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Judge John H. Lyle in Town Hall court on a charge of annoying women on the street.

Third Novel About Lincoln Tells of Booth Murder Plot

"The Last Full Measure," by Honore W. Morrow [Morrow] concludes the trilogy of the fictionized life of Abraham Lincoln which Mrs. Morrow began with "Forever Free" and continued in "With Malice Toward None."

This final volume is the dramatic story of the Booth conspiracy as well as the touching record of those last few months of the life of the man who, although he had won the battle between the forces of rebellion and of union, was finding the battle with the rabid and bloodthirsty reconstructionists even more difficult warfare.

Alone, almost, in the north, Lincoln held out for a decent and fair reconstruction program. Meanwhile the conspiracy against his life was being gradually developed. Three times attempts were made to kidnap the President. Murder, to the fanatical Booth, remained the last hope.

Mrs. Morrow has made a more dramatic tale out of "The Last Full Measure" than in either of the previous volumes. F. B.

Good Antidote for Dull Afternoon, "Pretty Pickle"

"A Pretty Pickle," by Bellamy Partridge [Brewer & Warren], is one of those gay frivolities that make a hot, rainy or dull afternoon just a blank as far as suffering is concerned, providing a jaunty memory of amusement. It is all very silly and very funny and George gets himself engaged to two girls: a real burglary happens to make a fake one really exciting; a bottle of nitroglycerin skates all over the pages while Wally nearly dies of terror that it may explode; everything comes out beautifully in the end. Sheer entertainment but amusing and gaudy like. It is in the manner of the best of the light English tomfooleries, although its author is really all starry and stripey.

Old Game in Fashion.

If you are curious about the game which has suddenly become a rival to bridge, there are two books, one called "Modern Backgammon," by Grosvenor Nicholas [Holt], and another "The New Backgammon" by Elizabeth Clark Boyden [Harcourt Brace]. There is talk of an international match by radio.

"Heaven and Earth" Good Spur to Study of Stars

If you are fascinated by the planetarium—and you certainly are if you have seen it—you will find "Heaven and Earth" by Oswald Thomas [Norton] alluring and stimulating. It is a brand new up-to-date astronomy, with the newly discovered planet in it and the facts about the even newer one that astronomers expect to find. It tells how the theory started that Mars was inhabited and it tells what the so-called canals really are. And it's as easy to read as it is worth reading.

Boccaccio's Oft Told Stories in Still Another Edition

"The Decameron of Boccaccio" [Convici Friede] has been translated anew by Richard Aldington and a special edition of 2,500 copies has been printed of his new phrasing of the old tales, with handsome colored illustrations by Jean de Bosschere, who illustrated the Rabelais which the same publishers issued last year. Of the edition, 500 copies are for England and the remainder for the United States.

THE BIG BARN
By WALTER D. EDMONDS

The unforgettable story of "Old Ralph" Wilder, ruthless patriarch of the farm and timber lands; of his sons, Henry, ineffectual weakling, and Bascom, magnetic philanderer; of Ralph's daughter-in-law Rose who married Henry and loved Bascom; and those neighbors who helped build the biggest barn in the East. BOOKS

This Is Jolly, Despite 500 Page Length

For Priestley Packs It with His Whims.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Angel Pavement," by J. B. Priestley. [Harpers.]

J. B. Priestley, who for eight years had been known in England, doing delightful essays, editorial work and assorted writing, suddenly became a flamingly popular novelist last year with a vast tale called "The Good Companions." Such romantic things do happen in the writing business. The oil and gold of popular fancy often are struck by prospectors when they least expect success. Not that Mr. Priestley is hoary with years. He has lived, to be exact, thirty-six years and ever since his twenty-eighth year he has been a figure in English literary circles.

J. B. PRIESTLEY.

Perhaps his recreations as listed in Who's Who explain a little of his popularity. His favorite is "amateur philosophizing." It was the "amateur philosophizing" which made "The Good Companions," and it is the same quality that makes "Angel Pavement" appealing.

"Angel Pavement" is the story of a drear little office of veneer merchants in a dreary little street called "Angel Pavement," and what happened to that office and all the members of its staff when a gaudy, cheerful, roistering blade came into it. There was not one person in it but was shuffled about in his life by the boisterous Golspie's arrival.

The business of the firm, on its very last legs, got enough new life to enter a real race for orders. What happened in the lives of the owners of the firm, the bookkeeper, the salesman, the clerk, the stenographer, the office boy, and the assistant stenographer through the advent of a man whom no one could call a gentleman, but who somehow had an aura of fascination about him, is what makes "Angel Pavement" worth dashing through five hundred closely printed pages.

There was much handing around of wreaths labeled "Dickensian" when "The Good Companions" was published. "Angel Pavement" is no more like Dickens than it is like the Frank Swinnertons that record the stuffy London life of the lowly. It is Priestlian, and that's all. To this reader Mr. Priestley in "Angel Pavement" is not the manna which her hungry soul yearns for. He is a trifle wordy, a little too pompous in his conscious humor, a little too puffy, as it were. I feel conscious all the time that he is telling a story.

I am interested in the story much more than I am in the characters that make it happen. Not one of them, even Golspie, who is the most vivid of them all, and Lilian Maitland who is next, and Smeeth, who is a darling old soul terrified of losing his job, seem terrifically human creatures apart from the story.

It is difficult to explain, but a fact which every one who reads books understands—how some characters are so real that they seem closer to one than one's own most intimate friend. They may be strange, remote souls, like Conrad's "Lord Jim," for instance, or utterly frivolous like Campaspe of Carl Van Vechten, or plodding, earthbound ones like Willa Cather's "My Antonia," or desperate, passionate ones like Tolstoi's "Anna Karenina," but one knows them as one knows few intimates.

The characters in "Angel Pavement" are just "good companions." They are like casual acquaintances whom one always finds delightful, but whom one meets always with a slight sense of surprise because one has not missed them, really, during their absence.

"Angel Pavement" is like an entertaining buxom, gay and sometimes fascinating creature who makes an evening for a roomful of people, who is the life of the party, whose name nobody exactly caught. In other words, a grand book for smoothing down the barbs of boredom.

CZECHO-SLOVAKS BUSY REPRINTING NEW ENGLISH BOOKS

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON. — [Special Correspondence.]—In most countries there exist special series of translations from English into the home tongue—as, for example, Czecho-Slovakia. There the impetus unquestionably comes from President Masaryk, himself. Here a most imposing collection of well printed volumes with special copies signed by the authors) includes works by H. G. Wells, Arnold Bennett, John Galsworthy, Edith Wharton, Joseph Hergesheimer, and others. Now a distinguished Czech critic, Prof. Adolf Rotter, is in London collecting final material for a series of studies of our leading writers.

KATHERINE MANSFIELD.

Although there is definitely a slump in books about the war, a number of really interesting contributions to our knowledge of war conditions will appear during the coming season. One of these, which may be regarded as a complementary volume to that book of letters from dead German soldiers published last year, is "War Letters of Fallen Englishmen," edited by Mr. Laurence Housman. I have been looking through an advance copy of this book, and have been really astonished at its literary excellence. The writers—very few of whom have hitherto enjoyed any literary fame—may not have been great stylists, in the sense of "fine writers," but they knew how to set down simply and very directly all they wanted to say.

The late Katherine Mansfield acted as chief novel reviewer for the Athenaeum during 1919 and 1920, while her husband, Mr. J. Middleton Murry, was editor. A collection has been made of her reviews, and they have been put into a book which is receiving much attention here just now. Some may think that old reviews of old novels are not particularly "new" reading, but this book is of special interest, not only because it is from the pen of a favorite and greatly esteemed writer, but because it covers a period during which a number of the earlier works of some authors now much admired were first published.

One can get from Katherine Mansfield's comments a real bird's eye view of the novels of those years; so that one sees them as the product of a tiny space in literary history. There are many amusing judgments; there is some charming writing.

Mystery Novel Opens Series of Schuster Dollar Books

"I Am Jonathan Scrivener," by Claude Houghton [Simon & Schuster], started the new Inner Sanctum Dollar novels, which include "Fifteen Rabbits," a charming tale in the manner of "Bambi," by Felix Salten, "The Earth Told Me," another Alaskan story by Thames Williamson; "Casanova's Homecoming" by Arthur Schnitzler, which was promptly jugged by Mr. Sumner on publication, and "Red Snow," by F. Wright Moxley, a tale of a terror that destroyed man's fertility, and more about the greeting club business by J. P. McEvoy, whose "Show Girl" was one of the few really funny tales of our day. "I Ar. Jonathan Scrivener" is a strange, mysterious tale of a man who hired a secretary [without ever seeing him] and turned over to him all of his private affairs, including assorted ladies and gentlemen and lesser humans. It is written with distinction, but as a plot it falls just short of being convincing.

Richard Connell's 'Ironies' Contains His Prize Story

"Ironies," by Richard Connell [Minton Balch], is a collection of fifteen short stories divided by the author into a prologue, an epilogue, and two groups, one about good men and one about bad men. The last of the stories about bad men is "A Half Dollar Story" which very much belies its title, for it won the $3,000 prize offered by Life for a short short story. It has in it about 900 words, which make it, so statisticians would say, probably the most expensive story in captivity, $3.33 a word. It isn't worth it from this reader's point of view. The other stories are much better.

Gold Digging, Miners' Style, Plot of Book

With Touches of Adventure on High Seas.

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Two of the new season's books seem destined to revive the genuine, old fashioned art of gold digging. Or at least increase the sale of spades and pickaxes. In "Water and Gold" Lewis Stanton Palen sets forth the youthful adventures of Charles Hedlund on the high seas and in Africa.

VINA DELMAR.

Mr. Palen has caught the sturdy, forthright personality of the narrator in these reminiscences of shipwreck on strange coasts, of tracking down diamond thieves as a member of the Kimberly police force, of making a fortune in gold overnight and losing it as swiftly. Mr. Hedlund is now a machinist in Florence, N. J., head of a family, and nothing of a boaster, for few of his neighbors ever heard until now of "the dangers he has passed."

As to the gold he didn't bring back, he says: "The Shangani is still there and is probably rolling down as much gold as it was in my day. I wouldn't go back myself now, nor would I want my boys to go, because of the fever and disease that infest the Zambezi and the adjoining valleys. Yet it is there for those who wish to try."

Charles B. Driscoll, one of the greatest collectors of pirate lore and relics, includes in his "Doubloons," published next month, considerable data regarding buried treasure. Not a few pirate captains, it seems, hid chests of jewels and pieces of eight, and never returned to dig 'em up. We have it on good authority that a group of literati, who read the manuscript of "Doubloons," have already organized a party to spade up an island off the coast of Nova Scotia in an effort to put doubloons back into circulation.

Last week, George Seibel, author of "The Religion of Shakespeare" and other critical works, returned from a lion hunt in Europe with the news that Gerhart Hauptmann, author of "The Weavers," "The Sunken Bell" and other important dramas, is planning to come to the United States in 1932 to take part in the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Goethe's death. . . . Konrad Bercovici, who has been dividing his summer between writing a new novel of Rumanian background and making a new tennis court on his Connecticut estate, deserted the latter a fortnight ago and sailed for Europe to revisit Rumania and collect a bit of atmosphere.

Vina Delmar is to be seen these days on Broadway, wearing a blue sports outfit which emphasizes her handsome iron gray hair, which in turn emphasizes the youthfulness of her face. She is busy with the rehearsals of "Bad Girl" which reaches the stage later this month. . . . Those lovely nuts, Selma Robinson and George Oppenheimer are collaborating on a book to be entitled "Letters of a Self-Mad Man and a Self-Mad Woman."

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

BY THE LITERARY EDITOR.

FICTION.

The Adventures of Ephraim Tutt, by Arthur Train [Scribners], is an omnibus reprint of 29 of the famous Tutt stories.

The Rake and the Hussy, by Robert W. Chambers [Appleton], is a thriller of the days of 1812.

Seed on the Wind, by Rex Stout [Vanguard], is the story of a woman who had many lovers, but only one beloved.

Rings on Her Fingers, by Rhys Davies [Harcourt Brace], is another strongly Welsh novel of a woman who married for the rings she might wear on her fingers—and rebelled.

The Treasure of Big Waters, by Ridgwell Cullum [Lippincott], is a thriller of an arctic race for treasure.

The Wives of Men, by David McCloud [Longmans], is a first novel of unusual strength — about a sensitive young wife and how life and mother in-law nearly downed her.

The Earth Told Me, by Thames Williamson, a dramatic tale of Alaskan love and vengeance.

Among the new Inner Sanctum novels, published by Simon & Schuster in heavy paper covers at $1, are:

Denny and the Dumb Cluck, by J. P. McEvoy, the low down on the greeting card business told by one of the best slingers of slanguage in the little old U. S. A.

The Well of Loneliness, by Radclyffe Hall [Covici, Friede], is a reprint at $2 of the book which was violently banned in England, but managed not to stay in the jug in the United States, a story of a homosexualist.

Keith of Kinnellan, by Agnes Mure Mackenzie [Smith], is a double decker all under one roof—the first half of which was hailed "a noble piece of work" when it appeared in England in 1927.

NONFICTION.

Currier & Ives Prints [Rudge] is the first of a series of books to be called, in general, "The Spirit of America," containing reproductions of famous American prints.

By Way of Cape Horn, by A. J. Villiers [Holt], tells of the harrowing journey from Australia to England of the last of the full rigged doomed Cape Horners. By the author of "Falmouth for Orders."

Doctors and Specialists, by Morris Fishbein, M. D. [Bobbs Merrill], spoofs them genially.

The American Songbag, by Carl Sandburg [Harcourt Brace], is a popular edition at $3.50.

This Land of Liberty, by Ernest Sutherland Bates [Harpers] is a searchlight on our national lack of liberty in every phase from censorship to shackled education.

Royal Government in America, by Leonard Woods Labaree [Yale University Press] is a study of the British colonial system before 1783 by the assistant professor of history at Yale.

Germany in the Post War World, by Erich Koch-Weser [Dorrance] is a discussion of the problem by a former minister of the interior and the present leader of the Democratic party of Germany.

The first of the new Blue Ribbon books—reprints published at $1 jointly by Harpers, Dodd Mead, and Harcourt Brace—are: "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," by George Dorsey, which tells how. "Black Majesty," by John W. Vandercook, about the slave revolt in Haiti. "Mother India," by Katherine Mayo, which has caused as much international comment as any book of this generation.

DRY BOSS DICTATORSHIP.

The entrance of Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill in the senatorial race is simply an announcement by the Anti-Saloon league that if it cannot rule the Republican party in Illinois it will do its best to ruin it. The league bosses who have selected Mrs. O'Neill to run are politicians who know she has no shadow of a chance to win. She has been elected to the state assembly as a representative because of the law that permits three votes to be plumped on one candidate, but when she ran in her district for the nomination for state senator she was defeated five to two. As an aspirant to the United States senatorship she is merely the lash chosen by the dry bosses to punish the Republican organization for refusing to obey them. That is the policy and political ethics of the league bosses throughout the country. They will dictate or they will destroy—if they can. As a matter of fact, this is not an alternative presented to party leadership. It is not a question of accepting dry boss dictation or defeat. The acceptance of dry dictatorship means defeat. The Anti-Saloon league dictatorship means not rule or ruin, but rule and ruin.

Nothing the league bosses have done in past politics has more clearly exposed their morale and their objective than the candidacy of Mrs. O'Neill, which could have no possible result other than to divide the dry vote, and, if the contest turned out to be close, to increase the chances of election of the wet candidate. In other words, the dry bosses would rather help to put a militant wet in the senate than forego punishing the Republican organization for refusing to accept their dictation. Power is what these bosses want, not prohibition.

Of course, this is the nature of prohibitionism, which is essentially dictatorship. All the offense of the Republican platform is to pledge the party candidates to obey the decision of the voters of Illinois expressed in a referendum. That would seem to be consistent with the doctrines of Illinois Republicanism, which has been progressive Republicanism, but it is not consistent with professional and fanatic prohibitionism, which, like Mrs. O'Neill, the league's candidate, is for prohibition "whether the majority wants it or not."

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

The finance minister of Japan, Mr. Inoue, proposes an international conference to seek remedies for the world-wide business depression. He argues that, as the depression has affected almost every country, all countries may well unite to put an end to it and prevent its repetition.

Among the subjects with which the conference might deal, he suggests are the American tariff and American credit policies. American business men, he thinks, are disturbed over the retaliatory tariffs put in force in many countries against American goods. Likewise, our foreign trade has been injured by the failure of our bankers to lend money abroad more freely, although our gold reserve is considerably larger than the domestic demand upon it.

There seems to be some confusion in Mr. Inoue's thinking. The depression began long before the American tariff act was passed and the enactment of new rates in this and other countries does not seem to have influenced the course of the depression in one way or the other. It may well be that the tariff was not a sound one, but, whether sound or not, it does not seem to have a place on the agenda of the conference which Mr. Inoue is proposing.

So far as the use of the gold reserve is concerned, a good many economists are inclined to agree with Mr. Inoue that the sterilization, as it is called, of gold in America and France has been at least a contributing cause of the present dislocation of business. However, opinion is far from unanimous even among the experts, and it is not at all likely that an international conference could bring about an agreement on what to do about it among those who have the gold and those who haven't it. If that is the aim of the conference, it might as well not be called.

The search for the causes of the business cycle, with its periods of boom followed by periods of depression, has been going on now for a good many years, and the answer has not yet been found. There is no reason to suppose that the answer will be found at a world conference, however august the personages who serve as delegates. We are in some danger of falling into the habit of calling an international conference whenever we are confronted with a difficult problem and it is a bad habit. Conferences are not and never have been a substitute for thought and individual initiative and are useful only after preliminary study has cleared the ground for joint action. In this case the preliminary requirements have not been fulfilled. Until we know more about the causes of depression and until each country has exhausted the remedies that it can apply of itself an international conference would be premature.

The fact that the American tariff and the American gold reserve are listed as among the more pressing matters to be dealt with is not reassuring to Americans, but for the moment we may pass that point. It is more important to note that such a meeting as is proposed can do positive harm to this and every other country, even assuming perfect good faith on the part of all participants. The business slump seems to have run its course. The time has come to cease talking about hard times and get back to work with all energy that can be summoned to the job. At such a time an international conference can only serve to distract attention, advertise depression and divert the effort of some of our ablest men. Recovery will be as swift or as slow as the business men of this and other countries make it. A conference now will not help; it is far more likely to hinder.

PROPERTY DAMAGE FROM SUBWAYS.

Sooner or later a determination must be made of the damage which will be caused to adjoining buildings by the construction of subways. The city is going to do the digging and property owners will try to get as much as they can for alleged injuries to property.

The bill ought to be small. Those buildings along State street which are modern rest on bedrock and will not be disturbed by the construction and operation of the subway. The older buildings aren't worth anything. In many instances the land on which they stand would be more valuable if the buildings were razed. When land is as valuable as it is along State street in the loop, a building fifteen stories high, at least, is required to earn a fair return on the investment in land. Buildings of this size will not be disturbed by the subway. Smaller buildings are with few exceptions obsolete and are worth less than nothing. They are liabilities. It would be absurd to compensate the owners for damage to structures of this sort.

ONE WRONG RIGHTED.

Upon orders from the acting secretary of war, Mr. Arthur R. Johnson has been restored to a position commensurate with his attainments in the army's civil service. It was Mr. Johnson who investigated the affairs of Col. Charles J. Kraft of the Illinois National Guard, with the result that Col. Kraft was indicted on the charge of embezzlement. The amount involved is said to be $200,000.

Mr. Johnson has been employed in investigations for thirteen years, but after Col. Kraft's indictment was voted Mr. Johnson was put to work as a quartermaster's clerk in a warehouse basement. The assignment was regarded by him and his associates as a degradation. There was reason to suspect that Mr. Johnson was being punished for his zeal on behalf of the Illinois guard, but there were no protests entered in its name. Mr. Johnson was restored to his former position and his services were given official commendation only because of the intervention of United States District Attorney Johnson and his assistants, as reported in detail by this newspaper.

The injustice to the investigator has now been righted, but grave questions remain to be answered by the war department:

Why was Mr. Johnson humiliated?

Why was Col. Kraft permitted to resign from the National Guard with his rank when he was under grave suspicion of wrongdoing?

IMPROPER PARKING.

One of the most ridiculous examples of the parking nuisance is the jamming of parked cars in front of the northern or "suburban" entrance of the North Western station. These cars are often so close that any one coming from the station entrance or leaving a taxi to enter the station must walk along the row until he or she finds an opening. Taxis taking or discharging passengers have to stop in the middle of Canal street, blocking the very considerable traffic of that thoroughfare while they do so. There is seldom access to the curb.

The parking of cars in city streets may be in many cases a necessary evil, but it should be restricted as much as possible. It is a taking of public property for private use without compensation and very often in defiance of public interest and rights of citizens. There ought to be better regulations and they ought to be enforced.

Editorial of the Day

"FOR WANT OF SHOES."

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

The complex list of a complete college wardrobe for autumn [not including winter], the anxiety of smart shops lest some young person attempt to enter college without consulting a "style adviser," contrast eloquently with an American schooltime admonition of another day: "Do not let your children be prevented from going to school for want of shoes." And the Old Farmer's Calendar for 1812 adds: "They should have been well shod before this time" [December]. That less than a century ago many American parents found it difficult to give their children shoes in order that they might attend school for two or three months in the winter seems curiously unreal at this season when the academic foot is being outfitted for dances, receptions, teas, street, bedroom, church, campus, sports and big games, yet it was only in 1837 that another New Englander wrote in his reminiscences: "Shoes and stockings were not worn by the young men," while in summer—" when engaged in their ordinary work " —young women did not wear them, either.

There is nothing pathetic, of course, about going barefoot, even to school. One might more reasonably shed tears for the plight of luckless modern toes, stifling in duress and forced to adjust themselves both to tennis sandals and slippers with five inch heels. But it is sad to think that in those very different days some children who longed for the scanty learning which the district teacher could provide may have been compelled to forego schooling because the family budget would not cover shoes, while today there are not impossibly young persons whose only consolation for being forced to submit to education lies in the assortment of things to wear now being assembled for correct student wardrobes.

Who can doubt the fatal result if such a schoolgirl of 1830 were to change places with a well appointed freshman of our day? One would perish of luxury, the other of hardship, like plants in the wrong environments. The rush of social change could scarcely be more vividly depicted than by placing that reminder of the "Old Farmer" beside the latest offerings in clothes for college.

PERIL OF SPOTTED FEVER.

An effective vaccine against Rocky mountain spotted fever has been found, and that disorder can be added to a fairly long list of diseases which can now be vaccinated against. The best known of these are smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, and now this fever. Many add scarlet fever and measles to this list, and some would also add tuberculosis, plague, and still others.

Rocky mountain spotted fever is especially dangerous on the sheep ranges of the Bitter Root valley in Montana. It is less dangerous elsewhere, but is fairly well distributed in the pasture land sections of the northern Rocky mountain country. It seems that for some reason this section tends to breed a group of diseases of its own, while some of those prevailing elsewhere do not find themselves at home here.

This fever is spread by ticks, and one name for it is tick fever. For several years the federal government and the Montana health department have been vaccinating sheep herders with this vaccine. Two injections are given at an interval of about one week. There is a little reaction, but not enough to endanger life or cause great discomfort. The protection seems to be perfect except in the Bitter Root valley and one district in Idaho. Elsewhere none of the vaccinated persons have contracted the fever, although among the unvaccinated herders there is a moderate number of cases and some fatalities. In the Bitter Root valley a few of the vaccinated sheep herders and shearers have developed tick fever and some have died, but the death rate among them is just one-tenth of that among the unvaccinated.

This considerable degree of protection is not a single experience or a short one, and therefore possibly an accident. It has been maintained for four years, and it applies to several thousand vaccinated and unvaccinated people in trial and control groups. The vaccine is made by grinding up infected ticks. This is a very crude method, and in consequence the supply of vaccine is very limited. It can be secured only through health departments. Doubtless a more practical method of production will be found. When it is found and applied the Bitter Root valley and other fine Rocky mountain lands will come into their own.

The report on Rocky Mountain spotted fever from which these facts were drawn was prepared in the hygienic laboratory and is dedicated "To the Memory of Our Fellow Laboratory Workers Who, While Engaged in the Study of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, Have Contracted the Disease and Died." They say further: "Grateful acknowledgment is due the members of our field and laboratory staff, who, in the face of continual risk of their lives, the death of three of their comrades, and the illness from either spotted fever or tularemia of twelve others, have faithfully remained at their post of duty."

CAUSED BY A BACILLUS.

Mrs. W. W. writes:

1. What is meant by trench mouth?
2. What is the cause?
3. What is the cure?

REPLY.

1. Trench mouth is a since-the-war name for Vincent's angina.
2. It is caused by a bacillus and a spiral organism operating jointly. These germs are spread by kissing and by the use of cups and spoons in common.
3. It is cured by applications of a solution of chromic acid followed by peroxide; also by applications of perborate of soda. It is prevented by the use of mouth washes and tooth pastes or powders, especially those containing soap.

CORRECTING HUMP ON BACK.

1. Will exercise correct a hump on the back?
2. Is an operation necessary if the bone protrudes on the right side of the back?
3. Are perspiring cold hands a sign of heart trouble or nervousness?
4. Is heart trouble hereditary?

REPLY.

1. No. It may help it, though much depends on the nature of the hump and the kind of exercise.
2. Probably no operation is called for.
3. Means nervousness.
4. No.

SCREENS.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My rent is low, so the landlord refuses to put screens on the windows. Is this against the laws of the health department? H. S.

Section 2174 of the city code provides that "it shall be the duty of every . . . person owning or controlling . . . any place where persons are housed . . . and where foods are kept . . . to maintain on all . . . openings . . . from April 15 to Nov. 15 . . . screens . . . ." While this wording is equally applicable to landlord and tenant, we are informed that if an owner fails to provide screens a complaint with the department of health will insure action to that end.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TO COLLECT SALARY.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there a court or society in the city whereby a person might receive aid in collecting a year's salary from a former employer? Is the chance of collecting salary overdue lessened by quitting work and doing nothing about the matter for several months? R. B.

The Illinois statute authorizes recovery of attorney fees on wage claims. It is sometimes possible to get an attorney to undertake collection in reliance on such fee, but ordinarily some payment in advance is required. The legal aid bureau of the United Charities assists those who are unable to pay an attorney.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

WAKE-LINE: In 1877, Wendell & Hyman, one of the leading jewelry stores of that time, was at the northwest corner of Jackson and Wabash. Across the street, at the northeast corner, was the Matteson house, conducted by George and Ed Munger, who later took the management of the Clifton house at Monroe and Wabash, when Al Gage rented the Matteson and changed the name to the Wellington.

Thomas Whitfield's drug store was on the southeast corner, a landmark for many years. The southwest corner was vacant except for a rather dilapidated "lunch car," but a few doors south was a four story and basement brick building (No. 249-251) occupied by the furniture house of Spiegel & Cahn.

Diagonally opposite in the building now occupied by Wurlitzer was another fashionable jewelry store owned by Giles Bros. The front of this building above the first floor is unchanged since it was built, "after the fire." The tall female figures between the windows give it an outstanding appearance. HERMAN HEFTER.

Harvey: One summer many years ago a variety team of three peopl had in their act a young girl daringly dressed in skirts reaching slightly below the knees. Holding a bathing suit in her arms, she said to her mother:

"Mother, may I go out to swim?"
"Yes, my darling daughter.
Hang your clothes on a hickory limb,
But don't go near the water."

Remember Marne and Belleau Woods
Where we sure handed Fritz the goods?"
"There's Bill, that leatherneck Marine,
Let's feed him chow, he looks too lean!
You ask him, Al, who won the war."
"It's sure good to see you guys once more!"

PEGGY FROM LOMBARD.

INJUDICIOUS mixture of crabs and ice cream is held responsible for the illness of 500 Veterans of Foreign Wars in session at Baltimore. As this combination was served during a luncheon at the Naval academy, we accept the explanation, although back in the days when we were a boy we heard of many cases where stomach confusion resulted from a mixture of crabs or sea food with what was then not contraband. That early impression was revived by observation last winter in Miami. Perhaps the theory is all wrong from a medical viewpoint, but we saw it happen.

INCIDENTALLY, Prohibition Director Woodcock has barred the use of boys as spies in securing evidence against liquor law violators. This may arouse the ire of extreme drys, but it lessens the resentment which was growing against law enforcement officers by those who do not believe in either the wisdom or efficacy of the 18th amendment. Enforcement tendency in recent months has been toward sanity, perhaps a reflection of popular sentiment.

CASUALTIES among candidates for positions on the British and American polo teams remind of the time when Notre Dame football players asserted they received more bruises and hard work in their own practice sesssions than against opponents. That was before the South Benders had such pretentious schedules. Now, scrimmage drills for regulars are comparatively light, sometimes nil. We hope injuries may not prevent the coming equestrian tilts from being a true test. That's one sport a person may enjoy viewing without knowing all the finer points.

SALESMANSHIP.

Wake-Line: In these days of customer sales resistance, may I tell of the foundry on the near north side many, many years ago whose owner made a superior line of bronze bells? One day he observed a stranger looking over his samples, seemingly interested in a bell about a foot and one-half high which operated by means of a wheel mounted on one side. Scenting a sale, he turned the wheel gently and approached the clerical looking person, a lean, tall man in black, with boiled shirt, black bow tie, and plug hat, saying: "That, sir, is a bell for you. Close your eyes and imagine it on a calm Sabbath morn sounding its call to the faithful."

"Faithful, my eye," replied the tall one, "what I want is a bell for a locomotive." "Well, then, listen to this," responded the bellmaker, spinning the wheel while the bell pealed forth like a great mogul entering the terminal. The sale was made. GLENDOWER.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

SEPTEMBER 6, 1914.

PARIS.—An official communication announced that three forts had fallen at Maubeuge, a fortress of the first class in Nord. A further statement says that the enveloping movement of the Germans has been definitely checked and that they are moving farther away from Paris toward the southeast. Part of the British expeditionary force is assisting the French garrison at Maubeuge.

LONDON.—A brief message from Berlin carries the official announcement that a German army has taken the city of Reims without fighting. This indicates that this force, which forms part of the German center, has pierced the center of the defense.

LONDON.—Russia, Great Britain and France signed an agreement that none of the three would make peace without the consent of all three nations.

AMSTERDAM.—The Belgians have opened the dikes and flooded a large section of the country to the south of Antwerp and southwest of Malines. A number of Germans, trapped by the action, were killed while attempting to save their guns from the flood.

WASHINGTON.—The first steps were taken for the holding of a conference under the joint auspices of the departments of state and commerce at which diplomatic and consular officers of the Latin-American republics will be invited to meet with foreign exchange bankers, manufacturers and merchants of the United States who are interested in trade with South and Central America. The conference is called at the suggestion of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

SEPTEMBER 6, 1900.

LONDON.—While England has not made formal reply to Russia's proposal to withdraw all troops from Peking, the government showed its hand to a certain degree by ordering the 4th brigade of Indian troops to China immediately.

LONDON.—Gen. Sir Arthur Gaselee, commander of the British Indian troops at Peking, wires that the allies marched through the Forbidden City on Aug. 28. The British had third place in the procession, the Russians and Japanese being in greater strength.

CHICAGO.—Much discussion is going on among railway officials as to whether men in shirtwaists should be permitted to ride in first class cars when women object. A man was recently ejected from a train on the Southern railway for refusing to put on his coat over the shirtwaist. Railroad officials here can see no objection to men dressed in shirtwaists riding in coaches or sleeping cars, but insist that coats should be worn in the dining cars.

CHICAGO.—The Municipal Gas company announced a price of 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, and the Ogden Gas company promptly met the rate. Secretary Roger C. Sullivan said the Ogden would go even lower to protect its customers.

SEPTEMBER 6, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—The Wirz trial was resumed. J. Nelson Clark testified he was taken to Andersonville about May 23, 1864, and confirmed previous evidence as to the crowded and filthy conditions of the stockade. On one day of last year he counted 104 dead men in the stockade. Edward L. Kellogg of the 20th New York cavalry saw four men shot for crossing the dead line. He was "bucked" six hours because he had failed to report a man who escaped. "Bucking" consists of first tying the wrists together and then fastening the same over the knees.

CHICAGO.—Between the second and third heats of the afternoon race at the state fair Lieut. Gen. Grant appeared on the ground, accompanied by Maj. Gen. Logan, Adjt. Gen. Haynie, Maj. Gen. J. N. Cook, and Maj. Gen. Grierson. The distinguished party was at once conducted to the judges' stand amid enthusiastic cheers. For several minutes these cheers continued, the thousands of people joining in them crowding on the track in front of the judges' stand to such an extent that the race could not go on. Gen. Grant, with characteristic modesty declined to the demands that he should make a speech.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN RUSSIA.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Mr. R. A. Thomas in his letter published yesterday believes that there is no unemployment in soviet Russia. As a matter of fact, unemployment in Russia is very high. According to official figures, the average unemployment for 1929 was 1,520,000. The latest available official figures show 1,235,000 unemployed on Feb. 1, 1930.

In fact, unemployment in Russia should be taken at a much higher figure, because registration is done in 65 cities only, and it has been ordered lately not to register unskilled newcomers from the villages. Nevertheless, unemployment among industrial workmen has been reduced recently, but this was achieved by the following purely artificial measures:

1. A seven and six hour day was introduced and another shift of workmen added; this meant an increase of night work, but the government preferred to employ workmen at night rather than pay them the unemployment dole.
2. By abolishing Sundays; now every laborer works five days and gets a day free.

Consequently, factories work now at least 21 hours a day [viz.: three shifts of seven hours each] and 360 days a year. The total number of workmen in state industry was 2,492,000 on March 1, 1930. Practically no large scale private industry exists. On the other hand, it should be borne in mind that in Russia the average wages of a workman in the large scale state industry are only 342 a month and the cost of living in the Russian cities is higher than anywhere in western Europe or America. Housing conditions are abominable; according to an official report, the average housing space available for a workman is five square yards only; 28 per cent of all workmen [and 43 per cent of miners] live on a housing space of less than 33 square feet per head [see the official "Five Year Plan," volume 2, part 2, second edition; Moscow, 1930, page 282]. Food cards are introduced. At the present time in Moscow even workmen are not allowed to buy more than fifteen eggs or more than seven pounds of meat a month. There is a great scarcity of sugar, fats and vegetables now. The official Isvestia [July 19, 1930] complained that peasants offer to private speculators eighty pounds of grain for one pound of sugar. Miners in masses leave the state mines because they cannot stand the terrible privations. The government tried to replace them by poor peasants, but the miners have beaten the newcomers and almost all of them ran away terrified by the menaces of the old miners [this story is told in the official Isvestia, Aug. 18, 1930]. A RUSSIAN EXPERT.

BROADCASTING THE SOX GAMES.

Kenilworth, Ill., Sept. 2.—Why is it we can't have at least one of the many broadcasting stations broadcast the White Sox ball games while they are home this trip? Of course, I know they are not a pennant contender, but they will be before Donie Bush gets through with them, and it won't be long now. I am a Cub and White Sox fan. SAM BENNETT.

MacCARTEY SAYS THEY'RE NORMAN.

IS THERE A PSYCHIATRIST IN THE HOUSE?

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 30.—I attended the Cubs-Cardinal game Friday. During the Cubs' rallies one gentleman in front of me spent most of the time jumping up and down on his seat; another continually throwing his hat in the air. I caught it myself no less than three distinct times. An old mother two seats down from me in the same row exhorted the Cub pitcher every other throw to kill the particular Cardinal batter he chanced to be up; but the supreme surprise came in the last half of the ninth when the Cubs scored the tying run. The seat next to me was occupied (part of the time) by the grown daughter of the aforesaid mother. When the Cubs scored the run she gurgled, "I'm so happy I could kiss you!" I thought she was talking to her mother, and a little curiously turned my head to see if she would carry out her threat. Imagine my amazement when I found she was looking directly at me! The next moment I was kissed. Perhaps in her delirium the young lady mistook me for her mother, but, anyway, as soon as the young lady's attention was fixed on the ball game again, I found another seat.

Now, what I would like to know is whether the above mentioned fans were demented or am I demented for presuming to consider them so?

JOSEPH R. ROSS.

THE NEBRASKA VIEWPOINT.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 21.—I have before me the report by Mr. Mather in the Aug. 19 issue of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE entitled "Crop Situation Doesn't Agree So Dry, Hungry." I want to congratulate you upon the practical way in which this news article has been written. I can understand perfectly why the Nebraska farmer meant when he was interviewed when he said, "I have lived in this country for nearly fifty years and I think I've seen about everything it can produce," etc.

I have lived in Nebraska for over forty years and not only the quotation of the Nebraska farmer, but also the general slant of your article reflects the Nebraska farm mind as I believe I understand it.

We are going to give this news item considerable publicity and shall be glad to give THE TRIBUNE and Mr. Mather credit for having done a good job in a manner whereby I feel that folks generally in Nebraska and Iowa should be indebted to you. H. C. MCELVAIN, Business Manager, The Nebraska Farmer.

PRESERVING THE AMENITIES.

Downers Grove, Ill., Aug. 22.—If evidence is needed to show what an ignorant jackass you are, you have supplied it in your editorial of today advocating the repeal of the 18th amendment, when you ought to know that only thirteen states—your unlucky number—are necessary to prevent a repeal. There is nothing for you boozers to do but start a rebellion. Go to it.

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

[illegible] Clement is the vicar of a country village in England. His attractive wife, Gri[illegible] is nearly twenty years his junior. The vicar's young nephew, Dennis, lives with [illegible]

Col. Protheroe, a pompous parishioner, who makes life miserable for his daughter, [illegible] and his second wife, is expected at the vicarage at 6:15 one evening. At 5:30 the vicar is called to visit a dying parishioner and leaves word for the colonel that he will [illegible] him. On returning at 7 the vicar meets Lawrence Redding, an artist, who is [illegible] in a studio on the vicarage grounds, coming out of the house in an agitated state. [illegible] shortly before the vicar had discovered the artist and Mrs. Protheroe in each other's [illegible] and they had confessed to him their love for each other. In his study the vicar [illegible] the colonel sprawled across the desk shot through the head, murdered apparently, [illegible] the weapon is found. Dr. Haydock is sent for and he says Protheroe has been dead [illegible] hour and calls the police. A note which the colonel started to write to the vicar [illegible] 6:20. A clock, overturned when the colonel fell forward, stopped at 6:22, but [illegible] was kept a quarter of an hour fast.

[illegible] Redding confesses he murdered Col. Protheroe. Shortly after Mrs. Protheroe [illegible] Mitchett, the chief constable of the county, that she shot her husband.

[illegible] and the vicar call on Miss Marple, whose house adjoins the vicarage. She [illegible] saw Mrs. Protheroe going to the vicarage about 6:15. From there she [illegible] to the studio. Redding came along shortly after and went to the studio. They [illegible] about twenty minutes later and walked towards the village.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

THE ARTIST IS CLEARED.

"I don't see that," I said. "Col. Protheroe merely wrote that he couldn't [illegible] any longer——"

"At twenty minutes past six?" said Miss Marple. "Your maid, Mary, [illegible] already told him that you wouldn't be in till half past six at the earliest. [illegible] he had appeared to be quite willing to wait until then. And yet at [illegible] past six he sits down and says he 'can't wait any longer.'"

I stared at the old lady, feeling an increased respect for her mental [illegible]. Her keen wits had seen what we had failed to perceive. It was an [illegible] thing—a very odd thing.

"I only," I said, "the letter hadn't been dated——"

Miss Marple nodded her head.

"Exactly," she said. "If it hadn't been dated!"

I cast my mind back, trying to recall that sheet of note paper and the [illegible] scrawl, and at the top that neatly printed 6:20. Surely these figures [illegible] on a different scale to the rest of the letter.

I gave a gasp.

"Supposing," I said, "it wasn't dated. Supposing that round about 6:30 Protheroe got impatient and sat down to say he couldn't wait any longer. [illegible] as he was sitting there writing some one came in through the win-

"Or through the door," suggested Griselda.

"Col. Protheroe was rather deaf, you remember," said Miss Marple.

"Yes, that's true. He wouldn't hear it. Whichever way the murderer [illegible] he stole up behind the colonel and shot him. Then he saw the note [illegible] the clock and the idea came to him. He put 6:20 at the top of the letter [illegible] he altered the clock to 6:22. It was a clever idea. It gave him, or so [illegible] would think, a perfect alibi."

"And what we want to find," said Griselda, "is some one who has a [illegible] alibi for 6:20, but no alibi at all for—well, that isn't so easy. One [illegible] at the time."

"We can fix it within very narrow limits," I said. "Haydock places [illegible] at the outside limit of time. I suppose one could perhaps shift it to 6:35 [illegible] the reasoning we have just been following out; it seems clear that

"Is he deceiving me about Mrs. Protheroe? You really don't suspect her?"

[illegible] would not have got impatient before 6:30. I think we can say we [illegible] pretty well."

"Then that shot I heard—yes, I suppose it is quite possible. And I [illegible] nothing about it—nothing at all. Most vexing. And yet, now I try [illegible], it does seem to me that it was different from the usual sort of [illegible] one hears. Yes, there was a difference."

"Louder?" I suggested.

"No, Miss Marple didn't think it had been louder. In fact, she found it [illegible] to say in what way it had been different, but she still insisted that it [illegible].

"I thought she was probably persuading herself of the fact rather than [illegible] remembering it, but she had just contributed such a valuable new [illegible] to the problem that I felt highly respectful towards her.

"She rose, murmuring that she must really get back—it had been so tempt[illegible] but to run over and discuss the case with dear Griselda. I escorted her [illegible] the boundary wall and the back gate and returned to find Griselda wrapped [illegible] thought.

"Still puzzling over that note?" I asked.

"Yes." She gave a sudden shiver and shook her shoulders impatiently.

"Len, I've been thinking. How badly some one must have hated Anne [illegible].

"Hated her?"

"Yes. Don't you see? There's no real evidence against Lawrence—all [illegible] against him is what you might call accidental. He just happens [illegible] it into his head to come here. If he hadn't—well, no one would have [illegible] of connecting him with the crime. But Anne is different. Suppose [illegible] knew that she was here at exactly 6:20—the clock and the time [illegible] letter—everything pointing to her. I don't think it was only because [illegible] it was moved to that exact time—I think there was more in it than [illegible] direct attempt to fasten the business on her. If it hadn't been for [illegible] Marple saying she hadn't got the pistol with her and noticing that she [illegible] only a moment before going down to the studio—Yes, if it hadn't been [illegible]. . . ." She shivered again. "Len—I feel that some one hated [illegible] Protheroe very much. I—I don't like it."

I was summoned to the study when Lawrence Redding arrived. He [illegible] haggard and, I thought, suspicious. Col. Melchett greeted him with [illegible] approaching cordiality.

"We want to ask you a few questions—here, on the spot," he said.

Lawrence sneered slightly.

"Isn't that a French idea? Reconstruction of the crime?"

"My dear boy," said Col. Melchett. "Don't take that tone with us. Are [illegible] aware that some one else has also confessed to committing the crime [illegible] you pretend to have committed?"

The effect of these words on Lawrence was painful and immediate.

"See—some one else?" he stammered. "Who—who?"

"Mrs. Protheroe," said Col. Melchett, watching him.

"Absurd. She never did it. She couldn't have. It's impossible."

"Strangely enough, we did not believe her story. Neither, I may say, [illegible] believe yours. Dr. Haydock says positively that the murder could not [illegible] been committed at the time you say it was."

"Dr. Haydock says that?"

"Yes, so, you see, you are cleared whether you like it or not. And now [illegible] you to help us, to tell us exactly what occurred."

Lawrence still hesitated.

"You're not deceiving me about—about Mrs. Protheroe? You really don't [illegible] her?"

"On my word of honor," said Col. Melchett.

"I've been a fool," he said. "An absolute fool. How I could have thought [illegible] minute that she did it——"

"Suppose you tell us all about it," suggested the chief constable.

"There's not much to tell. I—I met Mrs. Protheroe that afternoon——"

"We know all about that," said Melchett. "You may think that your [illegible] for Mrs. Protheroe and hers for you was a dead secret, but in reality [illegible] was known and commented upon. In any case everything is bound to come [illegible] now."

"Very well then. I expect you are right. I had promised the vicar [illegible] he glanced at me) to—to go right away. I met Mrs. Protheroe that eve[illegible] in the studio at a quarter past six. I told her of what I had decided. [illegible] too, agreed, that it was the only thing to do. We—we said good-by to [illegible] other.

"We left the studio, and almost at once Dr. Stone joined us. Anne [illegible] to seem marvelously natural. I couldn't do it. I went off with [illegible] to the Blue Boar and had a drink. Then I thought I'd go home, but [illegible] to the corner of this road I changed my mind and decided to come [illegible] see the vicar. I felt I wanted some one to talk to about the matter. [illegible] the door the maid told me the vicar was out but would be in shortly. [illegible] Col. Protheroe was in the study waiting for him. Well, I didn't like [illegible] creep again—looked as though I were shirking meeting him. So I said [illegible], too, and I went into the study."

"Well?" said Col. Melchett.

"Protheroe was sitting at the writing table—just as you found him. I [illegible] up to him—touched him. He was dead. Then I looked down and saw [illegible] had lying on the floor beside him. I picked it up—and at once saw that [illegible] my pistol.

"That gave me a turn. My pistol! And then, straightway, I leaped to [illegible] conclusion. Anne must have bagged my pistol some time or other—[illegible] it for herself if she couldn't bear things any longer."

Buddy Rogers and Nancy Carroll head the list of performers in "Follow Thru," but Jack Haley and Zelma O'Neal, playing the rôles they originated in the stage production, are the real stars of the show. Mr. Rogers' handsome features and ingenuous charm somehow fail to appeal to me. This must be evidence of my nasty disposition, because a million women will say I'm wrong.

Anyhow, Buddy sings some, dances a little, and makes love in the graceful and polite way so much admired by his fans. Nancy Carroll, her doll-like prettiness enhanced by trim sport costumes, responds to Buddy's love-making, and sings every now and then in a thin, sweet voice that just managers to hit the high notes without fading away altogether.

The production lacks the verve and sparkle of the stage show, but it is very pleasant entertainment. The high spots are the O'Neal-Haley rendition of "Button Up Your Overcoat" and Miss O'Neal's energetic song and dance version of "I Want to Be Bad." There's lots of life left in the old songs and their tinkling tunes set the pace for the performance.

As for the plot, it's the same hilarious hodgepodge that made a framework for the stage performance, with a golf club as the principal setting and a contest on the links between the heroine and a rival siren as the climax. Pretty girls romp through the scenes, making a background for the action and grouping into tableaux for the choruses.

The production is all color, which is sometimes effective and sometimes so blurred and indefinite that you long to rest your optics on the good old black and white.

THE CAST.

Convict	Gerald du Maurier
Lady at the Inn	Edna Best
Girl of the Town	Mabel Poulton
Plain Clothes Man	Ian Hunter
Judge	Horace Hodges
Miss Vera	Madeline Carrol
Parson	Austin Trevor

The film version of John Galsworthy's drama, "Escape," is no food for the Pollyanna school of thought. The somber story has been screened with a stern regard for realism, minus any of the softening qualities of romance and illusion that most persons look for in the theater.

If you take it seriously you're apt to come away in a gloomy frame of mind, thinking about a hopelessly true and not uncommon situation which can't be improved by you or anybody else. It is an excellent picture, admirably directed and portrayed by an English cast, but the problem it presents is too grim to be listed as amusement.

The hero is a Capt. Dennis, an English officer and a gentleman. If he hadn't been so much the gentleman there would have been no story. He goes walking one evening in Hyde park and is approached by a lady of the not so honorable profession. A detective, who apparently is familiar with the girl's police record, steps up to arrest her.

Capt. Dennis, the soul of gallantry, demurs and asks the officer to release the girl. A fight starts and our stalwart hero, with one well directed sock on the jaw, buries the representative of the law into eternity. He is arrested, tried, and sentenced to five years' imprisonment for manslaughter.

Prison life is hard to take, especially for a crime that was the accidental outcome of chivalrous intentions. He manages to elude the guards and gets away in a fog. The balance of the story depicts the harrowing plight of a fleeing convict with the hounds of the law literally at his heels.

The reactions of the people he encounters are typical of society's attitude toward a convict. Most of the women, God bless them, are inclined to temper justice with mercy. The men, all but one minister, are all for letting the law take its relentless course.

Gerald du Maurier, the popular London stage star, is splendid in the rôle of the hunted convict, and the incidental characters are sympathetically portrayed by well known English performers.

HOSPITAL SITE AND $2,295,000 GIVEN BY IRA C. COPLEY

Ex-Congressman Ira C. Copley of Aurora has given to the Aurora Hospital association, a building fund of $1,000,000, a site valued at $150,000 and an endowment fund of $1,295,000. Announcement of the gifts was made yesterday by G. A. Anderson, president of the Aurora Hospital association.

The institution will be called the Copley hospital now, and after Col. Copley's death the Copley Memorial hospital. Col. Copley was reared in Aurora and represented the Aurora district in congress for twelve years. He and his wife, the late Edith Strohn Copley, were patrons of the Aurora hospital.

That now has a four story building which will be incorporated in a six story building which will be the first unit of an enlarged institution. Col. Copley bought the property necessary for enlarging the present hospital. Ultimately there will be a children's hospital building, a nurses' home and other buildings. The hospital site, almost three acres, is located in the Lincoln and Weston avenues block in the city of Aurora.

The one million of the endowment will be paid to the hospital at the donor's death or when his youngest son reaches the age of 28 years.

Coo of Expert Stirs English Baby to Reply

Science Thus Enriched, Professor Explains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Paternal coos at an infant offspring sometimes assume greater importance than does the proud interest in the articulate progress of the offspring, it was proved to the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Bristol today. Prof. Charles W. Valentine said that he tabulated results in one hand while tickling the baby's chin with the other.

Prof. Valentine assured the gathered scientists that his interest was half that of a father and half that of an expert in child psychology when his children began to gurgle.

"I made observations from the first days on," he said, "from when they were making sounds to the beginning of speech." He then described how he converted the Valentine nursery into a humane and highly enlightening laboratory. "When spontaneous cooing first revealed itself, I tested carefully for the first appearance of 'responsive cooing.' The first child cooed back at the age of four weeks, the next took nearly five weeks, and the third seven weeks."

He also tested his infant daughter for child reaction to fears.

"I put before my year old girl a creeping, woolly caterpillar," he explained. "She was fascinated by it, but not afraid until a whistle with which she was familiar was quickly blown behind her back. The combined fear impulses caused her to jump and cry. Neither experience nor suggestion can account for the fear children have of the dark or of hideous objects. Children will remain in the rain, despite warning that they will catch their death of cold, but they will run from the dark without warning.

"Children often play with fear impulses, as evidenced by their demands for repetitions of fear games, although they invariably end with screams and tears. This love of playing with fear suggests an innate tendency—a craving for stimulus denied by civilized life."

Man May be Mistake

BRISTOL, England, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The theory that man is a mistake of nature was advanced here last evening by Dr. H. S. Harrison, head of the anthropology section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, in his presidential address before the body.

Dr. Harrison was at a loss to understand why a man ever ceased to be an ape, for he believed that man did very well while he was an ape.

Von Steuben Stamp Recalls 200th Birth Anniversary

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A new 2 cent stamp to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the birth of Baron von Steuben, revolutionary war hero, will be placed on sale in New York City Sept. 17. The postoffice department, in making that announcement today, added that on Dec. 18 the stamps would be placed on sale at the philatelic agency of the department for the benefit of stamp collectors. The central portion of the stamp bears the bust of Von Steuben, modeled from a medal.

'Have a Heart' Tags to Be Sold Monday to Help Charities

With Have a Heart tag day just around the corner several hundred workers who will sell tags for the Chicago Federated Charities on Monday made their annual call yesterday for their supplies at the First National bank vaults.

MISS L. E. BABCOCK

The tag day will benefit 43 institutions upon which thousands of old people and homeless children, many of them ill or crippled, are dependent. Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the federation, has set $100,000 as the goal.

It is especially urgent that that amount be raised this year, she said, because of the financial distress over the country the last year. Many of the institutions are operated entirely by the gifts from the annual tag day. Tags may be bought from official workers on all busy streets over Chicago all day Monday.

New Water Lilies Named; One for Gov. Emmerson

The aquatic gardens in Garfield park formed the setting for a christening ceremony yesterday when two hitherto unknown hybrid water lilies were named, being sponsored by August Koch, head florist of the west park system. One gorgeous blue lily on its watered pad of green was christened "Governor Louis L. Emmerson," and measured 14 inches from tip to tip. The other, a delightfully deep pink flower of equal size, was named "Mrs. W. R. James," in honor of the wife of the president of the west park board.

Barclay, Noted Illustrator, to Wed Beautiful Model

BEST DRESSED MEN OF TODAY FIND STYLES BETTER THAN OF OLD

All this talk about sartorial emancipation for men hasn't seemed to get anywhere until somebody brings up memories of the good old days of fifteen to twenty years ago, as some Chicago authorities did yesterday. Imminence of the annual fall style show to be presented Sept. 26 at the Palmer house by the Chicago Merchant Tailor Designers provoked comparison of the mode of today and of yesterday.

Look back, as they did, at the once swagger peg top pants. Regardez, messieurs, those bulldog toed button shoes you once believed so swanky. Remember the padding they insisted on your having inserted in your coat lining, to make you look husky and athletic whether you were or not. Don't forget the wide brimmed straw hat with the shallow crown, nor the rows and rows of buttons that couldn't be dispensed with if the tout ensemble was to be correct.

Or, jumping ahead a few years to that era of about 1915, have you forgotten those pinch back Norfolk jacket suits with their skin fitting trousers? They had a long run of popularity, and during that fad, your tailors have told on you, you insisted on having your clothes made so tight they wore into wrinkles—horizontally.

"Of course it's natural that we should think present day styles much more comfortable, much more distinctive," declares Dave Weil, one of the men who tailor the wardrobes of the town's masculine elite. "But there isn't any question—they both look better and are better styles than in the old days of tight fits. Now we accomplish by fine tailoring an almost identical effect, except that trousers are wider. Coats aren't tight, but they look as if they were."

"Midwesterners are simply too self-conscious to be well dressed," he admits, plaintively. "Of course, there are men here who are excellently dressed always. And the average is rising steadily. But in general—well, take walking sticks. Many a Chicagoan will go to New York and wear a stick, but he won't on Michigan boulevard. New Yorkers aren't like that. Any young clerk there will swing a cane—and know how to do it."

W. J. Fitzgerald, who carpenters clothes for such sticklers for the details as Jack Dempsey, Cartoonist Sidney Smith, and others, sheds no tears over the demise of the exaggerated styles which used to make every man look like a prize fighter.

"Good taste always is conservative," he observed, "and styles today are just that—running to solid colors and simple lines. Fashions are the result of evolution or of accident. For instance, one firm in London had to deliver a suit to a customer without having time to press the top of the sleeves. Somebody saw him wearing it, thought it was a new style, and ordered one. That was the start of the "rope" sleeve that's going so strong now.

"But I'm glad we're past the days when I had to sew twenty-six buttons on a single sleeve, as in one suit I remember."

Chicagoans who wear the recent styles unusually well include William D. Saltiel, city attorney; George Grant, realtor, who is reputed to own a wardrobe of more than seventy suits, and to change clothes three times daily; Roy Getzelman, manager of the Litwinsky firm, whose knowledge of details is unusual; Stanley Miller, head of the bond department of Russell Brewster; Frank J. Birk of 1448 Lake Shore drive.

World Throbs to Electricity, Scientist Says

Offers His Theory of Cosmic Force Here.

A new cosmic theory was advanced yesterday. It involves a stream of electronic force which causes the formation and disintegration of stars, which charges the earth and makes it pulsate, which is manifested eventually in the making of volcanoes, earthquakes, and mountains, producing also, in some fashion, even the winds.

That theory caused a sensation in the otherwise quiet closing session of the 44th annual meeting of the American Astronomical society. That view of the cosmos was given in a hurriedly read 15 minute paper by Benjamin Boss, director of the Dudley observatory at Albany, N. Y. He is a director of the department of meridian astrometry of the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

"You must picture," he said, "the earth as a big ball possessing a high electric charge, and in addition you must picture it as a ball surrounded by a magnetic field of force. You must also remember that the magnetic poles are located roughly about 1,200 miles from the poles of rotation, and are only about seven hours apart in longitude.

"The evidence presented shows that this electric charge is directly related to the sun's position relative to the magnetic poles. Therefore it is reasonable to infer that the charge comes from the sun and is regulated by the magnetic field of the earth, the maximum charge occurring when the north magnetic pole is presented. Thus we are led to the hypothesis that the negative electric charge on the earth is maintained by a penetrating electronic bombardment from the sun, which, on its arrival at the earth, is guided along the magnetic lines of force, thus entering the earth in the magnetic polar regions, from where it is distributed to all the earth.

"Sverdrug, up the Maud arctic expedition, and Simpson on the British antarctic expedition, 1910-'13, showed by experiment that a higher potential was registered with increasing wind velocity. In this experiment we have direct evidence of penetrating radiation, and what is more, it affords evidence that the penetrating radiation causes the winds, for the electrometer jumped forward with every gust of wind, showing the association between the two.

"This is explained through the fact that an electron rushing through the atmosphere creates a vacuum along its path. The air rushing in to fill the vacuum tends to follow the direction of the speeding electron. As the radiation is entering the earth via the magnetic polar regions this would explain the high winds encountered near the magnetic poles; and the distribution of the atmospheric charge taken by the air from the polar regions and distributed to the rest of the globe would explain the flow of atmospheric currents from the poles towards the equator.

"Also a redistribution of the high charge carried by storm clouds would explain the sudden gusts of violent winds at the commencement of and during a thunderstorm.

"In particular I was interested to find out whether the irregular rotation of the earth might be occasioned through penetrating radiation. I compared the curves representing the diurnal frequency of earthquakes and other curves of the diurnal variation in atmospheric potential gradient. The relationship is striking. Maximum electric charge on the earth corresponds to the time of maximum earthquake frequency, while there is a secondary maximum of earthquake frequency at minimum electric charge.

"These correlations lead to the explanation that through variations in atomic activity, induced by the varying electric charge on the earth; expansions and contractions of the earth are produced. It is this pulsation that causes the irregular rotation of the earth, as well as the creation of oceans, continents, and mountains, and the eruptions of volcanoes.

"Our universe may be represented as a huge electro-magnetic field. Through this field cosmic particles are moving which bear electric charges. The distribution of cosmic dust is not uniform and, consequently, in regions of different potential its atomic action will be stimulated or will subside. This might easily account for the great climatic changes to which the earth has been subject in past geological history.

"Also, might we not obtain by this hypothesis of a cosmic electrical charge a more rational and unified explanation of stellar evolution?"

Hortense Henry, Two Others to Make Debut

BY THALIA

Today is momentous for the young things who are to be presented to society this season, as the first debut receptions are to take place this afternoon. Miss Hortense Henry, daughter of the Huntington B. Henrys of 1500 Lake Shore drive; Miss Beatrice Kirk, the Walter R. Kirks' daughter, and Miss Jean Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Horace White Armstrong of Winnetka, are the first of the debutantes to make their formal bows.

Miss Henry's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry will receive with her from 4 to 7 o'clock this afternoon at the Swift estate, Sagamore Hall, in Lake Forest; Miss Kirk's tea is to be at Tallombrosa, the Kirk's Lake Forest place; and Miss Armstrong's is to be at the Armstrong residence.

Miss Henry will have as assistants, two out of town guests, Miss Rosamond Moore of New York City and Miss Dorothy Laws of Cincinnati, and Constance Hasler, Geraldine Swift, Caroline Smith, Elsa Armour, Catherine Carton, and Josephine Dennehy. Miss Kirk's assistants include Elsa Armour, Caroline Smith, Constance Hasler, Josephine Dennehy, Marguerite Watson, Lelia Withers, and Geraldine Swift.

Miss Armstrong's list contains Jane Ashcraft, Evelyn Bouscaren, Katherine Carton, Josephine Dennehy, Lelia Withers, Suzette Morton, Winifred Wheeler, Elinor Whiting, Florence Carr, Katharine and Jeanne Street, Virginia Waller, Marguerite Watson, Margaret McLennan, Lucie Jacobs, Virginia Lamson, and Beatrice Lindsay.

Inasmuch as the post of assistant is mostly a courtesy one, it is possible for the girls to serve more than one lad in that capacity. Mrs. Phelps B. Noyt and Mrs. Dexter Cummings are to give a dinner-dance at Onwentsia for Miss Henry this evening, and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong are to give a dinner-dance at the Indian Hill club for their daughter.

Miss Kirk attended Farmington finishing school and during the last year studied at Mlle. Boissier's school in Paris. Miss Henry also studied in Europe, and Miss Armstrong went to Debbs Ferry for two years and finished her sophomore year at Smith college last June, having been class president.

Miss Kirk and another of this year's lads, Miss Elsa Armour, are departing tomorrow to attend the British-American polo matches at Meadowbrook and to have a gay whirl of visiting and debut parties in the east. They will attend the debut of Miss Evelyn Dunn, niece of Commander Richard E. Byrd, on Sept. 23, Miss Josephine Allen's, and will then go to visit Miss Betty McAlpin at Morristown, N. J. While Miss Kirk is in New York City she expects to "sit" for a head that her sculptor brother-in-law, Wheeler Williams, is to do of her.

The younger crowd, who are as yet more interested in equine turnouts than in social comings-out, are having a gymkhana at Onwentsia at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The riders are all to appear in costume, and prizes will be awarded for the most beautiful, the most original, and the most ridiculous outfits worn. Annie May Henry, Ida May Minotto, David Wilhelm, and Philip Poole, are among the young equestrians who will participate and who are taking part in the drags being held twice a week.

Two eastern weddings to take place today are also of interest here. Miss Katherine Brady, daughter of Mrs. Henry H. Brady of Scranton, Pa., and Madison, Conn., is to be married to John Grant Beadle, nephew of the Albert Blake Dicks, who has been living in Chicago for the last several years.

Edison and Sheldon Dick will be among the ushers, so also will Samuel Gale Taylor III., Yale '27, who was among the groom's classmates. Mrs. Carter Harrison Jr. is a cousin of the bride and she has gone east with her daughter, Edith, to be present at the wedding. Mr. Beadle has taken an apartment at 20 East Cedar street, where he and his bride will reside after their wedding trip.

Miss Carolyn Durand and Miss Jane Trowbridge are to be bridesmaids in the wedding this afternoon of Miss Sarah Durand Lewis, daughter of William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette college, and Mrs. Lewis, and William Edward Betts of Elizabeth, N. J. The service is to take place at the Congregational church in Colebrook, Conn., with the Rev. James O. K. McClure of Lake Forest officiating.

The bridesmaids are to wear peach colored taffeta dresses and hats, and will carry delphinium and talisman roses. Dr. Lewis was formerly headmaster of Lake Forest academy, and was at one time mayor of Lake Forest. Mr. Betts and his bride are to reside in Roselle, N. J.

The Wolcott Blairs were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. T. Markoe Robertson at Southampton, L. I.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Count and Countess Folke Bernadotte, who are now in Europe, will arrive early in November to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville.

Mrs. Burke Ross of Parland House, Madison, N. J., will give a dinner and supper dance on Oct. 18 in honor of Miss Eleanor Gillespie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Gillespie of Morristown, N. J., whose engagement to her son, Mr. Leland H. Ross Jr., was announced recently.

Mrs. D. Clinton Mackay and daughters are returning this week to their home in Plainfield, N. J., after spending July and August at the Maplewood club, Maplewood, N. H.

Miss Lily F. Robertson, the daughter of Mrs. Henry Montague Robertson, has returned from a two month trip to California and Canada.

Lover, Come Back.

For about six months after my marriage I enjoyed a secret pleasure in hearing my friends discuss how brokenhearted an old sweetheart of mine was. But my pleasure had a very sudden and embarrassing ending.

My husband and I purchased a house with the intention of making some interior changes. One day hubby called the firm where my "broken-hearted" lover was employed and asked them to send out some one to submit plans and prices on the work we wanted done.

The maid knew that a representative from the company was going to call, so when he came she let him in and showed him the rooms we wanted altered. I didn't know there was any one else in the house and being slightly provoked with my husband, I said in a very exasperated voice, "I'll declare, I wish I had married Dick Clarke!" Just then I stepped into the next room and there stood Dick!

To add to my discomfort, I could tell from the expression on his face that he thought I meant it! E. McC.

Checking Up.

One evening one of my friends phoned me and asked where I was going the following Sunday. I, thinking it was somebody else whom I was especially fond of, replied, I already had an engagement, but not meaning much to me it could be disposed of in some way or other. Imagine my embarrassment when I discovered it was none other than the person whom I had the engagement with. Evidently he was trying me out. M. D.

Discuss the New Baby with First Child, Says Expert

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

From a Delightful Letter:

"In the first place, I want to tell you how much I enjoy your articles. I never miss one. I started to read them before I was even married. I remember so clearly the first one I ever read. Perhaps it was your first one in the paper. It was about dressing infants. Thanks to that—there have never been any tears or struggles during dressing time with my little girl, who will be 2 next month.

"I have been especially interested in your articles about the new baby, lately. I'm expecting my second baby almost any day now, and I have worried about it a great deal. My little girl has had so much affection lavished on her and I have had so little trouble with her in that way, that I do hope I can keep things going smoothly. After all, this new baby business is rather a dirty trick and it certainly requires tact and thoughtful handling. I'll let you know how I get along, Mrs. Bevans.

From the Answer:

"Now, about your second baby. I don't think you need to worry, at all. You have handled your little girl so well and you realize so keenly what the advent of a new baby means that I'm sure you will manage perfectly. Talk it over with your little daughter before, enlist her help—just share it with her. Now for an important point: When the baby comes don't give up the cozy twosy times you've had with your daughter even though, on the whole, you won't have as much time to spend with her. I think what children miss as much as anything when a new baby comes is the fact that often they are never alone with their mothers or fathers, as before.

"The sense of communion that springs up between two is a precious thing and quite different from any feeling, however congenial, where there are three concerned. However, I don't need to tell you that—just to emphasize it."

Chicagoan Wins Peruvian Trip by Paper on Travel

E. L. De Rosa, manager of the travel department of the Foreman-State National bank, was awarded first prize, consisting of a trip to Peru, in a tie with Miss Grace Atkins of Oshkosh, Wis., in a contest conducted by the Bulletin of the Association of American Bank Travel Bureaus.

The contest, which was prepared by the Grace Line, Inc., to encourage study of literature regarding South American travel, was open to employés in bank travel bureaus in thirteen states.

Papers entered in the contest were judged by John T. McCutcheon, CHICAGO TRIBUNE cartoonist; Senator Hiram W. Bingham; William B. Freer, Grace Line manager in Chicago, and W. A. Young Jr., general pasenger traffic manager of the Grace Line, with headquarters in New York. Papers consisted of replies to a variety of questions on South American geography, literature and general information.

"Swell Couple" Finds Having "Swell Place" for Visitors Irking

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A couple spent a recent Sunday figuring out a move to free them from the crowds with which their suburban place has become infested to the extreme financial and physical discomfort of its owners.

By nature both Jim and Grace, we'll call them for convenience sake, are friendly, generous and hospitable. Seven years ago they bought a charming English type house some thirty minutes out by train from the city. They furnished it in a style of homeliness consistent with their open door hospitality. A good looking pair, just turned the 30 corner, golf players, tennis players, swimmers, dancers, they were popular.

The first year or two they were allowed to enjoy each other, except for occasional parties of their own planning. Their reputation was broadcast as a "swell couple" and their home as a "swell place" for a good time, and gradually a following has been built up that, as it was reviewed on a recent Sunday, threatened to engulf them financially. A strain on their affections due to the intense nerve strain of constant entertaining was frankly admitted. And an urgent reform step was planned. Of course gin entered into the picture as discussed by the two—the high cost of serving gin to crowds at a time. After the golf game, the tennis or the country club dance it was "Let's go over to Jim's. He'll have something."

It was all very merry, except for the nerve and financial strain, but figuring it out Jim saw that one more year of this sort of entertaining and they were going to be deep in the red. They were lopping over into it a little already.

The idea of putting the furniture in storage and renting the house, or abandoning it if need be, until the crowd's habit of dropping in vanished was weighed. It was found wanting, however.

Former U. of C. Professor, Going Abroad, Raps Tariff

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 5.—Prof. Jacob Viner of the department of economics of Chicago university sailed from this port today on the Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm. He will become professor of economics at the Institute of International Studies, University of Geneva. Before departing he took a slap at the Hawley-Smoot tariff measure which he described as "a mistake which all economists in the United States opposed from the start. It is bad for the United States and bad for all the world." He added, "There does not appear to be anything in sight to stop the upward trend of tariff legislation throughout the world now."

He was accompanied by his wife and two children.

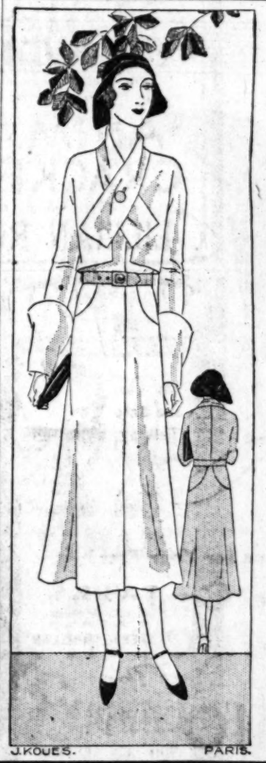
Wine Red Woolen Coat Assures Travel Chic



J. KOUES. PARIS.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Going away anywhere is at least an event and may be an adventure, so that the clothes we wear should be as attractive as anything we put on at home. Many women cannot afford a coat specially for traveling, and the coat that has enough general chic to serve for other purposes is the ideal coat, if at the same time it looks right while you're actually en route.

The dull, uninspiring colors used for most traveling coats prohibit them from serving for any sort of holiday affairs, and right now the feminine traveler is likely to be going vacationing where gayety is in order and there is no reason why such colors as warm green, sapphire blue, golden brown or dark red shouldn't be chosen for your traveling coat, and in these colors the coat can be a decorative wrap for light summer frocks that you wear when you arrive.

The best choice in a material is something in the new suede finished woolens that look so rich and are eminently practical. Do not choose patterned tweed if you want to wear it for anything but your trip as it is out of fashion except for traveling.

The traveling coat shown in our sketch is made of suede finished woolen, in a light weight, and it is a beautiful port wine red that looks beautiful with light and white frocks. The cut of this coat is excellent both for traveling and town or resort wear. It is fitted in to the waistline by a belt of self-material, and the buttoned-on scarf collar may be left off at will. There is a bolero jacket front that softens the fitted waistline, and the big, flaring cuffs make the sleeves look dashing. The skirt of this coat is flared slightly in the newest manner of Paris fall coats.

FARM AND GARDEN

WISCONSIN'S FEED BILL.

Latest figures on the feed bill of Wisconsin's farmers show an annual expenditure of about $31,300,000, according to Walter Ebling, federal agricultural statistician at Madison. This he says represents only a small part of the total feed used in the state, however, which includes the greater portion of the major farm crops occupying almost 90 per cent of Wisconsin's crop land.

"Such a large feed item of home grown feeds and those purchased is to be expected," says Mr. Ebling, "with 88 per cent of the state's $426,000,000 annual gross income being from livestock. Over half of the farms in Wisconsin buy feed, and it is estimated that on an average over two hundred dollars is spent annually for feed on those farms which do not grow all the feed they require."

Mill feeds constitute a third of the state's feed purchase on a tonnage basis, commercial mixed feeds 26 per cent, grain 14 per cent, ground feeds 12 per cent, high protein unmixed feeds 10 per cent and all others 5 per cent. At present, 53 of every 100 tons of mill feed bought in the state is bran, and 21 tons is standard spring wheat middlings.

These are the feeds that find their way into Wisconsin's bountiful milk pail, increasingly important in Chicago's stretching out for an adequate supply of market milk of superior quality.

Food Talk.

Unless we have perverted tastes, spoiled palates, little needs to be added to the natural flavor of many foods to make them palatable. Original flavors found in a large proportion of our meats, fruits, and vegetables are pleasing enough in themselves. There are, however, highly nutritious foods whose natural flavors are not tempting and it is a wise cook who knows how to use seasoning to change uninteresting foods into delightful ones.

For ages cooks have been searching for just the right seasonings to make all bland flavored and flavorless food acceptable. They have experimented with many seeds, barks, leaves, and roots of aromatic plants and have found a number of them most useful. One of the oldest flavorings that we knows anything about is cardamon.

Cardamon is the fruit of a reedlike plant native to the mountains of the Malabar coast of India and cultivated there and in Jamaica. Cardamon belongs to the ginger family. It is a three celled ovate-triangular yellowish pod varying from one quarter to one inch or more in length. Each pod encloses a number of small, dark brown, wrinkled angular seeds possessing an aromatic and agreeably pungent flavor which depends upon the presence of a peculiar aromatic oil. The Hindus have long been users of cardamon. Their curries and soups which contain cardamon are celebrated the world over.

Cardamon has also been used for a long time in confectionery and baked foods, especially in those products using honey as sweetening, and it is an interesting fact that the present day experimental cook has not been able to find any spice that enhances the flavor of honey more than cardamon. Realizing this, the modern baker is using more and more cardamon in his coffee cake made with yeast and in cookies and pound cake.

This good old fashioned flavor is so pleasing that it merits a more general use in the household. It may be bought in almost all drug stores and in many of the better groceries. It comes in the seed and also in the powdered form. If one obtains the seeds it is necessary to remove the outer husk. The small brown seeds are easily pounded to a powder in a small heavy mixing bowl or with an ordinary household mortar and pestle.

HONEY POUND CAKE.

4 eggs.
½ teaspoon orange flower water [procurable as drug stores].
2 cups pastry flour.

Pound cardamon seed to a powder. Cream together the butter and sugar and add the honey and stir until smooth. Add the eggs well beaten and the orange flower water. Add gradually the flour sifted with the soda and cardamon seed. Beat the mixture for 10 minutes. Put the dough into a warm tin with high sides, and bake in a slow oven [320 degrees F.] one hour.

Student Units Praised by Gen. Parker.

Four out of seven honor schools, chosen from all high schools in the 6th corps area—Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin—in which R. O. T. C. units are maintained, are in Chicago. The seven honor schools, chosen by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps area, were announced yesterday.

The seven schools, named in order of rating are: Harrison technical, Nicholas Senn, and Lakeview High schools, of Chicago; Waukegan Township High school; Southeastern High school, Detroit; Campion college, high school department, Prairie du Chien, Wis.; and Austin High school, Chicago.

Cites Two More Chicago Schools.

Of ten schools next on the list, rated as excellent by Gen. Parker, two were in Chicago. They are Carl Schurz High school, and Crane, including the technical high school and the junior college.

The ratings will be sent to Washington from this area and schools named will be carried on the honor list by the war department for the following year. Lakeview High school, listed as second in rating this year, has been on this honor list eight times in the last nine years.

General Praises Youths.

The examinations, conducted personally by Gen. Parker, were on neatness of dress, military deportment, efficiency in drill, skill in first aid, and knowledge of military tactics. Commenting on the tests the general said: "With the exception of four schools all in the area showed a marked improvement. I am well pleased with the type of youth we are developing."

Maj. Frank L. Beals, in charge of military training in Chicago schools, said: "The results speak for themselves. I am proud of Chicago boys and the credit belongs to them. If our appropriation were more we could train just that many more boys."

Confesses Forging Busby Name; Gets Probation

George Fox, 38 years old, 915 Forest avenue, accused of trying to forge the name of Leonard Busby, transit executive, to a check, was released yesterday and promised his old job back as assistant sales manager of an automobile accessory concern. The complaining witnesses agreed to the arrangement providing Fox would plead guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Fox was granted probation. It is charged that he used Mr. Busby's name to establish credit at a brokerage concern and then attempted to cash a $10,000 check to buy some stocks.

Sweden Sees Boom for Its Trade in Seaway to Chicago

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 5.—Sweden, like all its northern neighbors, is not worrying about the world economic crisis. At least it is not worrying as much as the western nations as it has no reason to worry. Times are not too good, but they are not bad. It has practically no unemployment, so it is free from bogey communism and socialism, which faces the western nations with their large numbers of unemployed.

As the result of talks with business men and politicians, THE TRIBUNE correspondent finds that Swedish business men are not making as much money as they would like to and the farmers are having a hard time. The business men complain that the drop in prices of goods all over the world has affected them, but so far Swedish industry is so diversified and so confined to utility products that they have been able to keep up production and keep their men working by shaving prices to the bone.

Match Trust Dividend.

This is reflected in the stock exchange, where the prices of industrial shares have been falling steadily, but not sensationally. A welcome rumor, which may indicate a revival, is that the match trust is about to announce an increased dividend of one per cent.

Swedish farmers, like farmers the world over, are suffering because of the drop in world prices of agricultural products and the heavy Swedish imports of foreign food. They are clamoring for protection, but the industrial workers, who are now "fifty-fifty" with the farmers, will not have high food prices. The late Conservative government fell on the issue of agricultural protection.

The present government, led by Prime Minister Carl Gustav Ekman, is nominally Liberal, but is supported by coalition Liberals, Agrarians, and right wing Socialists, but in reality is doing a skillful job of tight rope balancing between the Conservatives and Socialists. Neither party is strong enough to govern alone.

Farm Relief Election Issue.

At present elections are being held for one-ninth the members of the upper chamber, and all politicians are campaigning in the country, where the issue is the plight of the farmers.

Prime Minister Ekman has refused to accept the doctrine of taxing foreign food, but has suggested the idea of compelling Swedish millers to use a stated proportion—probably 50 per cent—of Swedish grain in all flour milled by them, thus cutting the importation of foreign milled flour.

Swedish business men are keenly interested in the plans for a St. Lawrence seaway, which they say, would add immediately to Swedish prosperity by enabling its high quality products to be brought to Chicago by cheap water transport. They even claim that Swedish high grade iron ore could be landed in Chicago and Cleveland as cheap or cheaper than Lake Superior ore. This also applies, it is claimed, to Swedish cutlery and even electrical machinery, in the manufacture of which Sweden excels.

The secret of Sweden's continued prosperity, according to Dr. Hjalmar Key, leading journalist and economist, is the diversification of its industries. Unlike England which specializes in huge, heavy industries, employing great masses of people and therefore suffers severely when one or two industries are in a slump, Sweden has specialized in a great number of comparatively small industries, making the highest quality of goods. If one or two become depressed it is not so serious to the country as a whole.

It is also found that Sweden easily absorbs highly skilled workmen from depressed to prosperous industries. Wage rates in Sweden are high, almost equalling the American standard, while the cost of living is also high. Stockholm now is having something like a housing crisis and rents are soaring. The average rent in apartment buildings for the working, or lower middle class, is 1,000 kroner annually per room, which is equivalent to about $300, thus making a four room apartment cost about $100 monthly. Naturally at this rate few workers have more than two rooms, and congestion becomes a problem.

The Sex Problem.

However, there is a little sexual promiscuity. The attitude in the towns, at least, toward sex is exceedingly free and the illegitimate birth rate is high. In 1926, which is the last year for which statistics are available, the number of births totaled 102,360, of which 15,244 were illegitimate. But investigation revealed that in nearly every case the marriage of the parents followed.

It is almost a system of trial marriage, with the added economic factor that a young couple are often unable to set up a separate home until after a child is born. Such free unions are looked on tolerantly, but are frowned on if continued too long. Any unfaithfulness of either partner is considered almost as disgraceful as an unfaithful marriage.

STRIKES DISRUPT MAIN INDUSTRIAL CITIES OF SPAIN

MADRID, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Scarcely an important town in Spain remained without some sort of strike tonight, while disorders occurred today at Renteria, near San Sebastian, over a metal workers' strike and free for all fights over political issues were reported at Orense, in Galicia.

In neither of these cities did deaths result, but many persons were injured, and in Renteria all business houses closed after the strike was unexpectedly proclaimed at noon. Most of those injured were struck by stones from the mob or knocked down by the horses of mounted guards.

Prepare for Other Trouble.

With increasing political activity heralding the coming of general elections, which will probably be held in January; with strikes gaining and the peseta slumping in value as the cost of living goes up, the authorities are preparing for further disorders in the principal industrial and political centers.

Among the towns affected by strikes are Saragossa, where street car motormen and conductors are out, as are painters; in San Sebastian and surrounding industrial centers, where metal workers are striking, and in various factories of Barcelona, Bilbao, Granada, Cordoba, and Valencia. There are numerous others.

Old Primo Party Active.

The political squabbles, which are almost equally general, are usually between members of the Union Patriotica, which was the organization of the former dictator, Primo de Rivera, and other groups which always opposed Primo. Primo is dead, but the old enmities persist.

Help Vacation Benefits to Last, Says Antoinette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Every summer about this time with the vacationists beginning the homeward trek, I am impressed over again with the close connection between health and beauty, and health pursuit and beauty pursuit.

In a summer season lived on a reasonable schedule of health cultivation one can accomplish more beauty magic than a year of beauty parlor cultivation will give. I am not speaking of the tanned look, particularly, although it lends value, when it's becoming. It is of the general aliveness of the individual, the renewed vigor with which life is picked up, the alert mind and body that follows a well spent vacation. The eyes, the skin and the hair reflect this improvement most markedly. And the facial expression is a young one again.

It is not feasible to discuss extending the vacation schedule in its entirety after one is back on the job again. It can't be done, no matter how strong the resolutions are. One will not get the same fresh air, the same amount of exercise, nor will one be able to get the same enthusiasm out of tending the same job day after day that one got out of a two week vacation program which varied from day to day.

However, one can learn certain things from her vacation time which may be adapted to city life after the return. One can keep before her the connection between health and beauty already referred to. Most of all, one can realize the value of good circulation. The substitute suggested, though it has limitations, is deep breathing exercises on arising and some kind of setting up exercises practised immediately after and before the shower. This, in the interest of circulation and the correct maintenance of elimination.

The need of a changed outlook on life is the one valuable lesson you get out of a vacation. What it does for a person is something that cannot be determined in value, but it is great. Business girls, as a rule, have a program for day and evening that alternates very little. If dancing is the favorite diversion, or the movies, these are done to the exclusion of everything else. A bit of variety on the amusement hours would do more for the facial expression, which depends upon mental enthusiasm for its vivacity. Some new study adopted this fall; joining a gym; taking a swimming course; taking up bridge or something you haven't tried before is a good idea and a good way to prolong the benefits of the changed scenes and faces experienced in the vacation time.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Wants Kiddie Car or Bicycle.

"Do you suppose some one has an outgrown kiddie car or a bicycle for a five year old boy? We have so many expenses there is nothing left to buy toys for our son and he is so anxious to have one of these, I promised to write you about it. MRS. F. W."

If your young son is reaching the age where he frowns upon kiddie cars as being too juvenile, won't you donate the one he is tiring of to this little fellow? He'd be delighted with such a gift.

FREEMAN BEATS THOMPSON; WINS WELTER TITLE

TAKES DECISION BY RALLIES IN CLOSING ROUNDS

Tommy Floored by Negro in 2d.

Fight Decisions

Cleveland, O., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Tommy Freeman, a fighting fool from Arkansas, tonight won the world's welterweight championship by pounding out a fifteen round decision over Young Jack Thompson, Negro title holder from California, before a crowd of 16,000.

Thompson, on the other hand, lost his title the first time he defended it after winning from Jackie Fields in Detroit only three months ago.

The Negro smiled sadly when Referee Patsy Haley lifted Freeman's hand after the final gong had sounded. "The decision was fair," he said after the fight. "I just met a better man. All I hope is that I will be given a return match in the near future."

Thompson carried the fight to Freeman during the first seven rounds and piled up a big margin of points, but the challenger refused to quit. During the final six rounds he pounded Thompson with rights and lefts that made the champion dizzy. Several times Thompson merely covered up and took numerous blows without a return.

Rallies in Sixth.

A hard left hook sent Freeman down for a count of six in the second round and for a while it appeared as if the challenger would not last until the tenth. Freeman seemed to have no defense for Thompson's right and the champion slipped it over with telling effect in almost every round.

The ninth was a slugfest with Freeman having a slight advantage, but the Negro just about landed a knockout in the tenth. Slugging to the body and jaw, Thompson had Freeman reeling and made his knees buckle just before the bell sounded.

But Freeman took the best the champion had to offer and came right back for more, always swinging to the Negro's face and body. The champion was steadily growing tired and was rapidly losing his speed.

Freeman Carries Fight.

During the final four rounds Freeman carried the fight to the champion and showered him with a barrage of blows. On several occasions Thompson did not land a blow for thirty seconds.

Freeman shook the Negro several times, but Thompson went to the floor only twice. He slipped in the fourth and was helped to his feet by Freeman. In the twelfth he went to his knees for no count under a right and left to the jaw.

There was some difference of opinion at the ringside after the decision was announced. Several writers seemed to think Thompson had a slight edge, while others thought it could have gone either way.

Freeman fought a surprising battle, as even his stanchest supporters did not expect he would make such a creditable showing. He had previously defeated Thompson before the latter won the title.

In their first fight, Freeman weighed 152 pounds. Tonight he registered 145¾ pounds, the lowest he has weighed in two years. This weight caused his followers to fear he might not go the route. But except for the punches that floored him in the second round Freeman gamely stood up under Thompson's heavy fire.

Has Fought 10 Years.

Freeman comes into possession of the championship after ten years of fighting. In the last six years he had met some of the best fighters of his weight, but only became a dangerous challenger a year or so ago after recovering from an illness that sapped his strength and kept him idle more than a year.

Both fighters scaled under the welterweight limit of 147 pounds when they weighed in at noon today. Thompson tipped the beam at 143¼ pounds.

Sam Weiss, Philadelphia light heavyweight, shaded Rosy Rosales, Mexican, in the eight round semi-final. It was a listless fight with considerable clinching.

In a scheduled six round bout Tony Peters of Chicago scored a technical knockout over Gaston Charles of New York in the second round. Charles went down three times in the first and seven times in the second frame before Referee Johnny Kilbane called it.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—A long time ago Uncle Will Gibson had a way of saying that when his time came and he had to go, he would go along quietly because he had had more fun out of life than anybody ever had any right to expect and was ahead of the game by many a joyous day and night, many a laugh and many a bet of one kind and another.

Then last spring, Uncle Will went to the hospital and the reports were such that people who had known him fell to pulling long faces and speaking of Will Gibson in the past tense. Worse than that, some of the boys spent hours recalling his generous deeds and this I took to be a very ominous sign because it is contrary to human nature to rake up a man's good works unless he seems definitely beyond help or comfort.

He's Coming Back.

But, now, I am in receipt of a letter which shows that Uncle Will Gibson did not go along quietly, as agreed, but wrapped himself around some hydrant or barber's pole and kicked and fought all summer. His letter says he is coming back to the prize fight business with Paulino Uzcudun, as of Nov. 1.

This is certain to cause some spirited back tracking among those who were recalling what a fine fellow Uncle Will was but I don't think there will be any lasting resentment against him, even so. He has explained his way out of many situations and I shall enjoy hearing when and for what reason he decided not to go along quietly but to insist on his rights and stick around.

Now that he is well again and coming back, I must not speak too kindly of Uncle Will, but I have an idea that if he and Dumb Dan Morgan and Nate Lewis and Fat Eddie Meade, all members of the old school of prizefighters of the old school, should make the effort together, they could soften some of the crankiness and rather humorize the villainy of the business, which has become so grim and deadly since the new class of managers came crawling up out of the cellars in the last few years.

The boys of Uncle Will's class had a broad sense of humor and their adventures were all fun in the long run. They trifled with the laws and the regulations, to be sure, and I would not attempt to argue that their gladiators' always fought with the utmost fury.

But, among their kind, if one of the boys outsmarted another the matter simply went on the books, to be carried over until such time as the victim could outsmart the other party back. Or, if they came to personal violence, each party cocked his holiday punch and let fly, and daylight probably found the boys sitting at the same table, and probably on the same chair, and possibly on one another's lap, babbling that the whole thing had been a big misunderstanding and that each regarded the other as the finest sportsman in the world.

Uncle Will Gibson's career is book material but I don't think it ever will be written, because he turned down a good price for it years back when he was more newsy than he is now, on the ground that a frank and convincing recitation of his memoirs might tend to degrade and embarrass a number of his fellow citizens.

He Managed Leonard.

He managed Benny Leonard when Benny was the portliest lightweight champion that ever held the title, but Benny always made the weight, although sometimes it seemed as though some one must have practiced witchcraft on the scales. And between them there never was a word of writing but only mutual confidence, a fact which disarmed Uncle Will when he came to his dealings with Gene Tunney, which subjected him to dire humiliation.

Whatever the other facts of the case may have been, Tunney was going nowhere at a rapid rate when Uncle Will bought him up, and presently found himself so well exploited that Tex Rickard felt justified in matching him with Dempsey. But when the fight was over Uncle Will was publicly disavowed and reduced to the status of step-manager, at a lower scale of pay.

"I have carried the target for that

*Reichert Brothers entry.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The $25,000 added Lincoln handicap, which has grown to be one of Chicago's most noted turf fixtures, will be run for the fifth time at Lincoln Fields this afternoon.

The struggle, at a mile and a quarter, attracted 14 of the best western handicap performers in the overnight entry, and it was expected that Lady Broadcast, to be ridden by Jockey J. Marcum, would be the post time favorite at about 5 to 2. Pigeon Hole, the Arlington handicap winner, was mustering many backers last night, and it appeared almost certain that he would be the second choice.

The Lincoln Fields Jockey club officials were making plans to handle a crowd of 30,000 or more. All reserved seats, both in the clubhouse and grandstand, have been sold for more than a week. It was expected that a larger crowd will watch the running of the handicap than the record breaking gathering which visited Lincoln Fields on Labor day.

A Western Affair.

The Lincoln today is to be strictly a western affair, unless you care to call Victorian, owned by the Warm stable, an easterner. With Blue Larkspur, Diavolo, Misstep, Toro, Display, and other stake stars going amiss in training there is a greater scarcity of handicap notables in the east than in the west right at this time.

Sun Beau and Petee Wrack are left in New York, and of course there is the mighty Gallant Fox. Sun Beau and Petee Wrack passed up the Lincoln, while Gallant Fox will be busy this afternoon in the rich Lawrence Realization stakes at Belmont Park for horses of his own age.

The Lincoln was first run in 1926 and Supremus, a Kentucky colt, was the winner. The race was then worth $9,380. In 1927 Chance Play, ridden by Earl Sande, ran the mile and a quarter in 2:04 1-5 and was a handy winner. In 1928 when Toro was at his best he was the victor. Chance Play's triumph earned him $25,600 and Toro's earnings in the race in 1928 was $25,075. Last year on a muddy track Blackwood, a Chicago horse and a long shot, won the stake which was worth $21,000.

Blackwood to Run.

Blackwood, alone of the previous winners, is in today's battle. Supremus and Chance Play are at the head of thoroughbred nurseries in Kentucky. Toro was shipped to Kentucky a few days ago and will enter the stud next season.

While the Lincoln handicap and speculation on the possible outcome were of most interest to the crowd at Lincoln Fields yesterday, the running of the Indian Woods Country club purse brought such a thrilling finish that today's rich race for the time being was completely forgotten.

After Princeton had been made the 3 to 5 favorite he shocked his back-

Yankees and British Meet Again; This Time It's Polo

New York, Sept. 5.—Great Britain and the United States will fight for polo supremacy tomorrow afternoon on Long Island. More than 40,000 persons from every walk of life and every part of the country will fill the towering blue grand stands that line both sides of historic international field at Meadow Brook. The best two out of three games will decide the winner.

CAPT. CHARLES TREMAYNE.

TOMMY HITCHCOCK

The green, carpetlike turf unscarred by a hoof for weeks, is ready; the fleetest, surest horses that money can buy are stabled just across the road, and the best of England's and America's high goal men have been chosen for the test.

A. Charles Schwartz, spokesman for the defense committee of the United States Polo association, announced the lineup of the American team late this afternoon. It is: No. 1, Eric Pedley; No. 2, Earle A. S. Hopping; No. 3, Thomas Hitchcock Jr., captain, and back, F. Winston Guest.

Capt. Charles E. Tremayne, nonplaying leader of the English team, announced Britain's lineup as: No. 1, Gerald Balding; No. 2, Lewis L. Lacey; No. 3, Capt. Charles T. I. [Pat] Roark, and back, Lieut. Humphrey Guinness.

The Americans ruled 5 to 4 favorites tonight. Hard luck has ridden with the British. Only six active players were sent over, and one of those six—Aidan Roark—is in a hospital recovering from a mastoid operation. Another, Capt. Richard George, has been kept out of practice games by illness. A third, Barney Balding, called in from Chicago as an emergency spare, suffered a severe injury in a pickup game yesterday.

The Americans, on the other hand, have an abundance of spares to ride into action should the occasion arise. Eric Pedley, named as the American No. 1, has the distinction of being the first player from any section of the country except Long island, to win a place on the team, and two Texans, Cecil Smith and H. [Rube] Williams, are being carried as substitutes.

Until the 1928 games with the Argentines the American big four always had been drawn from Meadow Brook club. In the last game of that series, Earle Hopping, a Long Islander with a British background but no club affiliation, was put in to turn the tide. He succeeded and is on the team this year.

The teams compare closely in strength as measured by handicap ratings. The United States team rates 34 goals in handicap with Hitchcock, the only 10 goal player in the world, and the others at 8 each. Britain's team rates 33 with Lacey and Roark at 9 each, Balding 8, and Guinness 7. The international matches, however, are played on the flat, or without handicap, and the ratings are only used here as a comparison.

The American team shows the effects of almost two months of hard playing in test games. The Hitchcock aggregation was defeated in the last two practice games and was ordered to stay away from polo fields until Saturday afternoon.

Whatever chances the British have, and many believe the series will run into three games, are better than they have been any time since the war. Britain is the challenger for the Westchester cup, and has suffered defeat in the last two international series. This year they combed three countries for their team.

Ponies Important Factor.

"We hope to win and make it three straight series," he said. "But if we lose we will have no excuses."

The British were equally certain they would have no excuses after the games, and at no time have they complained of their ill luck.

"Do not forget the horses," said Schwartz. "They will play a big rôle in the series. Watch Katrina, probably the fastest pony on our string, and Laura, our hardest playing four footed polo star. Hitchcock will ride them both. Socks is another pony star, and my own horse, Verne, is a real American bred polo mount."

Tobiano, the Hitchcock piebald that captured the fancy of the crowd in 1929, will be out of the game this year. Just the same, according to the trainers, Tobiano never sees a pony van leave the stables without making a dash to climb aboard.

When the blue shirted riders of Great Britain take the field against the white clad Americans a long list of notables will be seated in the boxes. When the polo officials closed their reserved seat ticket sale tonight every ticket had been sold. There remains only the 10,000 general admission tickets and standing room.

Facts and Figures

Number of matches—Two out of three—third match to be played only in case the first two matches are divided.

Schedule—First match today; second match Wednesday, Sept. 10; third match, if necessary, Saturday, Sept. 13.

GASPARO WHIPS JACK PAYNE IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Dan Gasparo pounded out a ten round decision last night over Tiger Jack Payne in the feature bout at Jones and Baumrucker stadium. Gasparo piled up winning points fighting in close. More than 2,000 watched the bouts. The receipts were $1,650.

Eddie Ran, Polish welterweight, and Bobby O'Hara boxed six rounds to a draw. Pep Justo, former Wisconsin university boy, earned a six round decision over Steve Hess by his aggressiveness and cleaner punching. Sammy Levine, Golden Gloves fighter, added another knockout to his list when Billy Knowles was counted out in the fifth round after being on the floor five times previously. Corbett Echols won a slow bout with Don Warden in six rounds.

IS DROP KICKING EASY? TRY IT IN TRIBUNE CONTEST

The cross bar on football goal posts is ten feet above the ground. The posts are 18 feet 6 inches apart. This sounds like an easy target for a drop kicker standing 20 yards distant, doesn't it?

And four seconds allowed for each of five attempts really is twice as long as is necessary. Easy? Well, enter one of THE TRIBUNE'S seven sectional drop kicking and forward passing contests which will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Sept. 20. Kick five goals and you have qualified for the city finals, Sept. 27. The champion will be THE TRIBUNE'S guest at either the Notre Dame-Navy game at South Bend, Oct. 11, or the Northwestern-Illinois contest at Champaign, Oct. 18. You have your choice.

Seven Sectional Contests.

Sectional contests will be held at Bessemer park, Washington park, Douglas park, Mills' stadium, Kelvyn park, De Paul university and Loyola university. Boys 14 years of age and under will drop kick 20 yards. Boys between 15 and 19 inclusive will kick 30 yards distant from the posts.

Then there's the forward passing contest. All boys are eligible for both the drop kicking and the passing. If you are 14 or under, you will try five passes at a circle three feet in diameter 15 yards distant. The older boys will be placed 20 yards away.

Much Practice Needed.

The excitement of the game is lacking. But when you boys start practicing for THE TRIBUNE'S tests you'll discover that drop kicking and passing need practice and more practice.

Beginning Monday THE TRIBUNE will offer instructions in the methods taught by college coaches for short distance drop kicking and forward passing. In the meantime, clip the entry blank and mail it to THE TRIBUNE. Then you will be assured of a chance to earn a trip to South Bend or Champaign.

40 Swim in I. A. C. Lake Race Today

Forty swimmers, including some of the best amateur long distance swimmers in the country, will dive into Lake Michigan at the foot of Van Buren street at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the 22d annual Illinois A. C. three mile swim.

Seven of these are from outside Chicago, and all of them are champions or runners-up in their respective districts. Ray Ruddy, defending champion, who set the record for the new course last year, and his brother, Don, represent the New York A. C. Boyd Liddle of Iowa City was Big Ten distance star a few years ago. Louis Lackner, Twin Cities champ, will swim for the John Ryan Baths of Minneapolis.

Among the Chicago leaders are Stanley Connelly, winner in 1928; Cy Nelson, who captured the Lake Shore A. C. two mile swim a month ago; Joe Lima, second to Ruddy last year, and A. A. Lausmann, who has been competing in the I. A. C. swims for nearly ten years.

Coach Sam Greller of the Jewish Peoples' institute, who placed in several river swims himself, has entered a team of five, headed by Robert Lipshin. Charles Kreuger, swimming under the colors of Jackson natatorium, may be a dark horse. I. A. C. athletes have won 17 of the 21 swims, but have no entries in today's event.

BUCS GET SEVEN RUNS IN LAST THREE INNINGS

By remaining idle while the Cubs and Giants were losing yesterday the Cardinals moved into second place, only four games behind the champions and a half game ahead of New York. The Robins, who also were idle, gained a half game and are now 5½ games behind the Cubs and one game behind the Giants.

If the Cubs continue to move along at a .500 pace, winning and losing 10 of their remaining 20 games, the Cardinals could win the pennant by taking 16 and losing 6 of the 22 games remaining on their schedule. The standing then would be:

Cubs	89	65	.578

The Giants would have to win 16 out of 21 to beat the Cubs and tie the Cardinals.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—Two tiny fellows, Paul Waner and Dick Bartell, this afternoon terrified the Cubs' troupe of veteran money players, causing the Chicagoans to execute one of the most surprising flops of the entire season.

The crowning touch in a series of late inning foldups by the Cubs was an in the park homer by Paul Waner in the ninth, which gave the Pirates an 8 to 7 victory, a fine howdy-do when you consider that at the end of the sixth the Cubs were leading, 7 to 1.

Only two of the Cubs' seven runs were earned, 'tis true. But the fact remains that going into the seventh the Chicagoans were leading, 7 to 1.

Paul Waner Triples, Scores.

Paul Waner's homer wasn't his only contribution to this latest Cub humiliation. With two out in the seventh and his brother on first, Paul tripled to score Lloyd and proceeded on home when Hornsby muffed the relay of the ball from the edge of the outfield.

Dick Bartell's crushing function was a triple, which drove in the Pirates' sixth run. Dickie then tied the score on Suhr's sacrifice fly to short center. Bartell also drove in the Pirates' first run, in the fourth inning.

Despite their performance today Lady Luck continued to smile on the Cubs, in so far as the goings on else where in the league were concerned. The Giants failed to gain and remained 4½ games in arrears, and the new second placers, the Cardinals, gained only half a game, and now are four games back.

Face Kremer Today.

Tomorrow the Cubs and Pirates play their final of the year at Forbes field. All they have to do is beat the winningest pitcher in the league, Remy Kremer, and prevent him from winning his 20th victory of the season. McCarthy hasn't decided on his pitching selection, since Charley Root, the likely choice, has been incapacitated by a sore arm.

There were, of course, several Cubs who did their part toward the project of giving Pat Malone his 18th victory of the season in today's contest. Lester Bell, for instance, socked a single, two doubles and a triple. His triple with two out in the eighth, incidentally, was the only Cub hit after the panic set in in the first of the seventh. And Gabby Hartnett knocked his 32d homer of the year and his third in two days. He did this with one on and two out in the fourth inning. So you can't blame Gabby.

Cubs' Late Hitting Weak.

Aside from the aforementioned triple by Bell with two out in the eighth the batting efforts of the entire cast were most ludicrous in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings, during which only ten batsmen faced Brame.

The Cubs started out as if they were going to make a bushel of runs in the first inning, but they had to be content with a lone marker. Bell opened the game with a line single to right and went to third when English

After the first there were two peaceful innings but in the fourth both teams opened up.

Gabby Hits No. 32.

Cuyler was safe on Traynor's bad throw, then Stephenson fouled to Bool. Cuyler stole second. Kelly lined to Comorosky. Hartnett then executed a beautiful drive over the wall in left center for his 32d homer, scoring Cuyler ahead of him. Brame threw out Malone.

The Cubs added a run in the fifth. Bell doubled to left center and went to third on English's sacrifice fly to P. Waner. Hornsby grounded to Grantham, whose throw to the plate was too late to get Bell. Wilson forced Hornsby and Cuyler flied to Lloyd Waner.

Brame's support aided the Cubs in the accomplishment of three runs in the sixth. After Traynor had thrown out Stevie, Kelly knocked out his second single of the game and his fifth in six trips to the plate. Kelly reached second and Hartnett was safe at first when Grantham dropped Bartell's throw to second.

Bell's Double Scores Two.

Malone fouled to Suhr, then Bell dropped a double between Bartell and Lloyd Waner, who quit the play, fearing a collision. Kelly and Hartnett scored on Lester's effort. English beat out an infield hit, Bell stopping at third. Hornsby singled off the right field screen, scoring Bell and putting English on third. Wilson popped to Traynor.

Traynor doubled to center and scored on Comorosky's single to center. Malone was yanked and Osborn went in. Bartell smacked Bob's first pitch for a triple to left center, scoring Comorosky, and came in himself on Suhr's sacrifice fly to Wilson. Bool backed Stevie up against the wall for this fly and Brame rolled out to Kelly.

Paul Waner's game ending homer came with one out. It was a shot to right. Cuyler made a try for a one hand catch but the ball got past him and caromed off the wall some 80 feet out of Kl's reach. Paul had to slide to get home, but that was meager consolation, you may be sure.

Cubs Still Can Defeat or Tie All N.L. Teams

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—The Cubs still have a chance to tie or defeat every club in the National league, something they did not do in 1929, despite the fact that the pennant race last year was not nearly so close as this year.

The standing in the season series with the Pirates after today's flop was: Cubs, 10; Pirates, 10. At the end of last season the ratio was Pirates, 13; Cubs, 9.

The only club with which the Cubs have completed their 1930 schedule is the St. Louis Cardinals. Each club won 11 this year, whereas in 1929 the Cubs won 15 and the Cardinals 5, two postponed games having never been played.

Dan Howley's seventh place Cincinnati Reds have the biggest chance to outpoint the champions in the season's compilation, for the Reds already have won 11 games, half of the schedule. To tie the Reds the Cubs must sweep their remaining four games with the Rhinelanders.

The Robins, Braves, and Phillies are equal cousins in the matter of games lost to the Cubs to date this year, each with 14. However, the Brooklyn club has won five from the McCarthys, whereas the Braves and Phillies have won four each. Last year the Cubs won 16 out of 22 from the Robins; 17 out of 22 from the Phillies, and 15 out of 22 from the Braves.

The Giants currently are one up on the Cubs in the season series, 10 to 9, in contrast with the 12 to 10 edge the Cubs enjoyed last year.

Woman Fan Tells Why Bruins Lead in Pennant Chase

Women fans as well as men have joined in the popular pastime of telling what's right and what's wrong with the Chicago Cubs, and nearly half of the letters received in response to THE TRIBUNE'S request for letters telling the reasons why the Cubs are leading the National league have come from women. Here's what one feminine fan thinks of the team's success:

"Bill Wrigley's willingness to spend money to give Chicago a winner and Joe McCarthy's ability to do the right thing at the right time are the outstanding reasons for the Cubs' success.

"The team as a whole is too colorful and too well balanced to pick any one or two outstanding players. Here's hoping they beat the Athletics this time. ELEANOR G. SANDQUIST,

IT'S SPIRIT THAT WINS.

"I believe the spirit of the Cubs, as a team and as individuals, has kept them in first place in the National league.

"The Cubs never lose their spirit, even though at times it looks as if they hadn't a chance in the world to win. But the Cubs don't give up. They keep on trying until the third man is out in the last inning.

"I do not by any means wish to overlook the great playing of certain individuals on the team. Certain players, and especially some of the substitutes, should be given a lot of credit. Manager McCarthy and his coaches deserve a lot of credit.

"The spirit of the team, the superb playing of some of the players, the consistency of the whole team and the coaches, and the fine management of J. V. McCarthy should bring to the Chicago Cubs the 1930 National league pennant and possibly the title of world's champions.

TWO MARLOWE SISTERS CAPTURE GIRLS' NET TITLE

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Marlowe sisters, Helen and Mercedes, of Los Angeles, Cal., today won the national junior girls' tennis double championship at the Philadelphia Cricket club. In capturing the crown they upset the first seeded doubles team, Dorothy Workman and Carolyn Babcock, also of Los Angeles, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2.

The California sisters succeeded another family team, Sarah and Mianne Palfrey of Boston. Helen and Mercedes displayed great tennis. Their stroking was powerful, their team work excellent and both were steady.

GRAYS BEATS GIANTS, 11-5.

The Homestead Grays of Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago American Giants, 11 to 5, last night in the first of a six game series at the Giants' park. The teams will meet this afternoon and again this evening.

ers by running third. Cheers and Flag Bearer had cut out a terrific early pace and they ran head and head into the stretch. They came wide at the last turn and Jockey G. Depeso shot Supreme Sweet through next to the rail and saved many lengths.

Wins by Length.

His move won the race for Supreme Sweet for she got up to beat Cheers by nearly a length. Princeton came on to be third when Flag Bearer quit badly in the final strides. Supreme Sweet rewarded her backers at $17.54 and ran the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5.

The biggest betting plunge of the season went amiss in the Kensington purse for 2 year olds when Jesse Spencer's Tiger Prince finished far back in the field of 12 after being backed from 15 to 1 to less than 2 to 1. Portcodine, at 7 to 1 in the betting, led all the way and beat the Nevada farm stables' Albazano by four lengths. Grasslands, a field horse, wound up third. Tiger Prince showed no running ability at any stage of the journey.

SARAZEN TAKES $5,000 OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Salisbury Plains, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Scoring a 70 on the last round, Gene Sarazen, stocky professional from Flushing, N. Y., today won the $5,000 J. J. Lannin memorial open golf championship with a 72 hole total of 287.

Runner up with 288 was Walter Kozak of Douglaston, N. Y., who shot rounds of 69 and 71 and held the lead until Sarazen's fourth round 70 pushed him into second place.

St. Lawrence Yacht Wins 2d Race Against St. Paul

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club finished first and third in the second race of a three race series with the White Bear Yacht club of St. Paul today. George Hamilton again piloted home the Mount Royal in first place, with A. P. B. Shearwood's Venture third. Second place went to the St. Paul boat, Canvas Back, skippered by T. Irvine, with W. Patterson's Kawa of the same city fourth.

ZEV'S RECORD IS FOX'S MARK AT BELMONT TODAY

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—With his pathway to the all-time money winning title of American turf temporarily barred by a trio of the smartest three year olds in training, Gallant Fox, the champion, will travel a mile and five furlongs over Belmont Park track tomorrow in quest of the Lawrence Realization. A win will bring him the amount needed to pass the $313,000 record of Zev.

During his three year old campaign and juvenile career, the big red horse from the barns of William Woodward has amassed more than $287,000. If the Realization pays $30,000—and it was worth slightly more than that amount to the Warm stable's The Nut last year—then the total earnings of the Fox will surpass Zev's mark by more than $4,000—that is if the Woodward star wins.

Despite his one defeat at Saratoga by Jim Dandy, the Fox, with Earl Sande again in the saddle, will face Starter George Cassidy the odds-on favorite.

The Fox-Sande combination will have only three thoroughbreds to beat around the Belmont oval, but in the trio are James Butler's Questionnaire and William Ziegler's Jr.'s Spinach. A. C. Bostwick's Yarn completes the field, and probably will be the rank outsider in the wagering.

Charley Root Added to Cubs' Hospital List

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—(Special)—The Cubs' pitching staff received another blow today when Charley Root, whose ailing right arm staged a sudden recovery on Tuesday, rejoined the hospital list. Charley, who was scheduled to pitch the final game against the Pirates here tomorrow, will be unable to work for several days at least and Manager Joe McCarthy was undecided whom to select from his meager supply of hurlers.

McCarthy did decide, however, to send Sheriff Blake back to Chicago tonight in an effort to get him in shape as soon as possible. When Blake reaches Chicago tomorrow he will consult Dr. John Davis, the club physician, and probably will go under the care of a specialist. He has been suffering from a strained muscle in his abdomen since Aug. 28, when he injured himself fielding a ball in the 2d inning game with the Cardinals.

Errors—Mulleavy, Montague. Two base hits—Porter, Hodapp [3], Mulleavy. Stolen base—Goldman. Sacrifices—Barnes, Mulleavy, Jablonowski. Bases on balls—Faber, 2; Jablonowski, 3. Struck out—Faber, 3; Braxton, 2; Jablonowski, 1. Hits—Off Faber, 8 in 7 innings; Braxton, 5 in 2. Hit by pitcher—By Braxton [Jamieson]. Passed ball—Crouse. Losing pitcher—Faber. Umpires—Geisel and Ormsby. Time, 1:34.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Possibly because they had no desire to shatter either a winning or a losing streak, the White Sox submitted meekly to the Cleveland Indians again yesterday. The submission took place by 6 to 1, thus stretching the winning string of the Tribe to seven games and at the same time giving the Pale Hose a record of six defeats in a row.

There should be no mystery about the scarcity of runs bearing a Chicago label. The answer is found in the hit column. The Sox were able to get only four safe clouts against the pitching of Pete Jablonowski, not long since an athlete in good standing at the University of Michigan. These four taps linked with three made the afternoon previous off Willis Hudlin indicate the current feebleness of the Sox attack.

It Wasn't Red's Day.

Urban Faber and Garland Braxton can be charged with letting the Indians pick up runs with comparative ease. Faber started and lost no time giving warning that it wasn't his day. He was hit hard at the outset, but escaped until the third, when two scored. Another ran home on him in the fifth. The three other Cleveland tallies didn't appear until Braxton endeavored to throw in the eighth and ninth. Braxton, like Faber, can blame Dick Porter for most of this annoyance. The man with the funny batting stance peeled off two singles and a double off Faber and one single off Braxton.

The two Indian runs which inaugurated the day's scoring in the third were slightly tainted by luck. After Montague had fanned, Porter doubled past third. Averill flied out and Faber decided it would be a good idea to pass Morgan. Hodapp followed with a fly to center, but neither Barnes nor Kerr could reach it. The result was a fluke double on which Porter and Morgan raced home. Had Barnes played the ball for a hit instead of making a hopeless attempt at a catch Morgan could have been held at third.

Sox Run Is a Gift.

The Sox had no reason to complain about luck after the way their lone run of the day was presented to them in the home third. They got it without the formality of a base hit. With one out, Jablonowski handed a walk to Kerr. Cissell slapped a grounder to Montague, but the youngster let it slip through his hands, Kerr going to third. Kerr hiked across the plate while Hodapp was throwing out Reynolds.

Porter opened the fifth with his third hit of the game, a single to right. Averill singled in the same direction, Porter dashing to third. He scored on a force out, making the count 3 to 1 against the Sox. It became 4 to 1 as soon as Braxton assumed the pitching duties in the eighth. He was welcomed noisily by Hodapp, who doubled against the left field wall. Jamieson singled to right and Hodapp registered. Then Porter exploded a single, his fourth hit, in the ninth, and eventually a single by Morgan scored him. A double by Hodapp scored Morgan.

Wes Ferrell, the Indians' star, will seek his 14th straight and his 25th win of the year in one of the two games billed for today. He might happen to draw Ted Lyons, with 20 victories to his credit, for an opponent. The others slated for work are Thomas and Brown.

From Fish Peddler to Fight Champion, Levinsky's Aim

BY WILFRID SMITH.

King Levinsky, who was born Harry Krakow some 23 years ago in New York, may or may not be one of the coming claimants for the light heavyweight championship. But if you ask Maxwell street they'll tell you he's on the title road.

KING LEVINSKY.

Young Mr. Levinsky, nee Krakow, is a reformed clown, and the test of his reformation comes Thursday night when he crawls into the Stadium ring to meet Leo Lomski, the tough old Polish lad who has been knocking 'em over these many years.

For all his youth, and the King doesn't look the mature young man of 23 he admits, he has had 39 fights in three years. These were sanctioned by various athletic commissions and, of course, do not include innumerable hit and run neighborhood brawls.

West Side Product.

Levinsky's universe has been the west side since he was 2 years old. Maxwell street has been his Michigan avenue. Maxwell street merchants never close their doors. At least, they didn't until the King started a counter attraction, and now you can't purchase a pair of shoes or a dozen frozen fish on nights the King is fighting.

Young Levinsky started and ended his education in the Garfield public school. That is, he ascended as far as the fourth grade before he developed ability to elude the truant officer. Forsaking books, the King went to work for an older sister, Lena Levi, peddling fish at her store at 730 Maxwell street. Hence the appellation of fish peddler.

Is Fighter, Not Boxer.

In the early days when his earnings from a four round bout never totaled more than ten dollars, his four sisters and two brothers were sure he would be a greater success if he stayed in the fish business. But now it's different. Tom Andrews, a Milwaukee promoter, recently offered to pay the King $4,000 for a fight with Dave Maier, and he'll get nearly that much Thursday night.

Probably Levinsky is overmatched with Lomski. His experience is inadequate, for the Pole has been at the game since 1921 and has had nearly 100 fights. Lomski's last achievement was a ten round draw with the champion, Maxie Rosenbloom.

But when was a fight determined by the record book, Maxwell street choruses. The King is a fighter, not a boxer. He is continually violating boxing's best rules. But he can hit, and, moreover, he likes to swing his right and keep on swinging. That is all Maxwell street asks.

In between times the King and his manager, Al Miller, gazed again at the huge lettering on the placards: King Levinsky vs. Leo Lomski." No wonder; it's his first appearance on the big time.

Chicago fight fans yet are unable to fathom Tony Canzoneri's willingness to meet Billy Petrolle. It isn't the money, they say, for Tony is matched with the champion of the lightweights in New York Nov. 14. It must be he believes he's Petrolle's master, they reason. Canzoneri will be here Sunday to answer all questions.

In the meantime Petrolle has shown the crowds at Kid Howard's everything necessary to stretch his Italian brother for the count. Billy has been boxing well and punching with greater power than he did here two years ago, when he stopped Kid Berg in five rounds.

"I can hit Canzoneri," Petrolle said yesterday. "He fights like I like 'em to fight, willing to stay in and swap blows."

The two ten round feature bouts and three preliminaries will cost the Stadium approximately $25,000. Canzoneri is the highest paid performer, while the three preliminary bouts are priced at $3,300. All receipts over expenses will establish the Patricia Harmon trust fund for the 4 year old daughter of the late P. T. Harmon.

fellow long enough," he said one afternoon. "Some day I will haul off and speak my piece." But Uncle Will was a union man, as he often said, and he never spoke his piece and he never will.

Never Agreed With Tunney.

He never fell in step with Mr. Tunney. One afternoon when they were riding up 5th avenue on a bus Gene overwhelmed Uncle Will with a technical lecture on the cause and effect of carbon monoxide gas. Uncle Will listened for a mile or so and finally blinked his eyes and broke through Tunney's service to observe: "Well, now, I never did figure them gasoline fumes would do a fellow any good, if that's what you're trying to tell me."

Uncle Will's happiest days, though, were spent as proprietor of the old Fairmount A C. In that time, prize fighting was contrary to law, but regularly organized and chartered clubs were permitted to conduct bouts between members for the entertainment of other members and their guests. Uncle Will began his club meetings by ascending the ring and beating on a table with a bung starter.

"Gentlemen," he would say, "and fellow members of the Fairmont Athletic club, the meeting will please come to order. The first business before the members is the reading of the minutes of the last meeting.

"I hear a motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes. I hear a second. It is moved and seconded that the reading of the minutes be dispensed with. All in favor say 'Aye.' The 'Ayes' plainly have it, so the reading of the minutes is hereby waived and I will proceed with the evening's entertainment.

"The first number will be a boxing match between Packey McFarland and Tommy Murphy, both members of this club. Kelcey, get this table out of here."

The officers used to descend on Uncle Will's club and arrest him as president every week and for the first five or six weeks we went to considerable expense hiring counsel, but after a spell the judge came to regard him as a steady customer and scaled the fines down to a nominal amount.

"I got so I could run a monthly bill with the honorable court and send in my check regularly on the first of each month for all four fines," Uncle Will recalled. "I was very good pay and the honorable court was a member of the club by that time, anyway, so I didn't even have to show up for the trials any more."

Almost Won a Fortune.

Uncle Will owned race horses and saloons, he ran a big book in the open ring and the old racing days around New York and once at Saratoga when he had retired from the turf, he parlayed a fifty dollar bill, the last money he had in the world, into a fortune in four races.

As the last race went to the post Uncle Will was in a position either to win $50,000 or borrow railroad fare back to New York.

"My horse got a very bad start and was beaten a length," said Uncle Will, "so I borrowed $20 and came back to New York. But I lost only $50, after all, and had a very exciting day for my money. And, whenever they close my book, if I don't wake up tomorrow, I'll show a profit in fun and friends."

It will be pleasant seeing Uncle Will's elephant ears going through the ropes again in the corner of a ring this fall and I am glad he did decide at the last minute not to go along quietly but to grab hold of something and kick and fight it out on the corner, though it took all summer.

SIREN WINS FIRST RACE FOR LUTZ YACHT TROPHY

Princess, owned and sailed by Ed Jedrzy-Kowski of the Jackson Park Yacht club, was second. Her time was 3:21:28. Chaperon, Samuel B. King's entry, was third in 3:27:25. Intruder, John O'Rourke's defender of the trophy, found no help in the prevailing light airs and finished last.

SPORT TRAINERS HOLD TWO DAY MEET AT U. OF C.

Athletic trainers from ten universities of the middle west are attending a two day meeting which began at the University of Chicago yesterday.

The purpose of the meeting is to form a national association of athletic trainers. Simon Benson of the University of Chicago has been chosen as temporary chairman.

SIX TEAMS HOLD WORLD SERIES MEETING MONDAY

Although the pennant race in the National league is still far from settled, K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, started preparations for the world series yesterday by calling a conference of representatives of the six teams which still have a mathematical chance of winning one of the two major league championships. The six clubs will meet Monday at Landis' office and decide dates for the series, shares of the proceeds, and other details of the world championship struggle.

From the National league Landis invited the Chicago Cubs, the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Giants, and the Brooklyn Robins, all of whom are still in the fight for the pennant, while the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators were invited to attend as the two possible American league winners.

The series this year will open at the park of the American league champion in accordance with the policy of alternating the location of the opening game. The series last year opened at Wrigley field. While Landis did not indicate when the post-season battle would begin, it was believed that the first game would be scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 30, or Wednesday, Oct. 1, at either Philadelphia or Washington.

FEED SHORTAGE PROBLEM GROWS IN MANY STATES

Supply for Live Stock Is Lowest Since 1901.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—[Special.]—Shortage of live stock feed due to the drought has developed into a national problem, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde declared today in announcing the results of a country-wide survey by county extension agents. The feed supply, he said, is the shortest since 1901.

In a belt of 28 states, covering most of the territory from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard, the supplies of feed grains and hay, on the basis of the number of animals, are only 70 per cent of the average production of the last five years, the survey showed.

"The situation has become more critical in the areas first affected and the new areas to the north have suffered," Mr. Hyde said, referring to the spread of the drought into northern Indiana, northern Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Corn Suffers Further.

"The reports show the corn crop suffered further serious deterioration during the first three weeks of August, deterioration being shared by all states east of the Missouri river. Pastures which on Aug. 1 were poorer than any summer in fifty years deteriorated still further during the first three weeks of August. The hay crop is short and the failure of pasture has already compelled many farmers to start feeding their live stock.

"The feed supply is now shorter than in any year since 1901. Considering the extent of the area affected and the numbers of live stock now on farms, the situation already is probably more serious than in 1901, and adequate moisture for crop growth is still lacking in most of the drought areas."

Wisconsin Best Off.

Of the 28 states surveyed, the only state showing supplies in excess of the five year average was Wisconsin with 109 per cent. States showing less than 80 per cent of the five year average were Arkansas, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Virginia. The percentage for Illinois was 75; for Indiana, 76; for Michigan, 80, and for Iowa, 84.

Despite the feed shortage farmers are showing no inclination to dispose of their stock, most of them intending to buy feed rather than liquidate their stock herds at present prices, while only the usual number of farmers in the areas with a feed surplus intend to buy stock rather than sell their surplus feed, Mr. Hyde said. Judged by the amount of feed available, he added, "it is apparent that some change will need to be made in present plans."

Beauty Shop Is Bombed; Second One in Two Days

A bomb was exploded late last night in the entrance of Betty's Beauty Shoppe at 2247 North Cicero avenue. The blast tore the entrance to the building and shattered its windows. The damage was estimated at $200. Cragin police could not find the owner of the shop. It was the second bombing of a beauty shop in two days. The Madame Love Beauty shop at 1949 Lawrence avenue was bombed Thursday night.

PUPILS SHIFTED TO NEW SCHOOL DESPITE PROTEST

School children formerly attending the Robert Emmet school were crossing Washington boulevard yesterday and attending classes in the new Spencer school addition in accordance with a board of education order relocating school boundaries. West park police protected the pupils at street intersections.

The boundary change was opposed by W. R. James, president of the west parks, Capt. William Schramm of the west park police, and State Senator A. W. Harris. They termed the change a "menace to the children and an unnecessary piece of administration, forcing children to cross busy streets merely to fill seats in a new school."

Despite the protests the order will stand, Supt. Bogan announced. The changes were for the children's good, he said, and will enable each child to attend full time classes and to be properly housed instead of in a portable school.

Quake Damages Houses in Algeria; Scares Inhabitants

ALGIERS, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Several earth shocks were felt yesterday in the region of the Jurjura mountains, 50 miles from Algiers, but no injuries were learned. A few native houses collapsed at Fort National, Michelet, and Maillot, and the inhabitants were badly frightened.

PESHAWAR, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A slight earthquake shook Peshawar today. Early reports said that as far as is known there was no damage.

STORE MANAGER ROBBED.

SEEK PERMISSION TO CHANGE ANGLE OF LINDY BEACON

As a result of the criticisms by mail pilots who have been watching the new Lindbergh light on top of the Palmolive building in their night flights to and from Chicago, steps will be taken to correct the direction of the light. Officials of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company stated yesterday that the reports of pilots will be sent to the department of commerce aeronautics branch in the hope that permission may be granted to alter the pitch and number of revolutions of the light. Government rules provide that the beacon be canted two degrees above the horizon, which pilots say is too high, and that the light must revolve twice each minute, which is too slow, according to the airmen.

BOY NIPS FUSE TO BOMB, THEN GOES TO JAIL

Denver, Colo., Sept. 5. — (AP) — The paths of glory led but to the city jail for 16 year old Ned Meyer.

The youth was removed from the rôle of hero and placed in a cell when, police said, he admitted lighting the bomb as well as extinguishing it.

"I did it because I wanted Margaret and her folks to think I was a hero," police quoted Meyer as saying.

Courtroom Killer Sane, California Jury Finds

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Frank D. Keaton, Inglewood real estate man, was found sane today by a Superior court jury in his trial on a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity for the slaying of Motley H. Flint, financier. Keaton will be sentenced either to death or life imprisonment.

Flint was shot in court on last July 14, after he left the witness stand in a civil case. Keaton blamed the banker for his alleged financial losses.

ENDS LIFE BY GAS.

CITY'S BUSINESS CHIEFS BELIEVE TIDE IS TURNING

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chicago business men are an optimistic, go-getting lot. They have gone through business depression without dismay and now are firmly convinced that the tide is turning. In fact, they expect considerable quickening in business activity during the last three months of this year.

A symposium of the views of these leaders will appear today in Chicago Commerce, the weekly publication of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Furthermore, the opinions expressed will be in line with the tenor of the weekly mercantile reviews appearing last night. These described conditions as fairly satisfactory and noted a maintenance of the better trends that marked the latter part of August.

Harry A. Wheeler, vice chairman First National bank—My abiding optimism runs beyond 1930. It is based on continuing adjustments in stripping business of its extravagances, writing down its inventories, and realizing that business means work.

Cites Over-Cautiousness.

Thomas E. Wilson, president Wilson & Co.—There has been a tendency to exaggerate the present situation, with the result that many persons have worked themselves into an uncalled for state of overcautiousness. Obviously, however, such a condition cannot last, and it is this fact that makes me feel particularly optimistic about the future.

John McKinlay, president Marshall Field & Co.—We are looking forward to a conservative and very active fall business. From the statements of out of town merchants we know that conditions in the country are sound.

Fred W. Sargent, president Chicago and North Western railroad.—Our natural and financial resources, combined with the energy and industrial genius of the country, will produce a marked revival in due time.

E. J. Buffington, president Illinois Steel company.—I am of the opinion that confident expectation of continued progress in the commercial and industrial welfare of our country is fully justified.

George B. Everitt, president Montgomery Ward & Co.—I feel we can look upon the fourth quarter with more than the usual optimism. The close of 1929 was not particularly bright, and I feel certain that 1930 will be an improvement over that period.

R. F. Allcock, president Universal Atlas Cement company.—Comparisons between the fourth quarter this year and the fourth quarter last year may be favorable in those lines which were not immediately affected by the stock market crash.

Trade Outlook.

The enlarged activity, with the accompanying access of cheerfulness noted in the last week of August, has made further progress during the first week of September, Bradstreet's review says.

"There is a growing disposition to believe that the bottom of the depression has passed in the preceding two months," it continues. "In no particular case, aside from full activity in the pipe trade, are operations at the largest or even large volume, but the various stirrings of fall buying seem to argue at least a fair expansion of fall purchasing and a recognition that curtailment has been drastic and that prices are far below recent years."

More promising aspects, more tangible reasons for encouragement and a further strengthening of sentiment marks the general business situation with the passing of what is traditionally the dullest period of a year," Dun's review says. "Precedent is being followed now, with an acceleration of activity as September opens, and the upward trend is the more significant in the present instance because of the extent and scope of the preceding recession."

Mid-West States Utilities Buys Kansas Phone Firm

Mid-West States Utilities company has acquired the entire outstanding common stock of the Kansas Telephone company, one of the most important systems in the state, serving 23 counties in the eastern and central sections, according to Lon J. Jester, vice president. Mid-West States has arranged to meet all the Kansas company's interest requirements on funded debt and has offered its own obligations for notes of the Kansas company which have matured.

Protests Rail Rates on Fresh Deciduous Fruits

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—A complaint charging that freight rates on fresh deciduous fruits from points of origin in California to South Dakota destinations are unreasonable and excessive was filed today with the interstate commerce commission by the South Dakota board of railroad commissioners. It asked the commission to order the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe and other railroads to put into effect lower and "reasonable" rates.

Ford Motor Co. Places Big Machine Tool Order

The Ford Motor company has placed one of the largest automotive machine tool orders of the year with the Bullard Machine company of Bridgeport, Conn., according to Steel, formerly the Iron Trade Review. The publication says the order includes high production lathes valued at more than $[illegible],000.

Carbide and Carbon Tower ChangesHands

BY AL CHASE.

Nineteen thirty's biggest real estate deal was closed yesterday when the Oxweld Acetylene company bought the forty story Carbide and Carbon building, at the southwest corner of Michigan avenue and East South Water street, and the leasehold estate. The price paid was not disclosed. There were no brokers in the transaction. Sonneshein, Berkson, Lautmann & Levinson were attorneys for the seller, the 230 North Michigan Avenue Building corporation. Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks represented the buyer.

The Oxweld Acetylene company is a subsidiary of the Union Carbide and Carbon company of New York. It occupies ten floors in the Carbide and Carbon building. The structure was designed by Burnham Brothers and is one of America's first colored skyscrapers, having exterior walls of dark green terra cotta with gold trim on the street elevations and with green brick to match on the other sides.

$8,210,000 Term Rental.

The ground is owned by Kate A. Lawler, Eugene K. Lydon, Marion L. Colnon and Leila L. Colnon. They leased it to Henry Paschen on Feb. 1, 1927, for ninety-five years at an annual rental of $70,000 for the first twelve years; then $85,000 for twenty years and $90,000 annually for sixty-three years. The term rental is $8,210,000.

Mr. Paschen assigned the lease to the 230 North Michigan Avenue Building corporation in 1928 and construction on the green and gold skyscraper was commenced. The purchase of the building and leasehold estate was made subject to two mortgages, a first of $3,400,000 and a second of $750,000. The building fronts 84½ feet on Michigan avenue and 131 feet on East South Water street.

Ten Story Hotel Sold.

The ten story Kenrose apartment hotel at 6417 Kenwood avenue, lot 100 x165, has been sold by the Kenrose Hotel Building corporation, of which Peter E. Jackson is president and Nat M. Jackson is secretary, to Norman E. Brophy for an undisclosed price. John R. O'Connor was broker.

The Whelan Drug company has leased the store at the northwest corner of Madison and Austin, in Oak Park, from Louis, Samuel and Christ Sothras for a ten year term at a minimum annual rental of $6,000 and in addition 6 per cent on gross sales each year in excess of $100,000, 7 per cent if over $150,000 and 8 if over $200,000. The C. F. Noyes National Realty company was broker.

AUGUST MARKS TURN FOR BETTER, PARSON ASSERTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5. — The F. W. Woolworth company reported today a decline of 9.7 per cent in sales for August. The total was $22,055,003, compared with $24,446,805 in the corresponding month of 1929. Receipts for the first eight months of 1930 amounted to $174,113,198, compared with $182,777,983, a decrease of 4.7 per cent.

H. T. PARSON.

H. T. Parson, president, said sales for May, June, July and August of 1929 covered the company's fiftieth anniversary sales effort and showed a gain in those four months of $11,357,174.

"Beginning with September, 1929," he said, "business fell off very much indeed. The last four months of 1929 showed an increase in combined sales of $609,363, so that the last fourth months of 1930 should make up quite a bit of the loss for the four special months of last year.

"The week ending Aug. 9 showed a turning point in our business, as every week following that showed considerable gain. The last three weeks of August showed a gain of $1,266,875 over sales of the week ended Aug. 9, when the turning point came."

CHARGE FRAUD IN FLOATING OF BOND ISSUES

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Four men were indicted by the federal grand jury here today on charges of conspiracy to defraud corporations and others by pretending to float bond issues for them.

Lewis is awaiting trial in the Philadelphia county courts for alleged fraud in obtaining an advance fee to float a bond issue and is also under $10,000 bail awaiting a decision by the higher courts of Washington, D. C., on his conviction with Edward Fell Lukens of Philadelphia and several others for another alleged advance fee operation.

Postal Inspector A. T. Hawksworth said that Lewis and Brady operated under various company names and offered to examine the properties of remining companies that needed refinancing and underwrite bond issues. Before they undertook any work, he said, they insisted upon advance fees and then did nothing to carry out their promises.

Among the corporations the indicted men are alleged to have defrauded or attempted to defraud are the Alloy Steel corporation, Inc.; Great Western Development company; Crater Mines, Inc.; Hamma Hamma Power and Paper company, Inc.; Livingston Gold Mining company, Inc.; Western Nordanda Mines, Magna Gold Mines company, National Tin corporation, Neal Mining company, Pacific Gold Placer corporation, Universal Royalties corporation, Vanderbilt Mines, Inc., and E. H. Wood, Inc.

DETAILS OF NEW DIAMOND MATCH SETUP OUTLINED

To List Certificates of Deposit Here.

Details of the reorganization plan of the Diamond Match company, leading factor in American match production, were revealed yesterday with the approval by the governors of the Chicago Stock exchange of the listing of certificates of deposit for 170,000 shares of common stock of the company which is now outstanding.

Under the plan of recapitalization stockholders are being asked to deposit their holdings with the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company and the Bank of America National association. The deposit is to be made before Oct. 15 and it is intended that the plan will be consummated by Dec. 15, 1930. The plan calls for reincorporation of the company in Delaware or such state as may be designated by the stockholders' committee, which consists of E. M. Stevens, R. P. Grant, and W. R. Begg.

Will Transfer Assets.

Assets of the present Illinois company will be transferred to the new company. It is planned to issue in exchange for each share of the present capital stock five shares of 6 per cent cumulative participating preferred stock of $25 par value and four shares of no par common stock of the new corporation. The preferred stock will be entitled to cumulative dividends of 6 per cent annually and to share with the common stock in further dividends. After the common stock has received $1.50 per share the preferred will be entitled to an additional 2 per cent.

Present stockholders under the plan will receive 850,000 shares of preferred stock and 680,000 shares of common stock of the new company. In addition 20,000 shares will be used by the stockholders' committee for payment of commissions and other expenses in the operation of the plan. It is expected that an additional 350,000 shares of common stock will be sold to bankers.

If all of the stock of the present company is not deposited the securities of the new company, which would have been issuable in case they had participated in plan, shall be reserved for the issuance to such nonparticipating holders in the future of for other purposes as the committee may determine. It was stated that if the plan is not consummated by Dec. 15 the committee may extend the date not later than 90 days from that time.

A Leading Factor.

It was announced at the annual meeting of the company last March that a plan of recapitalization and reincorporation was being prepared. The Illinois company had no funded debt.

The firm has been the leading factor in the American match industry and has had large interests outside that field. It is a large holder of timber lands and is widely engaged in the manufacture and distribution of wood products.

Officials recently denied the rumors that the company would establish plants abroad to manufacture matches for importation into the United States. The reports gained currency because the ten year agency contract between Diamond and the Swedish Match company covering distribution of Swedish matches in this country expires Dec. 31 and will not be renewed.

Fox Film Gets Interest in Australian Theaters

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—Fox Film corporation today announced the acquisition of a substantial interest in Hoyt's theaters in Australia. This circuit has theaters in Australia, and, according to Harley L. Clarke, president of Fox Film, "the mutuality of interests brought about by this purchase will equally benefit the Australian motion picture industry and the Fox Film corporation."

Survey Finds That Oil Industry Is Healthier

The statistical position of the oil industry, for the moment at least, is in the most healthy state attained this year, a current survey by Standard Statistics company says. Production of crude is currently at the lowest point reached since 1928, and with proration in all active territories throughout the country, stocks of crude petroleum are being moderately reduced.

Northwest Bancorporation Adds Two More Units

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Security State bank of Norfolk and the Miners and Merchants bank of Roundup, Mont., today were added to the northwest Bancorporation membership. The Norfolk bank is the seventh in Nebraska to join the group while the Roundup bank is the eleventh Bancorporation unit in that state.

Squires Urges Employment Stabilization

BY SCRUTATOR.

Unemployment is the most spectacular and the most important of the existing economic troubles. Much as this is realized, it is debatable whether enough thought has been given to alleviating it, either by industrial leaders generally or by government bureaus.

Statistics on the out of work are, to say the least, still vague and perhaps deceptive. Census bureau figures, as gathered in the spring, have been issued in such a form that without analysis they may give too bright a picture. Chicago, reported as well up in the employment list, is shown with 4.3 per cent of the population unemployed. Since not many more than 40 per cent of the population normally are capable of earning, our unemployed possibly reach more than 10 per cent of the working population.

Method Is Criticized.

Even the method of getting at the definition of an unemployed person has been criticized unfavorably. One such criticism came from Prof. Charles E. Persons, who resigned from the census bureau because he believed misrepresentations were being made; that the unemployed forces were larger than they appeared in the compilations.

Dr. B. M. Squires, arbitrator for the clothing industry in Chicago, is one who believes that the whistling in the dark method of curing or minimizing unemployment is wrong, and that some action is needed now to stabilize work for as many men as possible, even if only as a temporary measure.

Clothing Makers' Plan.

The clothing makers are, perhaps, working on as clearly defined and intelligent a plan of stabilized employment as any industry in the country. For some years the large manufacturers have been keeping their working forces on pay rolls even in depression periods. When work is slack the workers have employment a reduced number of days or hours per week. They have all averaged about the equivalent of thirty-four weeks a year of full time, forty-four hours a week work annually for several years.

Something like an extension of this plan to industry in general is recommended by Dr. Squires.

"From the community standpoint," he said, "it is better to have forty families with half the usual weekly income than twenty families with a full week's income and twenty with none. In slow times, when the obvious surplus of labor has been removed already, it would seem wise for employers to keep as many workers on the job as possible, even on reduced hours.

Many Possibilities.

"The possibilities for individual firms doing this, at the same time keeping forces nearly intact, have not been exhausted. As a long time proposition something requiring cooperative planning may have to be resorted to. Bankers, distributors, and manufacturers could, in theory, get together and hold down excessive production in flush times. On a really effective scale this might require combinations or cartels that would be violations of the present anti-trust laws."

Lest the unemployment situation be made to appear here as too gloomy it may be pointed out that a third or two-fifths of the present number unemployed possibly were also unemployed during the last year or two; that even in the boom times of 1929 there were more than a few who could not find regular work. It is likely that the general volume of trade, by unit, is not more than 5 per cent from the high level of 1929. But the distribution of the loss has fallen unequally to burden those who are out of work, and a more stabilized setup might aid them.

GETS OPTION ON 100,000 SHARES OF CELOTEX STOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—The plan of creating a voting trust and revising the financial program of the Celotex company of Chicago, gives White, Weld & Co. and associates an option to purchase 100,000 common shares of the company's stock within five years at $15 a share, it was disclosed here by the detailed announcement.

Of the 100,000 common shares, or voting trust certificates, White, Weld & Co. are to reserve options to purchase 25,000 shares for the management of the company. The options are to be distributed within three years.

In a letter sent to stockholders of the company the management urges that the plan be approved. "The plan is designed," the letter says, "to take care of the cash needs of the company and to carry the business forward with increased earnings as well as to reestablish a proper market value for the common stock."

WHEAT MARKET SHAKES FEELING OF PESSIMISM

Many Factors Help Send Prices Up.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The pessimistic feeling which prevailed in grain circles at the close on Thursday largely vanished overnight, and a belief that the end of the downward trend in wheat values was about at an end was freely expressed yesterday. There was a better class of buying in wheat than for some time, and, while northwestern hedging pressure was again in evidence, prices moved up steadily. The finish was within a fraction of the top, with net gains of 1⅞@2c, with September 83¼@83¾c; December, 89¼c; March, 93¼@93⅝c, and May, 96¼c.

A material betterment in the European demand for cash wheat, with export sales of 1,500,000 bu to 2,000,000 bu in all positions; the best domestic milling demand for this season of the year in a long time, sales aggregating 127,000 bu; a bulge of 1⅛@1⅝d in Liverpool, and a strong Winnipeg market were all factors in bringing about the change in sentiment.

Sees Bigger Trade Ahead.

Lack of speculative buying power has been a most important market influence in wheat, according to the trade, and some claim that the prevailing low level of values is due largely to the pessimistic attitude of speculative and other buyers, with the result that prices have dropped lower than warranted by economic conditions.

A summary of the grain situation by George E. Saunders, with J. S. Basche & Co., attracted a great deal of attention, and was said by some observers to have been a large factor in changing sentiment. Mr. Saunders said the continued lack of realization on the part of the public of the immense shortage in our grain and other feed crops this year is amazing, but the lack of speculation cannot permanently keep prices down in defiance of grain and feed shortage.

The outlook, as he sees it, is for the closest adjustment ever known between domestic supply and customary domestic consumption. The crops and carryover of the five grains for 1930 total tremendously less than last year's disappearance, which was only moderate.

Predicts a Grain Pinch.

As Mr. Saunders sees it, even using all our available wheat supplies ourselves would not be sufficient nearly to compensate for corn and other feed losses. Using all the rye and oats in addition to the wheat would not supply the deficit and live stock may actually have to be liquidated for want of food. Just when this pinch will come it is impossible to predict.

Big feed manufacturers say their salesmen report farmers are feeding heavily out of their homegrown stuff and such reports suggest that by early winter at least the tightness of the cash and feed situation will be plainly seen by every one. Mr. Saunders expects that cash grain merchandisers, exporters, feed and corn products makers, cereal and flour millers and the grain pits will all experience a tremendous expansion in business about the same time.

Corn Prices Slip.

Rumors were current on the exchange during the day that the so-called restrictions on speculative trading had been removed, but those in close touch with actual conditions said the wish was father to the thought. However, it is understood that important developments may be pending.

Buying of wheat and selling of corn to close spreads, while helping along the advance in the former grain, had a depressing effect on corn, and the latter closed ¼@⅜c lower, with September showing the most strength, finishing at 98⅛@98¼c, while the December was 92⅛@92¼c, and May, 95⅝@95⅞c.

Speculation Holds Up.

Speculative trading in grain during the first 8 months of 1930 does not show the falling off in the volume of business so much in evidence in the stock market. Purchases on the Chicago board of trade during the January-August period, inclusive, aggregated 12,578,222,000 bu, compared with 14,580,636,000 bu in 1929, the reduction being about evenly divided between wheat and corn. The loss was approximately 10,000,000 bu per day as compared with the previous year.

Commission houses were on the buying side of oats and the close was ¼@⅜c higher, with September 39⅜c, and December 43⅝@43½c. Locals and scattered longs sold.

Bonds Rise as Funds Flow Into Market

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The almost steady flow of investment funds into the listed bond market swelled again to the volume reached before Labor day today and lifted the average price of 30 leading issues to the highest level since 1927.

The weekly federal reserve condition statements, showing that the Sept. 1 settlements had been handled smoothly, with very slight release of credit by the reserve system, was regarded as a sign that low credit rates might be expected throughout the autumn months despite the seasonal demands. If there is to be any liquidation of fixed income bearing securities to pay Sept. 15 income taxes, there has been little sign of it as yet.

Some irregularity persisted, as some of the lower yield issues were sold, but the trend continued upward. In the foreign dollar bonds the Latin-American issues in the main rallied further. A few of the European issues eased a little. A feature of the public utilities was a strong demand for the New York tractions, reflecting rumors that the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit management has acquired control of Interborough, which may speed unification. Several of the second grade rails joined the upturn in the prime carrier obligations. Industrials were largely quiet.

Boston and Maine 5s D, Brooklyn Manhattan Transit sinking fund 6s, Chicago Great Western 4s, Erie 5s of 1975, Interborough stamped 5s, Missouri Pacific adjustment 4s, and Western Maryland 4s all advanced fractionally in large scale buying. St. Paul 5s and Baltimore and Ohio 5s D each gained about a point. In the Pennsylvania group the panhandle issues rose a point or more to new highs in a few sales. The 4½s of the Fonda, Johnstown and Gloversville railroad, a New York state traction, jumped 4 points.

Among the convertible issues Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron 6s were active, rising more than a point. International Telephone convertible 4½s, however, lost a point. Warner Bros. convertible debentures held steady.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—The Curtiss-Wright corporation today reported net loss of $5,351,661 for the six months ended June 30. No comparison with last year is available, the company having been formed in August, 1929. In the first quarter this year Curtiss-Wright had a net loss of $1,620,920.

The detailed income account for the half year ended June 30, 1930, shows manufacturing loss amounted to $1,850,030; airports and service subsidiaries losses totaled $1,679,819, and inventory adjustment and development engineering losses totaled $2,031,307.

Reports were also issued for the two operating subsidiaries of Curtiss-Wright corporation, which is a holding company. Wright Aeronautical corporation reported a net loss of $889,388 after charges in the quarter ended June 30, compared with a net loss of $384,857 in the preceding quarter and net profit of $820,572, or $1.36 a share, in the June quarter last year. For the six months this year net loss was $1,274,245, compared with net profit of $1,354,497, or $2.25 a share, in the first half last year.

Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company in the June quarter had a net loss of $138,061, compared with a net loss of $61,449 in the preceding quarter and net profit of $692,506, or $1.98 a share, in the second quarter last year. The net loss for the first six months this year was $199,510, compared with net profit of $1,078,743, including $663,828 from the sale of securities in the first half last year.

Sales of Canada Dry Ginger Ale Increase

Canada Dry Ginger Ale August sales were 10 per cent above the like month in 1929. Earnings also exceeded the 1929 month, President D. Saylor said.

"In addition," he continued, "the company has just placed its largest raw material order. The order runs into such quantity that material savings have been effected. Manufacturing needs for rest of this year and well into 1931 will be covered by the materials included."

Atwater Kent Adding Many Workers to Staff Daily

Atwater Kent Manufacturing company announced today that hundreds of new employés are being added daily and the demand for new receivers indicates a present buying power exceeding that of a year ago. Production now approximates 4,000 sets a day and the company's schedule calls for still further increases.

GASOLINE PRICES RISE AS SURPLUS IS CUT DOWN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 5.—Improvement in prices and in the tone of the market is reported in gasoline circles both in the west and the southwest today. Fort Worth, Tex., advices stated that the price of gasoline in tank car lots was firmer in all markets throughout that state. Chicago reported that the price of gasoline of U. S. motor grade had been advanced to a range of 6 to 6¼ cents a gallon. The market heretofore had been 5⅝ to 6¼ cents.

Improvement in the gasoline market is ascribed to the gradual reduction in surplus stocks of gasoline due to the policy of refiners in cutting down runs of crude oil to stills and thereby reducing the output. Stocks of gasoline have decreased about 15,000,000 barrels from the peak of the year and now are at about the lowest level since last December.

Allis-Chalmers Unfilled Orders Are $16,217,000

Unfilled orders of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company Sept. 1 amounted to $16,217,000, compared with $16,699,000 as of Aug. 1 and $17,833,000 July 1.

BULLS TURN ON BEARS TO SCORE IN DAY'S TRADE

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, Sept. 5.—It was the bulls' turn to score in the stock market dealings today and closing prices were better all around. It was just as much of a professional affair as ever, however, and the result convinced nobody.

The change about from yesterday, when the bear element had an inning, reflected merely the trading impulses of the moment, based on "technical" considerations, and the close from all accounts and appearances left the professional rank and file about as near evenly divided as ever in their judgment of the direction which any prolonged movement may take.

Short covering was the chief factor of the day's improvement. Special developments of localized importance helped buying here and there, as for instance, the optimistic statement of H. T. Parson, head of F. W. Woolworth, which resulted in a little boomlet in retail trade stocks, and a report that an important development is on the fire in connection with the New York traction unification project which lent zest to a demand for the shares of these companies. Money was easy as ever and news in the main as colorless.

Upper Class Stocks Strong.

So-called "upper class" stocks were uniformly strong. United States Steel providing an inspiring example with an upshoot of 3⅛ points, American Can doing even better by advancing 3¼, and such other stalwarts as Telephone, General Electric, and General Motors trailing along with gains of 1 to 2 points or more.

Some of the fast movers did much better. Auburn Auto jumped 9⅜ points, Diamond Match advanced 8, Case Threshing Machine 7⅜, Eastman Kodak 5¼, Checker Cab 5⅛, and Vanadium and Worthington Pump 4 points each.

Trading in low priced securities was the broadest in weeks, such stocks as American Radiator, Columbia Graphophone, International Nickel, and Kelly Tire appeared frequently on the tape in long strings at rising prices and gains of from a fraction to nearly 2 points were the rule with them. The activity in Columbia Graphophone was due to the reassuring remarks of the head of the company at the annual meeting in London. Checker Cab got its strength from a report that it would acquire or merge with the Parmelee Transportation.

Traction Stocks Active.

The activity in New York traction stocks came as a sequel to a revival of interest in the bonds of the affected companies yesterday. Virtually without exception the traction shares scored sharp advances. Gains in that group running to quite substantial proportions.

Interborough, after having been inactive for several days, reappeared on the tape at much improved levels and demand was good for Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Manhattan Elevated, modified-guaranteed shares and also Third Avenue.

August Auto Output Is 240,100 Cars, Trucks

August automobile production in the United States and Canada totaled 240,100 cars and trucks, against 272,561 in July, and 512,842 in August last year, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce estimates.

AUBURN CAPTAINS CHICAGO STOCKS IN UPWARD TREK

Increased Public Buying Noted by Buyers.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Relieved of the selling pressure which checked the market on Thursday, stocks moved briskly forward on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Sponsors of various issues took advantage of the situation and gave their favorites a good send-off. Gains in the closing list ranged from one to nearly ten points.

Sales volume showed considerable expansion over the previous day's business, with a total of 190,500 shares changing hands. The gain in sales was interpreted by many as an indication of increased public participation rather than professional trading. This interpretation was corroborated in part by reports from the floor of some improvement in commission house buying.

The market opened slightly higher and held its advantage. Final quotations in most instances represented the best prices of the day. The trading was the most active on the exchange in weeks.

Auburn, Majestic Lead.

The most spectacular gains were made by Auburn Automobile and Majestic Household. Under aggressive support the motor issue shot up nearly ten points to a finish at 123. Sales in the stock approximated 2,400 shares, which is an unusually heavy turnover for the stock on the Chicago exchange.

The shorts in Majestic, who forced the issue down to 46½ on the previous day, were busy covering, and the price rebounded more than 6 points.

Among the specialties which gathered in gains were one or two issues which have not figured prominently in recent trading. Iron Fireman came to the front with an advance of two points. A pickup in volume in United States Radio and Marshall Field was noticeable, and each made moderate improvement. The rumor that Libby, McNeill will soon be placed on a dividend basis, which has bobbed up again in the last couple of days, evidently brought some buying in that stock, which closed up over a point.

General Theaters in Demand.

General Theaters was in fair demand, advancing to 36½, while Electric Household retrieved a fraction of the loss sustained on the previous day. Grigsby was more active and slightly improved at the close.

In the utility group Middle West and Cities Service were actively dealt in, but did not show any significant gain. Chicago Corporation moved up a fraction on sales of 10,000 shares, while the preferred gained over a point. Corporation Securities was up about a point.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Rumors current here and in New York yesterday said that negotiations for the merger of the Parmelee Transportation company and the Checker Cab Manufacturing company into a $30,000,000 concern had been completed. A formal announcement of the deal is expected shortly. Besides owning control in transportation firms in several eastern cities the Parmelee company controls the Chicago Yellow Cab company. Officials of the Chicago company said they had heard the merger rumors, but had no definite information on the subject. John J. Raskob is a heavy stockholder in Checker Cab.

Close at Hand.

Wall street believes that important developments are close at hand in the affairs of Loew's, Inc. The company's report for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, last, is expected to be out soon showing net equal to around $10 a share. An effort is afoot, so the story goes, to have the board increase the dividend rate.

Cushion of Bids.

Those who have been following the American Superpower situation closely in the last few months say the technical position of the stock has been improved in the recent trading. The stock was widely "tipped" a short while ago and when the move failed to materialize professionals were active as sellers. This short "line" has not yet been covered, it is said, and has provided a cushion of bids under the market.

Sells Near Asset Value.

Electric Shareholdings is selling almost on par with the asset value of the stock, as set forth in the recent statement of the management. This covered the six months ended June 30, 1929. Net income was $2,264,530 after expenses, taxes, interest, and after setting aside $641,923 proportion of value assigned to stock dividends transferred to investment reserve.

Top yesterday, $9.25; average, $8.25.

Medium and weighty hogs were scarce and in good demand at additional gains of 10@15c yesterday, while light light finished weak. Competition centered on hogs averaging 250@300 lbs, although stock of outstanding quality, weighing downward to 190 lbs, shared in the early gain.

The extreme top at $11.30 was 15c above the previous day's top, while the general average showed 10c gain and $10.20. With all interests buying, there was a better clearance and the accumulated supply was reduced to 30,000 at the close, including many held off the market in hopes of light supplies during the next few days.

Monday Heavies Bid $11.30.

Heavy hogs averaging 260@310 lbs, for next Monday's delivery, were bid $11.30 on the "to arrive" market yesterday. Light packing sows for today and Monday were bid $9.50 and heavy grades for the same days $9.00. Trading was slow on the futures market, but prices held about steady. September mediums sold at $10.75 and December mediums at $9.05. Bids for this month's feeding lambs were unchanged at $8.50@7.00.

The meager supply of 2,500 cattle consisted largely of medium grades that showed the week's sharp decline. The few good to choice grades available were about in line with the high point of the week, although top sales were lower because of the absence of highly finished yearling steers.

Fifty-six yearling steers and heifers sold at $12.35, top for load lots, while $12.50 was paid for 12 steers averaging 1,040 lbs. While top steers are at the highest point of the week, medium grades are closing as much as $1.00 below early last week. Cows and heifers were weak at the recent decline. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were more plentiful and ruled weak to lower.

Lambs Recover Loss.

Demand for lambs expanded when top prices slid below the $9.00 line Thursday and there was a sharp recession of prices yesterday. Gains of 50@60c were scored, some classes closing in line with the high point of the week. Top westerns at $9.25 equaled the week's peak, while natives brought $9.00.

The general average price of lambs at $8.15 was the same as Tuesday, the high day this week. Aged sheep and yearlings were unchanged. Feeder lambs were slow to sell, but best kinds were quoted steady, showing gains of mostly 50c since a week ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 5,000 hogs, and 4,000 sheep, against 590 cattle, 6,536 hogs, and 395 sheep the previous Saturday, and 193 cattle, 4,950 hogs, and 1,125 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 32,000 to 45,000. P. Shalk marked 45,000; J. M. Waters, C. Southwick, and R. W. Thorne, 40,000; G. W. Chandler and R. W. Trotter, 38,000; W. C. White and A. G. Welhener, 37,000; E. S. Waterbury, 36,000; R. B. Elliott and P. M. Sherwood, 35,000; S. Strand, 33,000, and F. Knutzen, 32,000.

"GOOD THING FOR BETHLEHEM TO REMODEL PLANTS"

Youngstown, O., Sept. 5.—(AP)—W. C. Kelly, vice president in charge of operations at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, testified today that the company favored the merger with Bethlehem Steel corporation because Sheet and Tube faced the prospect of seeing its equipment made obsolete and he thought it would be a "good thing if he could get Bethlehem money to remodel our plants."

Changes in the process of pipe manufacture placed definitely before the Youngstown company the problem of adapting its plants, Kelly said. With regard to the steel corporation, the witness said he could not see where any Bethlehem plants would be obsolete for some time to come.

Kelly was the second witness introduced by the defense in the suit brought by the Cyrus S. Eaton interests to enjoin the merger on the ground that it was unfair to Youngstown stockholders and not properly executed. George O. May, senior partner of Price, Waterhouse & Co., the merger auditors, was dismissed with the conclusion of cross-examination this morning.

Kelly, who grew up in the steel industry, told the court he did not think much of a property appraisal in the case of this kind. The plaintiffs have made an issue of the lack of an appraisal in the negotiation with Bethlehem.

The witness said that an appraisal usually has to be modified to meet the earning power of the plants involved.

PRICES HAVE COME DOWN

STUDEBAKER SETS THE PACE BY ESTABLISHING A NEW LOW PRICE LEVEL FOR USED CARS!

Visit our mammoth used car building at 26th and Michigan for the biggest savings and the largest selection of cars. The famous Studebaker Used Car Pledge allows you 5 days' free driving trial wherever you buy.

KNICKERBACKER SEDAN. A light 6 with 6 whl. brakes, spare tire, bumpers, etc. The body has not a mar on it and the tires are little mileage. Runs fine. $195.

ERSKINE SEDAN. We recommend this as one of our very best buys. It's a Line 8 with 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, bumpers, etc. This car is a beauty and the performance is exceptionally good. $275.

WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN. The finish, upholstery, tires and carpets are in wonderful condition and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, snubbers, spare tire, etc. $95.

ESSEX COUPE. Late model with new tires. Has seat, 4 whl. brakes, Lorraine-driving lite shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. It's de luxe in every respect and will give new car satisfaction. $325.

BUICK ROADSTER. Recent model Mast. 6 with an attractive two-tone finish in ivory and dark tan. Has a sweet running motor, rumble seat, and long wheelbase. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, windshield wings, bumpers, etc. You cannot find a better roadster in Chicago as smart appearing or fine running as this one at $445.

OAKLAND COACH. 1929; only driven a few thousand miles. This car is absolutely new and in every respect. Equipped with every essential extra. Worth considerably more than our price of $550.

PACKARD SEDAN. Here is a high quality car offered at a remarkably low figure. It's body is in splendid condition, 4 whl. brakes, new tires, spotlight, shock absorbers, etc. You would be proud to show off this car as it is equipped and in splendid condition mechanically. For today, $395.

PAIGE SEDAN. If you are in the market for a late model you cannot get a better buy than this 1928 Paige 8. It's the ideal car for beautiful appearance and performance. Attractive finish, exquisite upholstery that looks new. Tires are in splendid condition. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Special for today, $350.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. 1927 model 314. Fine buy, was formerly owned by an actor. Has been carefully used by a short time, is a beauty. Equipped with shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. This car is traded in at a low price, and we're going to pass on the saving to you. Only $495.

HARMON SEDAN. Late model 8 cyl. that actually cost almost $2,000. This car is in excellent condition today. Every mechanical, body, finish, tires and motor is one the most exacting buyer. There is a wealth of extra equipment. Will not last long at $495.

ROADSTER. This low-priced car is in exceptionally fine condition. The rumble seat, 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, etc. $295.

PAIGE SEDAN. 1930, that's positively like throughout. It was only traded in because a bigger car was needed. Will give you car satisfaction today. $725.
